

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Elections Act 2022

Chapter 37

a Williams Lea company

Published by TSO (The Stationery Office), a Williams Lea company, and available from:

Online

www.tsoshop.co.uk

Mail, Telephone, Fax & E-mail

TSO

PO Box 29, Norwich, NR3 1GN

Telephone orders/General enquiries: 0333 202 5070

Fax orders: 0333 202 5080

E-mail: customer.services@tso.co.uk

Textphone: 0333 202 5077

TSO@Blackwell and other Accredited Agents

ISBN 978-0-10-560333-7

9 780105 603337

£18.95

ELECTIONS ACT 2022

EXPLANATORY NOTES

What these notes do

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37).

- These Explanatory Notes have been provided by the Department for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities in order to assist the reader in understanding the Act. They do not form part of the Act and have not been endorsed by Parliament.
- These Explanatory Notes explain what each part of the Act will mean in practice; provide background information on the development of policy; and provide additional information on how the Act will affect existing legislation in this area.
- These Explanatory Notes might best be read alongside the Act. They are not, and are not intended to be, a comprehensive description of the Act.

Table of Contents

Subject	Page of these Notes
Overview of the Act	5
Policy Background	6
Voter Identification	6
Online service for applying for an Absent vote	7
Postal and Proxy Voting	7
Undue Influence	8
Accessibility	9
Candidate names and addresses	10
Simple Majority Voting ('First Past the Post')	11
Overseas Electors	12
European Citizens Voting and Candidacy Eligibility	12
The Electoral Commission	13
Political Finance	15
Intimidation: New Electoral Sanction	16
Digital Imprints	17
Legal background	18
Territorial Extent and Application	19
Commentary on Provisions of Act	21
Part 1: Administration and Conduct of Elections	21
Voter Identification, applications for postal and proxy votes, etc.	21
Section 1 : Voter Identification	21
Schedule 1: Voter Identification	21
Online Absent Voting Applications	30
Section 2: Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters	30
Schedule 2: Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters	30
Postal and Proxy Voting	35
Section 3: Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote	35
Schedule 3: Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote	35
Section 4: Handling of postal voting documents by political campaigners	36
Section 5: Handling in postal voting documents	37
Section 6: Limit on number of electors for whom a proxy can vote	39
Schedule 4: Proxy Voting: Limits and Transitional Provision	39
Section 7: Requirement of secrecy	43
Undue Influence	44
Section 8: Undue influence	44
Schedule 5: Undue influence: Further Provision	45
Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities	47

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Section 9: Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities	47
Nomination of candidates at parliamentary elections	48
Section 10: Candidate nomination paper: commonly used names	48
Section 11: Home address form: statement of local authority area	48
Northern Ireland elections	49
Section 12: Local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland	49
Schedule 6: Local elections in Northern Ireland and elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly	49
Part 1 - Local elections in Northern Ireland	49
Part 2 - Elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly	56
Section 13 - Simple majority system to be used in elections for certain offices	59
Part 2: Overseas Electors and EU Citizens	59
Overseas Electors	59
Section 14: Extension of franchise for parliamentary elections: British citizens overseas	59
Schedule 7: Overseas electors	63
Part 1 - Minor and Consequential Amendments	63
Part 2 - Transitional provision	63
Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens	65
Section 15: Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens	65
Schedule 8: Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens	65
Part 1 - Amendments to the Representation of the People Act 1983	65
Part 2 - Amendments in relation to certain local elections in England and Wales	69
Part 3 - Amendments in relation to certain elections in Northern Ireland	71
Part 4 - Transitional provision	72
Part 3: The Electoral Commission	73
Strategy and policy statement	73
Section 16: Strategy and Policy Statement	73
Section 17: Examination of duty to have regard to strategy and policy statement	75
Membership of the Speaker's Committee	75
Section 18: Membership of the Speaker's Committee	75
Criminal Proceedings	76
Section 19: Criminal proceedings	76
Part 4: Regulation of Expenditure	76
Notional expenditure of candidates and others	76
Section 20: Notional expenditure: use of property etc on behalf of candidates and others	76
Section 21: Codes of practice on expenses	76
Section 22: Authorised persons not required to pay expenses through election agent	77
Registration of parties etc	77
Section 23: Declaration of assets and liabilities to be provided on application for registration	77
Section 24: Prohibition on entities being registered political parties and recognised third parties at same time	77
Section 25: Section 24: transitional provisions	78
Controlled Expenditure etc	78
Section 26: Restriction on which third parties may incur controlled expenditure	78
Section 27: Third parties capable of giving notification for purposes of Part 6 of PPERA	78
Section 28 Recognised Third parties: changes to existing limits etc	79
Part 5: Disqualification of offenders for holding elective office etc	81
Section 30: Disqualification orders	81
Section 31: Vacation of office etc	82
Section 32: Candidates etc.	82
Section 33: Holders of relevant elective offices	83
Section 34: Campaigners	83
Section 35: Election etc of a person to the House of Commons who is subject to a disqualification order	84

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Section 36: Power to amend Schedule 9	84
Section 37: Interpretation of Part	84
Section 38: Minor and consequential amendments	84
Schedule 9: Offences for purposes of Part 5	84
Schedule 10: Disqualification orders: minor and consequential amendments	85
Part 6: Information to be included with Electronic Material	86
Definitions	86
Section 39: Definitions relating to electronic material and publication	86
Section 40: Definitions relating to parties etc	86
Requirements	86
Section 41: Requirement to include information with electronic material	86
Section 42: Electronic material to which section 41 applies: paid-for material	87
Section 43: Purposes referred to in section 42	87
Section 44: Electronic material to which section 41 applies: other electronic material	88
Section 45: Purposes referred to in section 44	88
Section 46: Electronic material relating to more than one candidate or future candidate	89
Section 47: Exceptions to section 41	89
Section 48: Offence of breaching section 41	90
Section 49: Order to take down electronic material in breach of section 41	90
Section 50: Enforcement by the Commission	90
Section 51: Notice to take down electronic material in breach of section 41	91
Section 52: Further provision about notice under section 51	91
Section 53: Supply of information	91
Supplementary	91
Section 54: Guidance	91
Section 55: Information in Commission's annual report	92
Section 56: Notices	92
Section 57: Proceedings for an offence under this Part	92
Section 58: Offences committed by bodies corporate	92
Section 59: Offences committed by unincorporated associations etc	92
Section 60: Regulations under this Part	92
Section 61: Meaning of "the Commission"	93
Schedule 11: Illegal Practices	93
Schedule 12: Supply of information etc	93
Part 7: General	94
Commencement	94
Related documents	95
Annex A - Territorial extent and application in the United Kingdom	97
Annex B - Hansard References	101
Annex C - Progress of Bill Table	102

Overview of the Act

- 1 This Act makes new provision for and amends existing electoral law to ensure that UK elections remain secure, fair, modern, inclusive and transparent.
- 2 The Act allows the Government to meet some of its 2019 manifesto commitments, including to “protect the integrity of our democracy, by introducing identification to vote at polling stations, stopping postal vote harvesting and measures to prevent any foreign interference in elections” and to “make it easier for British expats to vote in Parliamentary elections, and get rid of the arbitrary 15-year limit on their voting rights.”
- 3 The Act is in seven parts.
- 4 Part 1 introduces new measures to strengthen the integrity of the electoral process, including: a requirement for voters to show an approved form of photographic identification before collecting their ballot paper to vote at a polling station in a UK parliamentary election in Great Britain; provisions enabling online applications for absent votes, along with identification checks; new safeguards for postal and proxy voting; and an extension of the secrecy provisions which currently apply in the polling booth to postal and proxy voting. It also clarifies and updates the law on the undue influence of electors, and on the accessibility of elections for voters with a disability. Part 1 further makes changes to nomination rules for candidates at parliamentary elections, and changes the voting system for Police and Crime Commissioners elections in England and Wales, and certain mayoral elections in England to the Simple Majority voting system (also known as “First Past the Post”).
- 5 Part 2 removes the 15 year limit on the exercise of voting rights currently placed on British electors living overseas, and makes amendments to the registration process, including how an applicant’s identity and connection to a UK address will be verified. It also lays out the new rules for voting and candidacy eligibility of EU citizens voting and standing in local elections in Northern Ireland, England, and PCC elections in England and Wales, following the UK’s departure from the European Union.
- 6 Part 3 amends current provisions for the Parliamentary accountability of the Electoral Commission, by: introducing a new Strategy and Policy Statement to be approved by Parliament; amending the functions and membership of the Speaker’s Committee on the Electoral Commission; and amending the Electoral Commission’s powers to expressly prevent them from bringing criminal prosecutions in England, Wales or Northern Ireland, which is to maintain the current position in which the Electoral Commission does not bring prosecutions.
- 7 Part 4 amends the law about political finance, including by clarifying the rules on notional spending, strengthening rules so that third-party spending is restricted to UK-based entities and eligible Overseas Electors only, and increasing transparency around third-party campaigning. It introduces a new lower tier of third party campaigners subject to reduced regulation and a statutory duty for the Electoral Commission to produce guidance on the operation of Part 6 of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 (‘PPERA’). It also makes provision for changes to the registration of political parties and prohibits dual registration to prevent parties and campaigners from unfairly expanding their spending limits.
- 8 Part 5 introduces a new disqualification order which a court must impose, unless the court considers it unjust to do so, if a person is convicted of an intimidatory criminal offence motivated by hostility towards a candidate, future candidate, campaigner, substitute or nominee (in Northern Ireland), or holder of a relevant elective office. The effect of a disqualification order is that the person will be disqualified from standing for, being elected to, and holding any relevant elective office for five years.

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

- 9 Part 6 introduces a new requirement for digital campaigning material to display a digital imprint, with the name and address of the promoter of the material or any person on behalf of whom the material is being published (and who is not the promoter).
- 10 Part 7 makes miscellaneous and general provision.

Policy Background

Voter Identification

- 11 Under the present voting procedure rules, voters at polling stations in England, Scotland and Wales are asked to confirm (i) if they are the person registered at a particular address on the electoral register and (ii) if they have already voted. This is effectively the only check that takes place relating to the identity of electors. The law requires polling clerks to call out the name of electors before they are issued with a ballot paper so objections can be made if the person is identified by someone else present as not being who they claim to be. This is no longer consistently done and, in any event, people present in a polling station are no longer likely to know everyone else in their local area. These measures are therefore outdated and no longer fit for purpose as a means of checking the identity of voters and avoiding personation. Meanwhile, in Northern Ireland voters have been required to produce personal identification before voting in polling stations since 1985, with photographic identification being required since 2003.
- 12 In August 2016, Sir (now Lord) Eric Pickles as the Government's Anti-Corruption Champion published a review into electoral fraud entitled Securing the Ballot ("the Pickles Report"), issuing a number of recommendations designed to address electoral fraud and to strengthen the integrity and security of voting.
- 13 In the report, Lord Pickles noted that the statutory questions which may be asked of voters under the current legislation were both basic and optional and in practice rarely used in polling stations. The report also points out that people could be 'coached' to commit personation (assuming the identity of another person with the intention to deceive) and could overcome that check. As a result, one of the final recommendations made in the review was for the Government to consider the options for electors to have to produce personal identification before voting at polling stations in Great Britain, and that the Government may wish to pilot different methods of identification.
- 14 This recommendation was supported by and echoed other recommendations advanced by the Electoral Commission in its 2014 report Electoral fraud in the UK, which concluded that there should be a requirement for electors across Great Britain to present an acceptable form of identification prior to voting at the polling station. In addition, reports of their observation of the 2010 and 2015 UK Parliamentary General Elections, the Organisation for Security and Co-operation in Europe's (OSCE), Office for Democratic Institutions and Human Rights (ODIHR) both recommended the introduction of more robust mechanisms for identification of voters, citing the use of voter identification in Northern Ireland as an example.
- 15 The Government accepted the recommendation and ran pilot schemes trialling different methods of identification, which took place during local elections in England in May 2018 and 2019. Data from the pilot evaluations in 2018 and 2019 showed that the requirement to show identification increased voter confidence in the elections process. The Conservative Party manifestos of 2017 and 2019 committed to introducing voter identification for voting at polling stations. The Act delivers this commitment, and on 6 January 2022 the Government published a policy statement which sets out more detail on the implementation plans for voter identification policy.

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

- 16 As stated above, Northern Ireland has had the requirement to produce identification in place since 1985. In respect of Northern Ireland, the Act makes some amendments to the voter identification process by requiring the Chief Electoral Officer (who is an independent Crown appointment, and the Returning Officer and Registration Officer for all 18 constituencies in Northern Ireland) to provide every polling station in Northern Ireland with lists containing the dates of birth of all voters allotted to vote at that station. This will facilitate compliance with an existing legal duty on polling station staff in Northern Ireland to check the dates of birth of voters in cases where the apparent age of the voter compared to the date supplied at registration or on the proxy vote application form, raises a reasonable doubt as to whether the voter is the elector or proxy they represent themselves to be. The Act also mirrors for Northern Ireland some of the provisions being introduced for Great Britain.

Online service for applying for an Absent vote

- 17 As it stands, it is not possible for electors to apply for an absent vote (postal and proxy) online. Electors who wish to apply for an absent vote must do so via a paper form, which they must submit to their local Electoral Registration Officer (ERO) by post (although some EROs also accept scanned and emailed paper forms – except in Northern Ireland). This is in contrast to the process by which an individual can apply to register to vote online, using the Register to Vote digital service, which has made registering to vote easier and more convenient.
- 18 The Act amends existing legislation to provide the appropriate enabling powers to allow detailed provisions to be set out in secondary legislation for an online service through which applications for an absent vote can be made. It will also enable the identity of absent vote applicants in Great Britain to be verified. The identity verification process will apply to paper applications as well as to applications made online.
- 19 In Northern Ireland there is an existing identity verification process in place for paper absent vote applications. The Act makes provision to allow digital identity verification to be carried out on paper and online applications in any future online service and would allow changes to be made to the existing process to facilitate online applications.
- 20 It is intended that the measures, including the introduction of identity verification in Great Britain, will make the absent vote application process more secure, resilient and efficient for both electors and electoral administrators. Digitising the absent vote application process will also benefit overseas electors who typically vote by post or proxy; and will complement the Act measures that will remove the current 15 year limit for the registration of overseas electors.

Postal and Proxy Voting

- 21 The 2016 Pickles Report also considered the current arrangements in relation to postal and proxy voting (collectively called ‘absent’ or ‘remote’ voting) at elections.
- 22 The report noted that the existing availability of postal voting on demand in Great Britain encouraged many legitimate electors to use their vote effectively and engage with the democratic process and concluded that it should be allowed to continue. At the same time, it considered how the security of current absent voting arrangements could be strengthened and made a number of recommendations to achieve this.
- 23 This Act implements recommendations made in the report to improve the integrity and robustness of both postal and proxy voting.
- 24 In particular, under the present system, there is no statutory prohibition on political campaigners handling postal votes belonging to others. The Pickles Report noted that this left scope for the integrity of postal voting to be undermined and recommended that completed postal ballot packs should only be handled by an individual who is a family member or designated carer of the voter. The Act introduces a ban and a new criminal offence on the handling by a political campaigner of a postal ballot paper/voting document that was issued to someone, and allows a limit to be set (the number to be specified in secondary legislation) on the number of electors on behalf of whom a person may hand in postal votes to a Returning Officer or at a polling station.

- 25 Currently, electors in England, Scotland and Wales may apply for a postal vote for either a particular election, a specified period of time that may cover a number of polls, or to vote by post on an indefinite basis. Electors who have a postal vote on a long-term basis are currently required to provide a fresh signature every five years to ensure the data held by Electoral registration officers is up to date and reduce the risk of postal votes being rejected at polls due to personal identifiers (e.g., a person's signature) no longer matching those originally given. The Pickles Report concluded that removing the ability to hold a postal vote on an indefinite basis, and instead requiring electors to reapply at specified intervals, would provide a more regular basis for review and assessment of the eligibility and veracity of applications and would strengthen the integrity of postal voting. The Act implements this recommendation, requiring postal voters in Great Britain to re-apply every three years to continue to vote by this method.
- 26 Current rules also allow a person to act as a proxy for up to two electors and an unlimited number of close relatives in any constituency or any electoral area at a local election. Lord Pickles found that these current requirements gave potential for coercion in the appointment of proxies in areas where fraud was already an issue, and recommended limiting to two the number of electors that someone could be appointed to act as a proxy for, regardless of relationship. The Act introduces a limit of four on the number of electors for whom, regardless of relationship, a person can act as a proxy but specifying that within the four electors, no more than two electors can be domestic electors. Domestic electors are those electors who are neither service electors nor overseas electors.
- 27 Currently, requirements protecting the secrecy of a person's vote are in place for people voting in a polling station. The Pickles Report noted the secrecy of the ballot as fundamental for voters to be able to cast their vote without pressure to vote in a specific way, and recommended that secrecy provisions be extended to those voting by proxy and through a postal vote to prevent undue influence, and assist in the prosecution of cases where the latter may have occurred. In line with this recommendation, the Act extends secrecy provisions to postal and proxy voting.

Undue Influence

- 28 Recent reports have recommended several improvements to the existing corrupt practice of undue influence, which is the electoral offence designed to protect electors from malicious interference and intimidation. The Pickles Report recommended that "a lower test of 'intimidation' than the one currently set in the Representation of the People Act 1983 should be introduced" and that "undue influence should retain a reference to spiritual / religious influence." The Law Commissions' Electoral Law: a joint final report (2020) recommended that "undue influence should be restated". The (previous) Government committed to clarifying the offence of undue influence after 100% of respondents to the Protecting the Debate consultation (2018) agreed that the law requires greater clarity.
- 29 These recommendations and commitments also reflect some of the conclusions of the Tower Hamlets Election Court, set out in the judgement Erlam & Ors v Rahman & Anor [2015] EWHC 1215 (QB). Commissioner Richard Mawrey concluded that "undue influence involving the threat of spiritual injury" occurred at the 2014 Tower Hamlets mayoral election, to the extent that the election had to be declared void. He also concluded that section 115 of the Representation of the People Act 1983 ('RPA 1983') is insufficient to tackle intimidation of electors because it "does not penalise thuggish conduct at polling stations of the sort that occurred in 2014."

- 30 The main purpose of section 8 of the Act is to clarify the activities which constitute undue influence in order to make the legislation easier to interpret and enforce. This is achieved by creating a new section 114A of the RPA 1983, which updates and clarifies undue influence as set out in section 115 (which originated in the nineteenth century). It does so using modern terminology, and by clearly separating out the types of conduct that can amount to undue influence as provided in subsection (4), while defining more clearly the purpose and agency of that conduct in subsections (2), (3), and (5). New section 114A makes clear that the following activities constitute undue influence, when carried out for the purpose of forcing a person to vote in a particular way, forcing them not to vote at all, or otherwise interfering with their free exercise of the franchise:
- a. The use or threat of physical violence;
 - b. Damage or destruction to property (or the threat of such damage or destruction);
 - c. Reputational damage (or the threat of such damage);
 - d. Causing or threatening to cause financial loss;
 - e. Causing spiritual injury or exerting undue spiritual pressure. 'Undue spiritual pressure' refers to a level of improper or inappropriate pressure which goes beyond the free expression of opinions on political or other matters that have implications for the principles of a religion;
 - f. Any other act or omission designed to intimidate a person which is not already covered above;
 - g. Any act or omission designed to deceive a person in relation to the administration of an election
- 31 The modernised offence of undue influence in new section 114A is, as is the case for the undue influence offence provided in section 115, a corrupt practice. As the RPA 1983 (or other legislation governing the conduct of an election, referendum or recall petition) already sets out, a person who is convicted of the corrupt practice of undue influence is liable to up to one year's imprisonment or a fine or both. This person (or a person who is named personally guilty of the corrupt practice in the report of an election court) is also incapable of being elected to or holding certain elective offices for five years; if the person already holds elective office, they would be forced to vacate that position. Section 8(3) and Schedule 5 of the Act also provide that the effects of this five-year incapacity as a result of committing an offence under section 114A will apply consistently across certain elective office types across the UK. This means that if a person is guilty of undue influence in relation to any electoral event in any reserved or excepted elections, they will be incapable of being elected to or holding all relevant reserved or excepted elective offices. Section 115 RPA 1983 will continue to apply in relation to elections in Scotland or Wales under the local government Act.

Accessibility

- 32 Under current electoral law, provisions to support disabled people to vote are limited and very specific. Returning Officers are required to provide a number of items to support voters with sight loss including a large print ballot paper and a device for use by blind and partially sighted people to support them to vote at the polling station. The device has been prescribed in secondary legislation and is commonly known as the Tactile Voting Device ("TVD").

- 33 In September 2017, the Government launched a Call for Evidence on Access to Elections, asking for views on how people with disabilities experience registering to vote and voting itself with a view to considering if current measures were sufficient and to look at accessibility more broadly. In total, 256 responses were received, including from individuals, organisations, charities, NHS Foundation Trusts, sector representative bodies, and local authority teams.
- 34 The evidence received was analysed by Government in partnership with the Government-chaired Accessibility of Elections Working Group (whose membership includes the Royal Mencap Society, Royal National Institute of Blind People, United Response, NHS, the Association of Electoral Administrators, representatives of the devolved administrations, the Electoral Commission and Scottish Assessors Association). The Government's response, published on 30 August 2018, set out key findings and recommended actions to improve the democratic participation of disabled people.
- 35 A specific action contained in the Call for Evidence considered what improvements could be made to the existing arrangements to support voters with sight loss. The responses received to the Call for Evidence included a view that the TVD was not an effective method of support for a blind or partially sighted person to vote at the polling station and that inclusion of it as a requirement in legislation worked against Returning Officers considering other options.
- 36 Current requirements also limit, to a qualified elector or a close family member aged 18 or over, who can act in the role of 'companion' to assist a disabled person to vote at a polling station. This has been highlighted through the Call for Evidence process as being a barrier to disabled people being able to obtain assistance to participate in elections as it excludes carers who are not entitled to vote in the poll.
- 37 This Act responds to the Call for Evidence comments and replaces current limited requirements with a broader requirement for Returning Officers to provide such equipment as is reasonable to enable voters with disabilities to cast their vote independently and secretly. It also expands the criteria for who can act in the role of 'companion' by redefining that as someone who is aged 18 or over.

Candidate names and addresses

- 38 Current nomination rules for candidates standing at parliamentary elections contain some inconsistencies with other provisions in legislation and with current practice over details around names and addresses that candidates need to provide. The Act therefore updates these rules to ensure greater consistency.
- 39 Presently, a person who is nominated as a candidate must give their full names on the nomination paper, and may also provide a commonly used forename or surname, which must be different to any of the names already given, which they would like to have included on the ballot paper. This is not sufficiently flexible to allow all names that candidates may wish to use - for instance a candidate cannot currently provide their middle name as a commonly used name. The Act broadens this to allow a candidate to include on their nomination paper (and therefore on the ballot paper) as their name, any name that they commonly use as a forename or surname, including their middle name.
- 40 Currently, candidates at Parliamentary elections are required to provide their home address in full on the "home address" nomination form, and choose whether to make it public for the statement of persons nominated (i.e., the published list of candidates standing at the election) and on the ballot paper. If they do not wish for their home address to be made public, they can instead indicate the constituency within which their address is located. These requirements were introduced by the Political Parties and Elections Act 2009 and were intended to provide security and/or privacy for candidates, while still ensuring electors can see if a candidate has demonstrated a local connection to where they are standing. However, the rules mean that a candidate who lives just outside the constituency boundary may feel that electors might not recognise the name of their neighbouring constituency, so may feel pressured to publish their full address. The Act therefore provides candidates at UK Parliamentary elections with another option - to choose to have the name of the local authority area in which their home address is located included on the ballot paper and other election documents, as an alternative to displaying either their home address or the constituency in which their home address is located. This is an option that is already available to candidates standing in local elections. The change thus fulfils the requirements of ensuring candidates are familiar to electors, and to enable electors to identify a local connection, while ensuring consistent rules across elections in the UK .

Simple Majority Voting ('First Past the Post')

- 41 Under current legislation, elections for Police and Crime Commissioners (PCCs) in England and Wales, the Mayor of London, combined authority mayors and local authority mayors in England are held using the Supplementary Vote system where there are more than two candidates. Under this system voters have a first and second preference vote. If a candidate receives more than 50 percent of the first preference votes they are elected. If no candidate reaches a majority at the first stage, all but the two candidates with the most votes are eliminated and the second preference votes of voters whose first preference vote was cast for the eliminated candidates are allocated to the remaining candidates. The candidate with the most (first preference + second preference) votes is elected.
- 42 Under Simple Majority voting, also known as the "First Past the Post" voting system, voters have a single vote and the candidate who wins the most votes is elected. First Past the Post is used to elect Members of Parliament and local councillors in England and also applies in PCC and mayoral elections where there are only two candidates.
- 43 The Conservative Party 2019 Manifesto included the following commitment: "We will continue to support the First Past the Post system of voting, as it allows voters to kick out politicians who don't deliver, both locally and nationally." Similar commitments favouring First Past the Post were included in the 2017 Manifesto: "We will retain the first past the post system of voting for parliamentary elections and extend this system to police and crime commissioner and mayoral elections", and in the 2015 Manifesto: "We will respect the will of the British people, as expressed in the 2011 referendum, and keep First Past the Post for elections to the House of Commons." The 2011 Referendum asked voters whether or not the system for electing Members of Parliament should be changed from First Past the Post to the Alternative Vote; 67.9% of voters voted to retain First Past the Post.
- 44 The Home Secretary set out findings from the first part of the Home Office's two-part Review into the role of PCCs in a Written Ministerial Statement to Parliament on 16 March 2021. The Statement included the following commitment: "In line with the Government's manifesto position in favour of First Past the Post, which provides for strong and clear local accountability, and reflects that transferable voting systems were rejected by the British people in the 2011 nationwide referendum, the Home Office will work with the Cabinet Office and the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government to change the voting system for all Combined Authority Mayors, the Mayor of London and PCCs to First Past the Post. This change will require primary legislation, which we will bring forward when Parliamentary time allows." Part One of the Review collated views and evidence from stakeholders across policing, fire and local government as well as voluntary and community organisations. Through polling and focus groups, the Review also took account of public views and opinions.

- 45 The Act changes the voting system used for electing PCCs, the Mayor of London and combined authority mayors from the Supplementary Vote system to First Past the Post. To ensure consistency in the voting system used for electing all directly-elected mayors in England, and deliver manifesto commitments, the voting system for electing local authority mayors in England is also changed to First Past the Post.

Overseas Electors

- 46 The Government's 2019 manifesto included a commitment to "make it easier for British expats to vote in Parliamentary elections, and get rid of the arbitrary 15-year limit on their voting rights."
- 47 The overseas franchise was created by the Representation of the People Act 1985 ('RPA 1985'), which first enabled British citizens resident abroad to vote in UK elections. It set a limit of 5 years from the date of last being registered or (in limited circumstances) resident in the UK. This limit was extended in 1989 to 20 years, and then reduced in 2002 to the current limit of 15 years.
- 48 Under the present system, British citizens (including British citizens who were born in Northern Ireland and identify as Irish) who have moved abroad and wish to vote in UK Parliamentary elections can apply to register as an overseas elector in the UK constituency in which they were last registered before leaving the UK, provided they were registered within 15 years of making that application. Also eligible are those who were too young to register to vote when they left the UK, if their parent or guardian was on the electoral register at the place where they were resident in the UK, subject to a 15 year limit, from when the person left the UK.
- 49 This Act will remove the 15 year limit on expatriates' right to vote in UK Parliamentary elections and enfranchise all British citizens overseas who were previously registered or resident in the UK.
- 50 As under the current system, overseas applicants will be required to prove their identity and have their connection to the relevant previous UK address verified before they can be added to the electoral register. Applicants will be entitled to register in respect of the last UK address at which they were registered, or, if they were never registered, the last UK address at which they were resident.
- 51 The Act will also extend the registration period for overseas electors from one year to up to three years. Electors will be able to reapply or refresh their absent vote arrangements at the same time as renewing their registration.

European Citizens Voting and Candidacy Eligibility

- 52 At present, citizens of European Union (EU) Member States are automatically granted voting and candidacy rights in local elections, Northern Ireland Assembly elections and in Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) elections, by virtue of being EU citizens. The rights in respect of local elections were granted as a consequence of the UK's membership of the EU and were given effect by domestic legislation in 1995, following a 1994 Directive of the Council of European Communities which required Member States to allow EU residents to vote and stand in local elections. The rights granted to European citizens in the United Kingdom were therefore reciprocated so that UK citizens living in all EU Member States were also granted local voting and candidacy rights in the respective countries. Since these rights were granted on the basis of freedom of movement, no immigration-based eligibility criteria was attached to the grant of these rights in UK domestic law.

- 53 The UK left the EU on the 31st January 2020 and the Implementation Period ended at 11pm on 31 December 2020. Now that the UK has left the EU, and with the ending of free movement and introduction of the new points-based immigration system in the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Act 2020, the legal basis for an automatic grant of voting and candidacy rights to European citizens no longer exists. Correspondingly, individual EU Member States are now able to set their own rules for local voting rights with reference to resident UK citizens. Some EU Member States allow non-EU third country nationals to vote and stand (subject to minimum residency requirements); others do not.
- 54 The UK Government has sought agreements with EU Member States that will enable UK nationals living in those countries to vote and stand in their local elections in return for local voting and candidacy rights for citizens of these countries living in the UK. Voting and candidacy rights agreements with Spain, Portugal, Luxembourg and Poland have already been agreed.
- 55 As a result of this Act, EU citizens who have been living in the UK since before the end of the Implementation Period will retain their local voting and candidacy rights in England and Northern Ireland, provided they hold lawful immigration status, regardless of whether they are citizens of Member States with which the UK has voting and candidacy rights agreements. For EU citizens who arrived in the UK after this point, voting and candidacy rights in England and Northern Ireland will be based on the principle of a mutual grant of rights, through agreements with the respective EU Member States. The Act does not make changes to devolved elections or elected posts in Scotland or Wales.
- 56 These changes will not affect the voting and candidacy rights of Irish citizens, whose rights exist independently of the Republic of Ireland's membership of the EU and long predate the UK's membership. The rights of qualifying Commonwealth citizens will also not be changed by these measures. Citizens of Malta and Cyprus - which are both EU Member States and Commonwealth countries - will retain voting rights as Commonwealth citizens. In the event that Cyprus or Malta entered into a voting and candidacy rights treaty with the UK, Maltese and Cypriot citizens would benefit from the lower threshold for candidacy rights (e.g., any form of leave to remain as applies to 'qualifying EU citizens') whilst retaining all the other voting and candidacy rights granted to them as Commonwealth citizens.
- 57 These changes will apply to all UK elections and referendums which use the local election franchise and are reserved to the UK Government. They will also apply to Police and Crime Commissioner Elections in England and Wales, and to ward elections for Common Councillors in the City of London. This means that the changes will not affect any elections or referendums in Scotland or Wales for which responsibility is devolved.

The Electoral Commission

- 58 The Electoral Commission is independent of Government and reports to the UK Parliament through the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission (SCEC) on its yearly estimates and accounts and its Five Year Plan where related to the Commission's reserved functions. The Electoral Commission has a broad range of functions which are set out in the PPERA.
- 59 In the Scotland Act 2016 and the Wales Act 2017, aspects of electoral law including those in relation to which the Electoral Commission has a role, were further devolved to Scotland and Wales. As a result, the Electoral Commission now also reports to the Senedd Cymru through the Llywydd's Committee, and to the Scottish Parliament through the Scottish Parliamentary Corporate Body, on its yearly estimates and accounts and Five Year Plan where related to the Commission's devolved Welsh and Scottish functions respectively.

- 60 The functions of the Speaker's Committee as a statutory committee are set out in section 2 and other provisions of the PPERA and include: overseeing the appointment of Electoral Commissioners, examining and laying before the House of Commons the Electoral Commission's Estimates and Five Year Plans, and reporting annually to the House of Commons on the exercise of its functions.
- 61 The Act makes provision for a power to designate a Strategy and Policy Statement, which will be drafted by Government and subject to Parliamentary approval. The Electoral Commission must have regard to it in the exercise of its functions. The regulator will remain operationally independent and will be able to depart from this guidance if it has a good reason for doing so.
- 62 The Act also amends the functions of the Speaker's Committee in order to further enhance the Electoral Commission's accountability to Parliament. The Committee is given the power to examine the Electoral Commission's compliance with its duty to have regard to the Strategy and Policy Statement introduced by this Act.
- 63 Section 2 of the PPERA also sets out the membership of the Speaker's Committee. Two government ministers are ex officio members of the Committee, namely (following the Transfer of Functions (Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities) Order 2021) the Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities and the Minister of the Crown with responsibilities in relation to local government appointed by the Prime Minister.
- 64 Given wider commitments it has not always been possible for the Secretary of State to attend the Speaker's Committee's meetings. In practice, the Minister known as the Minister of State for Levelling Up, the Union and Constitution generally exercises functions relating to elections and the constitution on behalf of the Secretary of State, but has in the past been unable to attend Speaker's Committee meetings as only those members named in the legislation are entitled to be present.
- 65 The Act therefore amends the membership of the Speaker's Committee to allow concurrent membership of the Speaker's Committee for the Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities and another Minister of the Crown appointed by the Prime Minister. It also revokes the Transfer of Functions (Speaker's Committee) Order 2021 and Article 7(1)(b) and (c) of the Transfer of Functions (Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities) Order 2021, which performed a similar purpose and are made redundant by the Act.
- 66 Under Schedules 19B and 19C to PPERA the Electoral Commission has civil sanctioning and investigatory powers to enforce the rules around reporting spending, donations and loans. If a suspected breach occurs, the Electoral Commission has powers to take action unless the breach involves a criminal offence for which a civil sanction is not available (or for which the Commission considers a civil sanction may not be appropriate), in which case it is handled by the police and prosecuting authority.
- 67 The Electoral Commission has publicly stated in its Interim Corporate Plan 2020/21-2024/25 its intention to develop a prosecutorial capability that would have allowed it to investigate and bring suspected offences before the courts. This was never explicitly agreed by the Government or Parliament.
- 68 The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) in England and Wales, and the Public Prosecution Service (PPS) in Northern Ireland are responsible for bringing prosecutions under electoral law. The Government is maintaining the existing role of the CPS and PPS in enforcing electoral law and so the Act amends the Electoral Commission's powers to expressly prevent it from bringing prosecutions in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. This does not apply in Scotland where there is already a single prosecutorial authority.

Political Finance

- 69 The UK has a comprehensive regulatory framework which governs the spending and funding (political finance) of candidates, political parties, third-party campaigners and other campaigners. The political finance proposals in the Act largely act as an expansion and strengthening of the existing rules outlined in the PPERA and the RPA 1983.
- 70 In 2018, the Electoral Commission published the report Digital Campaigning - increasing transparency for voters, recommending the introduction of a requirement for political parties to declare any assets and liabilities above £500 upon registration. This Act provides an increased level of transparency regarding a political party's financial position prior to registration. A record of assets and liabilities is already a requirement of the duty to keep accounting records under electoral law. This Act brings forward this transparency to the point of registration.
- 71 Electoral law allows groups to register as both a political party (who may field candidates) and a third-party campaigner (campaigners that do not field candidates). Through this they can potentially increase their spending limit during a regulated period leading up to an election, as they would receive a separate spending limit for each registration. Groups not on both registers would not have access to this increased spending limit. The Act narrows the criteria for registering as a political party, preventing third-party campaigners from registering as a political party. As a result of this change, registered political parties will not be able to access third party campaign spending limits. This will maintain the integrity of spending limits by ensuring that campaigners attempting to bypass their spending limits by appearing on both registers cannot do so.
- 72 "Notional expenditure" describes benefits in kind (property, goods, services or facilities) which are supplied free of charge or at a discount to election candidates, political parties and other campaigners which, if paid for, would constitute an election or campaign expense.
- 73 In July 2018, the Supreme Court ruled in the case of R v Mackinlay and others [2018] UKSC 42 that there is no requirement that the provision of these benefits has to be authorised by the candidate or his election agent. This has led to concerns from across the political spectrum that candidates and their agents could be liable for spending they were unaware of or not involved in, but were seen to have benefited from. This widespread uncertainty risks a democratic chilling effect by discouraging parties from campaigning in marginal constituencies.
- 74 This Act clarifies the law so that candidates only need to report benefits in kind which they have actually used, or directed or encouraged someone else to use during a reserved regulated period, and do not need to fear being responsible for benefits in kind of which they had no knowledge. This clarification will also be extended to other campaigners who are subject to notional expenditure controls. Expenditure which promotes an individual candidature would continue to count towards a candidate's own spending limit during a reserved regulated period.
- 75 Currently foreign third-party campaigners can legally spend on UK elections under the recognised third-party campaigner registration thresholds, and this activity only becomes illegal once the thresholds are passed. Only UK-based groups/individuals or registered overseas electors are permitted to register with the Electoral Commission as third-party campaigners. This Act removes the scope for any legal spending by foreign third-party campaigners underneath the registration threshold but above a £700 'de minimis' during reserved regulated periods. Inclusion of such a provision will balance the desire to prohibit spending by foreign entities without criminalising low-level, potentially inadvertent, breaches which are unlikely to adversely impact an election. This will support the Government's 2019 manifesto commitment to "protect the integrity of our democracy, by introducing [...]" measures to prevent any foreign interference in elections". It will also address some of the concerns raised in the 2019, Digital, Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) Committee report Disinformation and 'fake news' regarding foreign interference in UK elections.

- 76 In June 2020, the House of Lords, Report of Session 2019-21: Digital Technology and the Resurrection of Trust recommended the introduction of a secondary registration scheme for third-party campaigners who would otherwise fall below current spending limits. This Act requires third-party campaigners to give a notification to the Electoral Commission at a lower level of spending than is currently required, effectively creating a two tier system for registration. This new 'lower' tier will apply when a third-party campaigner intends to spend in excess of £10,000 on controlled expenditure during a reserved regulated period across, or in any constituent part/s of, the UK, but below the existing country specific thresholds for registration, which acts as their upper limit. All of these measures only apply to qualifying expenditure (i.e., expenditure that can reasonably be regarded as intended to promote or procure electoral success at any relevant election), not wider, non-electoral, campaigning that groups may undertake. The lower tier third-party campaigners will be subject to the minimum of regulation necessary to ensure that they are UK-based or an eligible overseas entity.
- 77 In March 2016, following the statutory review of the operation of Part 6 of PPERA, Lord Hodgson published the independent report Third Party Election Campaigning - Getting the Balance Right. The report recommended that the Electoral Commission consider issuing codes of practice in relation to third party campaigning. This Act replaces the Electoral Commission's discretionary power to prepare a code of practice on the application of expenditure controls for third party campaigners contained within PPERA with a duty to produce a statutory code; sets out consultation and procedural requirements relevant to the production of the code; and creates a defence for third parties, who can demonstrate they have complied with the code, charged with offences under Part 6 of PPERA.

Intimidation: New Electoral Sanction

- 78 In 2017, the independent Committee on Standards in Public Life published the review Intimidation in public life. This highlighted that candidates and campaigners faced increased intimidation and suggested that "specific electoral sanctions would reflect the seriousness of this threat."
- 79 In 2019, following the Protecting the Debate public consultation, the previous Government committed to "applying electoral sanctions to existing offences of intimidatory behaviour."
- 80 In 2021, the Minister of State for the Constitution and Devolution reiterated the Government's intention to "legislate to introduce a new electoral sanction of intimidation" in a written ministerial statement (HCWS833).
- 81 This Act introduces a new electoral sanction in the form of a disqualification order, which is intended to provide additional protection to those who participate in elections and contribute to the political debate, and deter individuals from carrying out acts of intimidation. The disqualification order can be imposed on a person convicted of a criminal offence motivated by hostility towards a candidate, future candidate, substitute or nominee (in Northern Ireland), campaigner or the holder of a relevant elective office. The effect of the new disqualification order is a five-year disqualification from standing for, being elected to or holding all elective offices in the UK except for Scottish Parliament and Scottish local government elected offices.

Digital Imprints

- 82 Under existing electoral law, campaigners are required to use an imprint to identify who they are and on behalf of whom they promote non-digital (i.e., printed) campaign material, such as leaflets and posters. Currently, imprints are required on printed election, referendum and recall petition material and serve to promote transparency about who is campaigning. Requiring an imprint ensures accountability in relation to these materials by making campaigners responsible for their communications and improves voter confidence. The imprint regime also assists the Electoral Commission and the police to enforce spending rules.
- 83 The rise of digital campaigning has resulted in traditional printed leaflets no longer being the dominant form of political communication. Despite the growth in digital political campaigning, imprint requirements have not been extended to digital campaign material. This represents a gap in the law that the Government is addressing through the introduction of a digital imprints regime.
- 84 In 2017, the Committee on Standards in Public Life published a report which recommended electoral law be updated to require an imprint to be included on online campaign material. Following this, the Cabinet Office launched the consultation Protecting the Debate: Intimidation, Influence and Information in July 2018 which included a proposal to extend the requirement for an imprint to digital material. The feedback to this consultation, published in the Government response, indicated broad support for this proposal and in May 2019 the Government committed to introducing a digital imprints regime. To support the delivery of this commitment, in August 2020, the Government then launched the technical consultation Transparency in digital campaigning: technical consultation on digital imprints, outlining the technical proposals for the regime. The consultation closed in November 2020 and the Government's response was published on 15 June 2021.
- 85 The Act introduces a new digital imprints regime requiring anyone paying for digital political material to be advertised to explicitly show who they are, and on whose behalf they are promoting the material. Paid-for material is where a payment is made for the material to be published as an advertisement and the content also meets the purpose condition. Certain campaigners (registered political parties, candidates, future candidates, recognised third-party campaigners, referendum campaigners, holders of elected office and recall petition campaigners) are also required to include an imprint on their other electronic material if it constitutes digital election, referendum or recall petition material. Other electronic material is material which meets the purpose and promoter (or the person on behalf of whom) conditions and where no payment is made for the material to be published as an advertisement.

Legal background

- 86 The law governing the proceedings of elections and the requirements placed on those running for public office is set out in a large number of statutes. This means that the Act refers to and largely amends existing primary and secondary legislation which includes:
- a. Rules relating to UK Parliamentary Elections and Referendums, and certain local elections: (RPA 1983; RPA 1985; Representation of the People Act 2000 ('RPA 2000'); PPERA); Representation of the People (England and Wales) Regulations 2001 (S.I. 2001/341); Representation of the People (Scotland) Regulations 2001 S.I. 2001/497); Representation of the People (Northern Ireland) Regulations 2008 (S.I. 2008/1741);
 - b. Rules for Local authority mayoral elections in England and Wales: (Local Government Act 2000; Local Authorities (Mayoral Elections) (England and Wales) Regulations 2007 (S.I. 2007/1024));
 - c. Rules for Combined authority mayoral elections in England: (Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009; Combined Authorities (Mayoral Elections) Order 2017 (S.I. 2017/67));
 - d. Rules for elections to the Greater London Authority: (Greater London Authority Act 1999; The Greater London Authority Elections Rules 2007 (S.I. 2007/3541);
 - e. Rules for Police and Crime Commissioner Elections in England and Wales: (Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011; Police and Crime Commissioner Elections Order 2012 (S.I. 2012/1917));
 - f. Provisions about Scottish Parliamentary Elections and Referendums: (Scotland Act 1998; Scottish Parliament (Elections etc.) Order 2015 (S.S.I. 2015/425);
 - g. Provisions about Welsh Senedd Elections: (Government of Wales Act 2006; National Assembly for Wales (Representation of the People) Order 2007 (S.I. 2007/236));
 - h. Provisions about Northern Ireland Assembly Elections: (Northern Ireland Act 1998; Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 (S.I. 2001/2599));
 - i. Provisions about Local government elections in Scotland: (Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973;
 - j. Franchise and Candidacy Rights for Ward Elections for Common Councillors in the City of London: (City of London (Various Powers) Act 1957);
 - k. Provisions about local elections in Northern Ireland: (Local Government Act (Northern Ireland) 1972; Electoral Law Act (Northern Ireland) 1962); Elected Authorities Act (Northern Ireland) 1989; Local Elections (Northern Ireland Order 1985;
 - l. Provisions about the recall of MPs: The Recall of MPs Act 2015 and the Recall of MPs Act 2015 (Recall Petition) Regulations 2016 (S.I. 2016/295);
 - m. Provisions about local referendums in England: Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (neighbourhood planning referendums); Local Government Finance Act 1992 (council tax referendums).
- 87 The RPA 1983 is the core Act dealing with the voting franchise for UK parliamentary elections and local elections in England, Wales and Scotland, as well as other rules, and the detailed procedure for conducting UK parliamentary elections. This Act changes requirements in the RPA 1983, including in the parliamentary elections conduct rules, for example to introduce a new requirement for voter identification and other supporting measures.

- 88 Current requirements for absent voting at parliamentary elections and local elections in Great Britain are set out in the RPA 2000, while the RPA 1985 sets out current requirements for absent voting at parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland. This Act makes further amendments to the RPA 1985 and also to the RPA 2000,.
- 89 The RPA 1985 sets out the conditions for the franchise for British overseas electors. This Act makes amendments to the RPA 1985, replacing sections 1 and 2.
- 90 EU Citizens were granted the right to vote and stand in local elections in the UK in 1995 (voting and candidacy rights are hereafter referred to as VCR). This was done in accordance with the Council of the European Communities Directive No.94/80/EC. The Local Government Elections (Changes to the Franchise and Qualification of Members) Regulations 1995, which was restated for GB in the RPA 2000, enshrined the right of EU citizens to vote in UK local elections. This position is set out for England in the RPA 1983 (as to registration and franchise) and in the Local Government Act 1972 (as to candidacy). The Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989 sets out the franchise for local NI elections and the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 provides that Assembly elections use the local franchise. Registration for NI local elections is provided for in the RPA 1983 by virtue of Schedule 1 to the Elected Authorities Act. Candidacy at local NI elections is provided for in the Local Government Act (Northern Ireland) 1972 and in relation to NI Assembly elections by the Northern Ireland Act 1998.
- 91 The Act also refers to a list of existing criminal offences to which the new disqualification order can apply where such an offence is motivated by hostility towards candidates, holders of relevant elective offices and campaigners. These offences are set out in Schedule 8.
- 92 The PPERA sets out how political parties, third party campaigners and referendums are regulated in the United Kingdom as well as the functions of the Electoral Commission. The Act makes a number of amendments to PPERA in relation to the registration of political parties and campaign, controlled and notional expenditure, and in respect of the Electoral Commission.

Territorial Extent and Application

- 93 Section 66 sets out the territorial extent of provisions of the Act, that is the jurisdictions of which the Act forms part of the law.
- 94 The Act's territorial extent and application are complex. The Act generally extends to the UK, subject to what is set out below. Its application differs across provisions.
- 95 The provisions of Part 1 largely have UK extent, but:
- some of the amendments to the RPA 1983 made by section 1 and Schedule 1 regarding voter identification extend to England and Wales and Scotland only, and some extend to Northern Ireland only. Additionally, paragraphs 34, 36 and 38 of that Schedule extend existing provisions which currently extend to Northern Ireland only so that they extend to the whole of the UK;
 - provisions about the limit on the period for which a postal vote can be held (in section 3 and Schedule 3) do not extend to Northern Ireland;
 - provisions about limits on proxy voting (in section 6 and Schedule 4) have separate transitional arrangements which extend to England and Wales and Scotland, or to Northern Ireland only, respectively;

- d. further transitional arrangements about proxy voting in respect of local elections in Northern Ireland and Northern Ireland Assembly elections extend to Northern Ireland only.
- 96 Amendments, repeals and revocations made by the rest of the Act generally have the same extent as the provision amended, repealed or revoked, except for amendments made to the RPA 1983 by paragraph 1 of Schedule 8 relating to voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens. Additionally, section 66(5) applies section 384(1) and (2) of the Armed Forces Act 2006 to the amendments made to that Act by paragraph 10 of Schedule 10. Section 384(1) allows the provisions of the Armed Forces Act 2006 to be extended to any of the Channel Islands. Section 384(2) extends the provisions of the Armed Forces Act 2006 to the Isle of Man and the British overseas territories other than Gibraltar.
- 97 Generally, the provisions of the Act apply to the same areas of the UK as the areas to which they extend. The provisions of Part 1 apply for the purposes of UK Parliamentary elections in those areas, except as follows. The postal and proxy voting provisions in Part 1 also apply for the purposes of local government elections in England. The clarified offence of undue influence as provided in new section 114A RPA 1983 (as provided by section 8 of the Act) also applies to elections in England under the Local Government Act 1972 and excepted elections in Northern Ireland, while section 115 will continue to apply to devolved local government elections in Scotland and Wales. The provisions in section 12 and Schedule 6 apply for the purposes of local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland. The provision at section 13 on the simple majority system for certain elections applies to England and Wales for Police and Crime Commissioners, and to England only for the Mayor of London, combined authority mayors and local authority mayors.
- 98 Schedule 2, which amends Schedule 2 to the Representation of the People Act 1983, contains provisions about applications relating to electoral registration, applications to vote by post or proxy, and applications for particular kinds of documents such as electoral identity documents (contained in Schedule 2). These provisions generally apply in relation to UK Parliamentary elections, local government elections in England and elections in Northern Ireland only.
- 99 In Part 2, the overseas elector provisions apply for the purposes of UK Parliamentary elections. The provisions on voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens apply for the purposes of local government and other local elections in England, police and crime commissioner elections in England and Wales, ward elections for common councillors in the City of London, and local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland.
- 100 The Act as a whole only applies to reserved (and excepted, as it relates to Northern Ireland) matters.
- 101 See the table at Annex A for a summary of the position regarding territorial extent and application in the UK.

Commentary on Provisions of Act

Part 1: Administration and Conduct of Elections

Voter Identification, applications for postal and proxy votes, etc.

Section 1 : Voter Identification

102 Section 1 gives effect to Schedule 1 which provides for a new requirement for electors to present photographic identification at polling stations for voting at UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain, and makes other related provisions.

Schedule 1: Voter Identification

103 Schedule 1 amends the RPA 1983, primarily to introduce new requirements for voter identification for UK Parliamentary elections taking place in Great Britain. Some minor changes to existing voter identification procedure and provisions in Northern Ireland are also included in the Schedule to reflect some of the provisions being introduced for Great Britain or to support existing law.

104 Paragraph 2 inserts new sections 13BD (“Electoral identity document: Great Britain”) and 13BE (“Anonymous elector’s document: Great Britain”) into the RPA 1983. New section 13BD(1) creates a new form of identification document which will be an accepted form of identification at a polling station. This document is referred to as a “Voter Card” in the remainder of the commentary on Schedule 1. The Voter Card is available to people who are registered, or have applied to be registered, to vote in parliamentary elections in Great Britain and local government elections in England, and to registered electors who are eligible to vote (or will be once registered) in PCC elections in Wales (or will be once they have reached age 18). This is to reflect the elections where the requirement to show photographic identification will apply as a result of the Act, or as a result of future proposed changes to secondary legislation. Electors will be able to apply for a Voter Card from the Electoral registration officer for any area in which they are registered. They will be able to apply for it at the same time as they apply to be registered to vote.

105 Subsection (3) requires the registration officer to determine an application in accordance with regulations. Subsections (4) to (6) provide further regulation-making powers in relation to the timing for applications, and the issuing and collection of Voter Cards, including power if necessary to amend the parliamentary elections conduct rules (contained in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983) if collection is to take place at a polling station.

106 Subsection (7) requires the registration officer to issue the Voter Card to the person free of charge. Subsections (8) to (11) create additional regulation-making powers about information to be contained on Voter Cards, others aspects of the form of the Voter Card, including the ability to confer a role in relation to design of the content or the form of the Voter Card on the Electoral Commission, and any period of validity of a Voter Card (which may be used to create temporary versions of Voter Cards).

107 New section 13BE largely mirrors new section 13BD, but for people who are registered as an anonymous elector, so that they may apply for an Anonymous Elector’s Document. Eligibility is otherwise the same as under new section 13BD, and anonymous electors would also be able to apply for an Anonymous Elector’s Document at the same time as they apply for an anonymous entry in the electoral register. The provisions of new section 13BE are essentially the same as those governing section 13BD except that the Anonymous Elector’s Document must contain the person’s electoral number rather than their name.

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

- 108 Given that the Anonymous Elector's Document will need to contain the person's electoral number, which is subject to change, subsection (12) creates an additional regulation-making power which can be used to authorise or require a reminder to be sent to an anonymous elector about the need to obtain an anonymous elector's document, and to require a registration officer to issue the holder of an Anonymous Elector's Document with a new document in prescribed circumstances, for example where the officer has renumbered their register and allocated a new number to that anonymous elector.
- 109 Paragraph 3 amends section 13C of the RPA 1983 under which electoral identity cards are already issued in Northern Ireland. It inserts new subsections (3A) and (3B) to mirror some regulation-making powers which are in section 13BD for Great Britain. New subsection (3A) provides that regulations can make provision about issue and collection of electoral identity cards. New subsection (3B) provides that amendments can be made to Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 if that is necessary due to making regulations about collection from a polling station. New subsection (4A) enables regulations to be made about the information to be included on a card, and the form of the card. Currently the Chief Electoral Officer determines these points.
- 110 Paragraph 4 amends section 13CZA (provision of false information: application for electoral identity card) of the RPA 1983, which currently only applies to Northern Ireland but is widened to extend to the whole of the UK by paragraph 38 of this Schedule, and therefore to applications for voter cards and Anonymous Elector's Document in Great Britain.
- 111 Paragraph 4(3) substitutes new subsections (5) and (6) to include the penalties if the offence is committed in England, Wales or Scotland. A person is liable on summary conviction in England and Wales to a maximum imprisonment of 51 weeks (but subject to the rule in subsection (6)) or a fine, or both, on summary conviction in Scotland to imprisonment for a maximum of 12 months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum (or both). In Northern Ireland the penalty remains imprisonment for a maximum of 6 months, or a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale (or both).
- 112 Paragraph 5 amends section 56 of the RPA 1983 to expand the existing types of registration decision that can be appealed in England and Wales, so that an appeal can also be made against an ERO's refusal of an application for a Voter Card or an Anonymous Elector's Document. This change also applies to ERO decisions in Scotland by virtue of section 57. Paragraph 6 makes the same change to section 58 to enable an appeal against the Chief Electoral Officer's refusal of an application for an electoral identity card in Northern Ireland.
- 113 Paragraph 7 inserts a new section 59A into the RPA 1983. It introduces a requirement for the Secretary of State to prepare and publish evaluations regarding the effect of voter identification requirements on electors applying for ballot papers.
- 114 Subsection (2) specifies that these evaluations should take place following the first two UK Parliamentary general elections taking place after section 59A comes into force. Under subsections (3) to (5), if corresponding requirements about the production of identification at polling stations are introduced for local government elections (which would be through secondary legislation), the requirement to publish an evaluation would also apply to the first 'stand-alone' set of local council elections (but not a by-election).
- 115 Subsection (6) requires that any data collected under new rule 40B in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 (or under a corresponding provision for local council elections) is taken into account when preparing the evaluations). Under rule 40B, the data collected is to be prescribed in regulations but is likely to be the types of identification document presented by people, and whether they are refused a ballot paper and if so, the reasons for that.

- 116 Paragraph 8 amends section 61 (other voting offences) of the RPA 1983 under which it is an offence to vote more than once. Under subsection (6), applying for a ballot paper is treated as having voted. The amendment inserts a new subsection (6ZA) and (6ZB) which ensure that an elector would not be treated as having committed any offence related to trying to obtain multiple ballots simply because they made permitted further applications for a ballot paper, where the previous application(s) were refused under rule 37 of the Parliamentary elections rules (see below) on the grounds that they did not show an accepted form of identification.
- 117 Paragraph 9 extends section 66B (failure to comply with conditions relating to supply etc of certain documents) of the RPA 1983. Section 66B makes it an offence to breach rules set out in regulations which restrict inspection or disclosure of important electoral documentation. The amendment means this offence would also apply in respect of a breach of similar regulations under the new rule 19B (inserted by the Act) which will set out conditions for inspection or disclosure of the date of birth list or new rule 56A (also inserted by the Act) which will set out the conditions for inspection or disclosure of the ballot paper refusal list.
- 118 Paragraphs 11 to 33 amend the rules for the conduct of UK Parliamentary elections, which are set out in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983, to introduce voter identification in Great Britain, and make connected changes, including to existing rules for Northern Ireland.
- 119 Paragraph 11 inserts new rule 19B (date of birth lists for polling stations in Northern Ireland) into Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 in respect of Northern Ireland only. Rule 19B places a duty upon the Chief Electoral Officer to provide date of birth lists for each polling station in Northern Ireland. The date of birth lists must contain the date of birth for each voter allotted to the polling station, and each person voting as proxy at that polling station. This is for the purpose of enabling polling station staff to carry out their duty to check on a voter's or proxy's date of birth as provided for under rule 37(1B)(a)(ii) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 (as inserted by paragraph 17(4)) where the apparent age of the voter compared to the date supplied by the voter when they registered to vote (or were appointed as a proxy, in the case of a proxy registered to vote in Great Britain) raises a reasonable doubt as to whether the voter is the elector or proxy they represent themselves to be.
- 120 Under new rule 19B(1) the Chief Electoral Officer must provide to each polling station a list containing the date of birth (supplied by the elector when they registered to vote) for all electors allotted to vote at that polling station. The Chief Electoral Officer must also provide a list containing the dates of birth supplied at registration of all proxies voting on behalf of electors allotted to that polling station. Under rule 19B(2) where the proxy is on a register in Great Britain the list should contain the date of birth of the proxy provided on the application for a proxy vote. Where the proxy is registered in both Northern Ireland and Great Britain the list should contain the date of birth provided when they registered to vote in Northern Ireland. Rule 19B(3) provides that these lists should contain sufficient information to allow the staff at a polling station to carry out the checks when required.
- 121 Rule 19B(4) and (5) prohibit the Chief Electoral Officer, any person to whom the Chief Electoral Officer has delegated functions, the presiding officer, clerk or other officer appointed to work at the polling station from allowing date of birth lists to be inspected, supplying the lists to another person, or making use of the information contained within the lists, otherwise than in accordance with the rules (including any regulations made under paragraph (6) of rule 19B).
- 122 Rule 19B(6) to (9) provide that regulations may make provision in relation to inspection or disclosure of the date of birth lists. Rule 19B(6)(a) and (b) provide that regulations may be made enabling inspection of the lists by prescribed persons and authorising or requiring prescribed persons to supply a copy of the lists to persons prescribed.

- 123 Rule 19B(6)(c) provides that the regulations may make provision in relation to the payment of a fee in respect of inspecting the list or the supply of the list. Any fee will be limited and the amount set in the regulations.
- 124 Rule 19B(7) provides that regulations made under paragraph (6)(a) or (b) may impose conditions in relation to the inspection of a list, supply of a copy of a list or the purposes for which information contained in the date of birth list can be used following inspection or supply.
- 125 Rule 19B(8) provides that the conditions that may be imposed under paragraph (7)(b) in relation to supply of a copy of a list include conditions relating to the extent to which a person who has received a copy of the list may supply the copy to another person, disclose to another person information in the list or use any such information other than the purpose for which it was supplied.
- 126 Rule 19B(9) ensures that regulations made under paragraph (6) may also impose conditions on the supply, disclosure or use of information in the lists mirroring any conditions made in paragraph (8) on any person who has received a copy of the list or had information disclosed to them from the list under paragraph (8).
- 127 Paragraph 12 amends rule 25 (provision of polling stations) of Schedule 1 RPA 1983 to provide that every polling station must have an area for an elector to have their identification viewed in private.
- 128 Paragraph 13 amends rule 26 (appointment of Presiding Officers and clerks). Rule 26(3) enables clerks to act for the Presiding Officer, but paragraph 13(2) amends this to ensure that is not the case for refusing to issue a ballot paper in line with the procedures set out in rule 35(3) (failure to answer a statutory question satisfactorily) or rule 37 (failure to show satisfactory identification), or for resolving doubts about a person's identity. The effect of this provision means that only the Presiding Officer can do this.
- 129 Paragraph 14 adds a new paragraph (3ZA) into rule 28 (issue of official poll cards) of Schedule 1. New paragraph (3ZA) sets out that poll cards issued to electors and proxy voters who vote at a polling station (as opposed to postal voters) in England, Scotland and Wales must include the list of types of identification which are acceptable to enable an elector to vote. This will differ for electors who are registered anonymously, as they will only be able to use their poll card and an Anonymous Elector's Document together.
- 130 Paragraph 15 amends rule 29 (equipment of polling stations). It inserts a new sub-paragraph into paragraph (3) for elections in Northern Ireland requiring a Returning Officer to provide each polling station with the date of birth lists prepared under Rule 19B.
- 131 Paragraph 15 also amends rule 29 to require additional equipment to be provided to every polling station in England, Scotland and Wales. These are:
- a. under new paragraph (3ZA), a ballot paper refusal list in the prescribed form. This document, required by new rule 40ZB, will be used to record cases where an elector has been refused a ballot paper.
 - b. under new paragraph (4A), a large notice to be displayed in each polling station with information about the types of identification that are accepted (again noting that this will differ for anonymous electors), and telling people that further evidence may be needed to resolve any discrepancy between the name on the electoral register and the name on a person's identification document.

- 132 Paragraph 16 amends rule 35 (questions to be put to voters) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Paragraph 16(2) inserts two new statutory questions that can be asked of a person seeking to obtain a ballot paper in England, Wales or Scotland. These are likely to be asked where there is a question about whether the person is who they claim to be. These questions are (za) ‘What is your name?’ and (zb) ‘What is your address?’ If a clerk asks these questions to a person and they do not answer them satisfactorily, they must refer the matter to the Presiding Officer.
- 133 These new statutory questions will be discretionary for clerks or Presiding Officers to use; there is no mandatory use of the questions. However, where the elector answers the question unsatisfactorily to the Presiding Officer, having been given the ‘required information’ (see paragraph (5) of rule 35, inserted by paragraph 16(6)), they will be refused a ballot paper. Where the questions are asked, answering them satisfactorily is additional to, and not instead of, the requirement to show a valid piece of identification (under rule 37).
- 134 Paragraph 17 amends rule 37 (voting procedure) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983, as it applies to Northern Ireland. Paragraph 17(2) amends the heading of that rule to read “Voting procedure and voter identification requirements: Northern Ireland”.
- 135 Paragraph 17(3) inserts a new paragraph (1AA) into rule 37 as it applies to Northern Ireland, which provides that at the voter’s request, the polling station staff must arrange for the voter to have their identification viewed in private. The polling station staff must ensure that no other person can see the voter’s identification, except for any person permitted by the voter.
- 136 Paragraph 17(4) amends paragraph (1B) in rule 37 as it applies to Northern Ireland, such that an officer or clerk must deliver a ballot paper to an elector unless:
- a. they believe that the voter’s age could not plausibly match that which is provided on their identification (this is already a requirement),
 - b. they believe that the voter’s age does not plausibly match the date of birth supplied under a relevant provision (“relevant provision” is defined in new paragraph (1DC) of rule 37, which is inserted by paragraph 17(7) of Schedule 1 (see paragraph 140 below)). In the case of an elector or proxy registered to vote in Northern Ireland, this is the date of birth supplied when the voter registered to vote. In the case of proxies registered to vote in Great Britain, this is the date of birth supplied when the person was appointed as a proxy. (This is already a requirement for electors but is a new requirement for proxies),
 - c. they have a reasonable suspicion that the identification is forged (this is a new requirement).
- 137 Paragraph 17(5) specifically adds the language of “reasonable suspicion” of a forged document to paragraph (1C), allowing the Presiding Officer to refuse to give an elector a ballot paper in those circumstances. Paragraph 17(6) makes a similar change to paragraph (1D), so that a polling clerk can refuse to issue a ballot paper to an elector where the clerk has a reasonable suspicion that their identification document is forged (as well as on existing grounds), in which case they must refer the matter to the Presiding Officer.
- 138 Paragraph 17(7) inserts a new paragraph (1DA) which ensures that electors in Northern Ireland who have changed their name on their form of identification but not on the electoral register may provide additional proof of their identification to resolve this discrepancy, and will then still be able to obtain a ballot paper as long as the Presiding Officer has no other reason to doubt that the elector is who they claim to be. Paragraph 17(7) also inserts new paragraph (1DB). If the Presiding Officer refuses to deliver a ballot paper to a voter because they have reasonable doubt that the voter is who they say they are, the voter can make further applications, and paragraphs (1A) to (1DA) apply again.

- 139 Paragraph 17(7) also inserts new paragraph 1(DC) which defines the term “relevant provision” for the purposes of rule 37(1B).
- 140 Paragraph 17(8) and 17(9) amends paragraph (1E), to make clear that the identification documents should be accepted in any format that they are issued in and regardless of any expiry date, and adds a new paragraph (1EA) which defines a forged document as one that is a false document made to resemble a real document. Paragraph 17(8) also adds two new documents that may be produced as identification in Northern Ireland and clarifies the names of existing documents.
- 141 Paragraph 17(10) inserts a new paragraph (1FA), ensuring that no other person may inspect an elector’s identity document except with the permission of the elector.
- 142 Paragraph 18 amends rule 37 (voting procedure) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983, as it applies to England, Wales and Scotland. Paragraph 18(2) amends the heading of that to read “Voting procedure and voter identification requirements: Great Britain”.
- 143 Paragraph 18(3)(a) amends rule 37(1) to provide that a ballot paper must be delivered to a voter who applies for one, subject to the new paragraphs (1A) to (1P) of rule 37, which set out the requirement to produce identification, and also to rule 35 (relating to satisfactorily answering certain questions). Paragraph 18(3)(b) removes rule 37(1)(a), the provision which previously required the number and name of the elector to be called out when an elector was applying for a ballot paper.
- 144 Paragraph 18(4) inserts new paragraphs (1A) to (1T) into rule 37. The effect of these provisions is as follows:
- a. (1A) states that a ballot paper can only be issued to a voter if the voter has shown a ‘specified document’ (defined by paragraphs (1H) to (1K)).
 - b. (1B) requires that, at the voter’s request, the polling station staff must arrange for the elector to have their identification viewed in private in England, Wales and Scotland and ensure that no other person can see the voter’s identification, except for any person permitted by the voter.
 - c. (1C) and (1D) outline that, where an elector produces a document to the clerk and the clerk decides that the document raises a reasonable doubt as to whether the elector is who they claim to be or that the document presented by the elector is forged (as defined in paragraph (1J)), then the clerk must refer the matter to the Presiding Officer (without delivering a ballot paper). The Presiding Officer must proceed as if the documentation was presented to them in the first place (i.e., they must evaluate the document without considering that the clerk referred the matter to them). This ensures that only the Presiding Officer can refuse to issue a ballot paper.
 - d. (1E) requires the Presiding Officer to refuse to deliver a ballot paper to the elector if they have a reasonable suspicion over the identity of the elector raised by their identification document or believe their documentation is forged. (1F) provides an exception where the elector provides the Presiding Officer with additional evidence to explain why their name on their identification does not match the name on the register (for example a document showing a change in name after the elector getting married or changing their name for another reason).
 - e. (1G) allows that, if the Presiding Officer refuses to deliver a ballot paper to a voter under paragraph (1E), the voter can make further applications, and paragraphs (1A) to (1F) apply again each time.

- f. (1H) lists the acceptable types of identification that a voter (other than an anonymous elector) may produce, and specifies that all of them must contain the voter's photograph. Paragraph (1I) defines a "United Kingdom passport" and paragraph (1J) sets out a table of all the "relevant concessionary travel pass[es]" which are acceptable identification.
- g. (1K) (along with 1L) sets out that for electors with an anonymous entry in the electoral register, only an anonymous elector's document issued under section 13BE is a 'specified document'. This is because other forms of identification will contain their name, but will not contain other information necessary to enable their identity to be properly checked at the polling station. In addition, the anonymous elector's document must (a) have been issued by the appropriate registration officer (namely, the one for the constituency in which the election is being held, or one such officer if there is more than one), and (b) contain the elector's current electoral number. This is because an anonymous elector needs to be checked at the polling station against their polling card (which contains their current electoral number, as defined in (1L)) and the electoral register.
- h. (1M) ensures that a specified document includes one which has passed any expiry date (though the photograph on the document would still need to be a good likeness or it may raise a doubt as to whether the voter is who they claim to be – see (1E)). This means that documents such as passports which have an expiry date may continue to be acceptable identification for voting purposes after that date has passed. An exception is provided by (1N) for any Voter Card or anonymous elector's document which was issued only to be used on the day of a certain poll or polls.
- i. (1Q) confers power to amend the list of 'specified documents' in (1H) to (1J), including the list of types of concessionary travel pass and the description of "United Kingdom passport", by regulations. The Voter Card may not be removed from the list.
- j. (1R) states that the power to remove a specified document from the list can only be exercised if the Electoral Commission has recommended this (the Commission could recommend this of their own accord, or the Government could request they consider a proposed change).
- k. (1S) states that only the Presiding Officer or clerk may inspect an identification produced by a voter, except as permitted by the elector, and (1T) outlines that 'producing a document' in rule 37 means producing a type of identification for inspection by the polling station staff.

145 Paragraph 18(5) amends paragraph (2) of rule 37 which sets out the existing voting procedure for anonymous electors. It removes the requirement for the elector's electoral registration number to be called out (in line with the removal of rule 37(1)(a)). Anonymous electors will still be required to show their official poll card.

146 Paragraph 18(6) removes rule 37(3)(a) as a consequence of removing rule 37(1)(a).

147 Paragraph 19 amends rule 38 (votes marked by Presiding Officer) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Rule 38 allows voters who are blind or have another disability or who are unable to read, to have their ballot paper marked by the Presiding Officer. Rule 38(1A) is substituted with new paragraphs (1A) and (1B). New paragraphs (1A) and (1B) provide that the relevant provisions of the voter identification requirements which apply in England, Wales and Scotland, and those which apply in Northern Ireland, also apply to voters in England, Wales and Scotland, and to voters in Northern Ireland respectively, who apply to have the Presiding Officer mark their vote under rule 38. If the voter cannot provide the required form of identification then the companion will be unable to mark the voter's ballot paper on their behalf.

- 148 Paragraph 20 amends rule 39 (voting by persons with disabilities) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Rule 39 allows voters who are blind or have another disability or who are unable to read, to apply to be assisted by a companion when they vote. Rule 39(2A) is substituted with new paragraphs (2A) and (2B). New paragraph (2A) and (2B) provide that the relevant provisions of the voter identification requirements which apply in England, Wales and Scotland, and those which apply in Northern Ireland, also apply to voters in England, Wales and Scotland, and to voters in Northern Ireland respectively where a voter wishes to vote with assistance from a companion. If the voter cannot provide the required form of identification then the Presiding Officer will not grant their application.
- 149 Paragraph 21 amends rule 40 (tendered ballot papers) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Rule 40 makes provision for the issuing of tendered ballot papers in a number of circumstances. Rule 40(1A) is substituted with new paragraphs (1A) to (1AB). These new paragraphs apply the relevant provisions of the voter identification requirements which apply in England, Wales and Scotland, and those which apply in Northern Ireland to voters in England, Wales and Scotland, and to voters in Northern Ireland respectively where a voter seeks to mark a tendered ballot paper; if the voter cannot provide the required form of identification then they will be unable to mark a tendered ballot paper.
- 150 Paragraph 22 inserts new rule 40ZB, entitled "Refusal to deliver ballot paper: Great Britain", into Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Rule 40ZB(1) to (3) require the ballot paper refusal list to be completed by the Presiding Officer or clerk at an election in England, Wales and Scotland, where a Presiding Officer refuses to deliver a ballot paper either as a consequence of failure of the voter applying as an elector, or as proxy, to answer a question put to them under rule 35 satisfactorily, or as a consequence of the voter's identification raising a reasonable doubt that the voter is who they say they are. The ballot paper refusal list must include the voter's electoral number or the name and address of the person for whom the voter applied as proxy, and the reason why a ballot paper was refused.
- 151 Rule 40ZB(4) to (6) deals with where a voter is refused a ballot paper and makes a further application. Rule 40ZB(5) and (6) provides that the Presiding Officer or clerk must record that further application and the outcome on the ballot paper refusal form.
- 152 New rule 40ZB(7) requires that if the ballot paper is refused to the voter, the refusal must be recorded on the ballot paper refusal list as soon as practicable. If the ballot paper is delivered on a further application, this must be recorded on the ballot paper refusal list as soon as practicable after the delivery of the ballot paper to the voter.
- 153 New rule 40ZB(8) defines electoral number for the purposes of completion of the ballot paper refusal list.
- 154 New rule 40ZB(9) provides that a decision to refuse to deliver a ballot paper is final, subject to new rule 37(1G) of the RPA 1983 which allows a voter to make further applications if a ballot paper is refused to them by a Presiding Officer, and rule 40ZB(10) which provides that a decision to refuse a ballot paper is subject to review on an election petition.
- 155 New rule 40ZB(11) explains that reference to a refusal of a ballot paper under rule 37(1D) also includes reference to a refusal of a ballot paper under rule 38, 39, or 40.
- 156 Paragraph 23 amends the heading of existing rule 40A of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 to read "Refusal to deliver ballot papers: Northern Ireland", and amends that rule to clarify that after a ballot paper has been refused, further attempts are permitted under rule 37.

157 Paragraph 24 inserts new rule 40B which sets out new rules regarding collection and disclosure of information relating to the operation of rule 37:

- a. 40B(1) states that the rules apply to elections in England, Scotland and Wales if regulations provide for that to be the case.
- b. 40B(2) states the Presiding Officer must collect information (which will be set out in regulations) about applications for ballot papers under rules 37, 38, 39 and 40 and provide this information to the Returning Officer.
- c. 40B(3) states that a Returning Office in England or Wales must pass on the information to the relevant registration officer. In Scotland, the information remains with the Returning Officer (sub-paragraph (4)).
- d. 40B(5) requires the information to be anonymised, and then collated by the registration officer (or Returning Office in Scotland). The way it is to be collated will be set out in regulations.
- e. 40B(6) requires the registration officer (or Returning Officer in Scotland) to pass the anonymised information to the Secretary of State and on request to the Electoral Commission.
- f. 40B(7) the registration officer or Returning Officer should not disclose information other than in ways specifically outlined in the Act.
- g. 40B(8) the data collected under these measures should be retained for a period of ten years in the anonymised form.
- h. 40B(10) to 40B(11) outlines that providing this information doesn't breach any duty of confidence that registration officers, Returning Officers and Presiding Officers are under, and any other restrictions on disclosing data, but that disclosures in breach of the data protection legislation (as defined by the Data Protection Act 2018 section 3(9)) are not permitted.
- i. 40B(12) defines the relevant registration officer for the purposes of data collection as the registration officer of the relevant local authority that the constituency sits in or the registration officer of the local authority with the largest share of electors of the constituency.

158 Paragraph 25 adds a new paragraph (1)(db) to rule 43 (procedure on close of poll) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. This requires that after the close of poll, the Presiding Officer must put the ballot paper refusal list in a separate, sealed packet and deliver it to the Returning Officer.

159 Paragraph 25 also adds a new paragraph (1)(dc) to rule 43 (procedure on close of poll) for parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland. This requires that after the close of poll the Presiding Officer must put the dates of birth lists in a separate, sealed packet and deliver it to the Returning Officer.

160 Paragraph 26 inserts new rule 53B (destruction of date of birth lists: Northern Ireland) into Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. This rule requires the Chief Electoral Officer to destroy the date of birth lists on the next working day following the 21st day after the member has been returned or if an election petition is presented before that time then on the next working day following the conclusion of proceedings or appeal.

161 Paragraph 27 adds new paragraph (2)(ba) to rule 54 (sealing up of ballot papers) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. The provision requires that the Returning Officer shall not open the sealed packets of the ballot paper refusal list.

- 162 Paragraph 28 adds a new paragraph (1)(cb) to rule 55 (delivery of documents to registration officer) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. As a result, the Returning Officer must send the completed ballot paper refusal list to the registration officer.
- 163 Paragraph 29 adds a new paragraph (1A) into rule 56 (orders for production of documents) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. New paragraph (1A) provides for the opening of the sealed packet containing the ballot paper refusal list or for the inspection or production of that list by court order if the relevant court is satisfied by evidence on oath that the order is required for the purpose of an election petition relating to an election in England and Wales or Scotland.
- 164 Paragraph 30 inserts a new rule 56A, entitled “Inspection of ballot paper refusal list: Great Britain”, into Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. New rule 56A(1) and (2) provide that further provisions regarding the circumstances in which a registration officer may be authorised to view the ballot paper refusal list after it has been sealed may be set out in regulations. New rule 56(A)(3) provides that further provisions regarding the disclosure of information contained in the ballot paper refusal list by a registration officer may be set out in regulations.
- 165 Paragraph 31 adds a new paragraph (2)(ba) into rule 57 (retention and public inspection of documents) of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983, which provides that the completed ballot paper refusal list for elections held in England, Wales or Scotland will not be open for public inspection.
- 166 Paragraph 32 adds a new paragraph (2)(ba) into rule 58 (disposal of documents in Scotland), which applies rules 55 to 57 to UK Parliamentary elections in Scotland, to make clear that where rule 56A applies to Scotland, references to the registration officer are to be read as references to the Returning Officer.
- 167 Paragraph 33 amends the Appendix of Forms. Paragraph 33(2) inserts a new paragraph 1 before the existing paragraph 1 in the form of directions for the guidance of the voters in voting. New paragraph 1 sets out that voters will be required to show an approved form of identification before being given a ballot paper. Paragraph 33(3) renumbers the existing paragraphs.
- 168 Currently only Northern Ireland has voter identification requirements. Paragraphs 34 to 39 extend a number of voter identification provisions which currently extend only to Northern Ireland so that they extend to England and Wales and to Scotland as well, and make consequential amendments as a result of those extensions.
- 169 Paragraph 40 repeals section 2(2) of the Elections (Northern Ireland) Act 1985, because this has been superseded by paragraph 13(2) of this Schedule - an amendment to rule 26(3).

Online Absent Voting Applications

Section 2: Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters

- 170 Section 2 gives effect to Schedule 2 which makes provision about electoral registration applications, absent vote applications (postal and proxy), as well as applications for other documents related to elections.

Schedule 2: Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters

- 171 Paragraphs 1 to 11 of Schedule 2 make amendments to the RPA 1983.

- 172 Paragraph 1 amends section 53 RPA 1983 which concerns the power to make regulations related to electoral registration and voting by post or by proxy. The amendment amends subsection (1) to insert new paragraph (ba). New paragraph (ba) expands the scope of section 53(1) to allow provisions to be made by regulations with respect to applications under sections 13BD, 13BE and 13C RPA 1983 and documents or cards issued under any of those sections (i.e., electoral identity documents, anonymous electors' documents and electoral identity cards).
- 173 Paragraph 2 provides that Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 is amended in accordance with paragraphs 3 to 11, as detailed below. Section 53(3) RPA 1983 provides that regulations made under section 53(1) may contain any such provisions as are mentioned in Schedule 2 to RPA 1983
- 174 Paragraph 3 amends paragraph 1 of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 which provides some of the general regulation-making powers relating to what registration officers may do in pursuit of their registration duties, particularly around how they can obtain information and evidence, including the following. Paragraph 1(2) of Schedule 2 provides that provision can be made authorising a registration officer to require persons to give information for the purposes of the officer's registration duties. Paragraph 1(2A) states that provision made under paragraph 1(2) for registration officers in Great Britain to require an applicant for electoral registration to provide evidence of their identity or their entitlement to registration has to specify the types of evidence that can be required. Paragraph 1(4) allows provisions to be made authorising a registration officer to inspect, for the purpose of his registration duties, records kept by local or public authorities, and to make copies of information contained in such records.
- 175 Paragraph 3(2) of this Schedule expands paragraph 1(2A) of Schedule 2 so that it applies in relation to registration officers throughout the UK rather than Great Britain, and so that it applies to applicants for electoral identity documents, anonymous electors' documents and electoral identity cards under sections 13BD, 13BE and 13C RPA 1983 respectively, as well as to registration applications.
- 176 Paragraph 3(3) inserts new sub-paragraph (5A) to expand the meaning of a registration officer's 'registration duties' to include:
- a. in the case of a registration officer in Great Britain, the officer's functions (i) in relation to electoral identity documents and anonymous electors' documents under sections 13BD and 13BE RPA 1983, and (ii) in relation to absent vote applications under paragraph 3, 4 or 6 of Schedule 4 to the Representation of the People Act 2000, other than applications in relation to a local government election, or local government elections, in Scotland or Wales, and
 - b. in the case of the Chief Electoral Officer for Northern Ireland, the Officer's functions (i) in relation to electoral identity cards under section 13C RPA 1983 and (ii) in relation to applications under section 6, 7 or 8 of the RPA 1985.
- 177 Paragraph 4 amends paragraph 1A of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 which contains powers to make regulations in relation to the disclosure of information for verification purposes relating to electoral registration. These powers are used to underpin aspects of the voter registration process whereby certain details about an applicant are compared against data to help a registration officer in determining the application. Paragraph 4(2) and (3) amends existing sub-paragraph (1)(a) to provide that provision can be made via regulations so that information may be verified about a wider category of individuals listed in new sub-paragraph (1A). The individuals listed in new sub-paragraph (1A) are: (a) a person who is registered in a register maintained by the registration officer; (b) a person who is named in (i) an application for registration in, or alteration of, a register (including a partially completed application submitted through the UK digital service - see new sub-paragraph (1B)); (ii) an application (including a partially completed application) for one of the types of electoral identity document under section 13BD, 13BE or 13C RPA 1983, or; (iii) a relevant absent vote application.

- 178 Paragraph 4(4) inserts new sub-paragraphs (6) to (8) into paragraph 1A of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983. New sub-paragraph (6) provides that in sub-paragraph (1), in relation to verifying information about a person named in a relevant registration or absent vote application, references to disclosing information include references to disclosing evidence provided by a person in connection with the application.
- 179 New sub-paragraph (7)(a) to (c) in paragraph 1A defines “relevant absent voting application”, “relevant registration application” and “UK digital service” as used in paragraph 1A.
- 180 New sub-paragraph (8) in paragraph 1A provides that a notice, including a partially completed notice, under section 8(9) of the RPA 1985 which cancels a proxy appointment is to be treated as a relevant absent voting application for the purposes of paragraph 1A.
- 181 Paragraph 5 of this Schedule amends paragraph 3ZA of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983. Paragraph 3ZA allows provisions to be made about the form and content of, and manner of making of, electoral registration applications, and about the evidence to be provided by such an applicant to support an application. Paragraph 5(2) expands sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 3ZA to include applications for electoral identity documents and anonymous elector documents in Great Britain under sections 13BD and 13BE RPA 1983. Paragraph 5(3) inserts new sub-paragraphs (2A) and (2B) into paragraph 3ZA. New sub-paragraph (2A)(a) provides that provisions may be made to confer functions on the Secretary of State to enable registration applications listed in new sub-paragraph (2B) to be made in a particular manner; and to authorise the Secretary of State, in prescribed circumstances, to complete such applications in part for people, for example to pre-populate forms with information already held by the Secretary of State where appropriate. These powers would be used to underpin aspects of online application services. New sub-paragraph (2B) lists relevant applications for the purpose of new sub-paragraph (2A) as (a) an application for registration in, or alteration of (i) a register of parliamentary electors, (ii) a register of local government electors in England, or (iii) a register of local government electors in Scotland or Wales, where the application is submitted through the UK digital service, and (b) applications under section 13BD or 13BE RPA 1983 for Voter Cards or anonymous elector documents
- 182 Paragraph 5(4) inserts a new paragraph 3ZA(3A) to allow for provisions to be made requiring a person making an application for a Voter Card or an anonymous elector’s document under section 13BD or 13BE to provide evidence that the person is the person named in the application. Paragraph 5(5) and (6) makes consequential amendments to paragraph 3ZA(4) and (6).
- 183 Paragraph 5(7) inserts new sub-paragraph (7) into paragraph 3ZA of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 explaining what is meant by an application submitted through “the UK digital service”..
- 184 Paragraph 6 of this Schedule substitutes the existing paragraph 3A (about registration applications in Northern Ireland) of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 with a new paragraph 3A which covers, for Northern Ireland, both applications for electoral registration and applications for electoral identity cards under section 13C RPA 1983, as well as forms used in connection with a canvass under section 10 RPA 1983. The new paragraph 3A(1) replicates the existing powers in paragraph 3A, enabling provision to be made about (subsection (1)(a)) the form and contents of registration applications and applications under section 13C as well as any declarations in connection with those applications, and the manner in which they are to be made, and (subsection (1)(b)), the manner in which forms in connection with a canvass are submitted.

- 185 New paragraph 3A(2) provides that provision made under sub-paragraph (1) may confer functions on the Secretary of State or the Chief Electoral Officer for Northern Ireland to allow applications to be made or forms to be submitted in a particular manner, confer other functions on the Chief Electoral Officer, confer functions on the Electoral Commission and provisions may also authorise the Secretary of State or Chief Electoral Officer to complete applications or forms in part for people in certain circumstances.
- 186 New paragraph 3A(3) enables provision to be made requiring a person making an application for registration in Northern Ireland to provide evidence that they are the person making the application and to provide evidence of their entitlement to be registered. New paragraph 3A(4) also provides that provisions can be made requiring a person making an application under section 13C to provide evidence that the person is the person named in the application.
- 187 New paragraph 3A(5) provides that any provision made in relation to sub-paragraph (3) or (4) must specify the kind of evidence that a person is required to provide and paragraph 3A(6) gives examples of the evidence which may be specified - a person's date of birth or national insurance number. Under new paragraph 3A(7) provision made under sub-paragraph (3) or (4) may require that this evidence is provided to the Chief Electoral Office or some other prescribed person.
- 188 New paragraph 3A(8) provides that provision can be made about how a requirement for an applicant to provide a signature in an application for electoral registration in Northern Ireland or a form submitted in connection with a canvass can be satisfied.
- 189 Paragraph 7 of this Schedule inserts new paragraph 5ZA into Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983. New paragraph 5ZA(1) allows regulations to be made about the manner in which 'relevant absent vote applications' can be made (defined in new paragraph 5ZA(5) and (6)). New paragraph 5ZA(2) enables provision under sub-paragraph (1) to (a) confer functions on the Secretary of State, registration officers, or local or public authorities in Great Britain to enable applications to be made in a particular manner; (b) confer other functions on registration officers; (c) confer functions on the Electoral Commission; and (d) authorise the Secretary of State or the Chief Electoral Officer for Northern Ireland, in prescribed circumstances, to complete applications in part for people.
- 190 New paragraph 5ZA(3) provides for provisions to be made that impose requirements to be met in relation to a relevant absent voting application. Paragraph 5ZA(4) provides for provisions to be made about how a requirement for an applicant to provide a signature in connection with a relevant absent voting application may be satisfied.
- 191 Paragraph 8 of this Schedule amends paragraph 8B(1) of Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983, which allows provision to be made to authorise or require a registration officer to treat a prescribed person's statement of fact as sufficient evidence of that fact, so that it also extends to applications for electoral identity documents, anonymous elector's documents and electoral identity cards under sections 13BD, 13BE and 13C respectively.
- 192 Paragraph 9 inserts new paragraph 8BA allowing provisions to require registration officers to keep records relating to applications for electoral identity documents and anonymous elector's documents, and relating to any documents issued as a result of those applications, and allowing provisions to require the Chief Electoral Officer for Northern Ireland to do likewise for applications for electoral identity cards and such cards issued. New paragraph 8BA(4) also sets out, in both instances, that provisions may be made to allow this information to be shared as prescribed.

- 193 Paragraph 10 expands paragraph 8C of Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983, which enables provision to be made about retention, disposal and other processing of information received in the course of registration-related procedures, so that these powers also apply to information relating to applications under sections 13BD, 13BE and 13C.
- 194 Paragraph 11 inserts new sub-paragraph (1ZZA) into paragraph 13 of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983. Paragraph 13(1)(b) of Schedule 2 to RPA 1983 allows provision to be made to create a criminal offence for a person, without lawful authority, to destroy, mutilate, deface or remove any notice published by the registration officer in connection with the officer's 'registration duties'. New paragraph 13(1ZZA) expands the meaning of 'registration duties' to include references to (a) in the case of a registration officer in Great Britain, their functions under sections 13BD and 13BE RPA 1983 in relation to electoral identity documents and anonymous elector's documents, and their functions in relation to absent vote applications under paragraph 3, 4 or 6 of Schedule 4 to the Representation of the People Act 2000, other than applications in relation to a local government election, or local government elections in Scotland or Wales; (b) in the case of the Chief Electoral Officer for Northern Ireland, their functions under section 13C RPA 1983 in relation to electoral identity cards and in relation to absent vote applications under section 6, 7 or 8 of the RPA 1985.
- 195 Paragraph 12 provides a power to make regulations to amend Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 and section 6 or 7 of the RPA 1985 in order to remove a requirement that an applicant's absent vote application in Great Britain (other than an 'excluded application', i.e., an application in relation to a local government election, or local government elections, in Scotland or Wales - see paragraph 12(2)) and Northern Ireland respectively must include their signature.
- 196 Such regulations may make (a) different provision for different purposes; and (b) consequential, supplementary, incidental, transitional, transitory or saving provision (including consequential provision amending any provision made by the Representation of the People Acts (paragraph 12(3))). Any such regulations are to be made by statutory instrument subject to the affirmative resolution procedure (paragraph 12(4)).
- 197 Paragraph 13 provides a power to make provision about unique reference numbers in relation to elections in Northern Ireland. A unique reference number ('URN') is issued to every elector that registers digitally in Northern Ireland for use when applying for an absent vote. Paragraph 13(1) provides that regulations may be made about the issuing or use of URNs in connection with applications to register, applications for an absent vote or canvass. Paragraph 13(2) provides that such regulations may amend, repeal or change provisions relating to URNs in the Representation of the People Acts or the Elected Authorities (NI) Act 1989.
- 198 Paragraph 13(3) provides that regulations may make a) different provision for different purposes; or (b) consequential, supplementary, incidental, transitional, transitory or saving provision (including provision amending any provision made by the Representation of the People Acts or the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989. In accordance with paragraph 13(5) and (6), any such regulations are to be made by statutory instrument and subject to the affirmative resolution procedure.
- 199 Paragraph 14 makes the following consequential repeals (a) section 2(2) of the Elections (Northern Ireland) Act 1985; (b) paragraph 24(5) of Schedule 1 to the Representation of the People Act 2000; and (c) paragraph 20(4) of Schedule 4 to the Electoral Registration and Administration Act 2013.

Postal and Proxy Voting

Section 3: Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote

200 Section 3 gives effect to Schedule 3 to the Act. This amends Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 so as to limit to a maximum of three years the period for which a person can apply to vote by post at UK Parliamentary elections in England, Wales and Scotland, and local government elections in England.

Schedule 3: Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote

201 Paragraph 1 of Schedule 3 provides for Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 (absent voting in Great Britain) to be amended in line with the amendments set out in the Schedule.

202 Paragraph 2 amends paragraph 3 of Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 which currently provides for applications for absent voting at elections to be made for a definite or indefinite period. The amendments amend sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 3, and insert a new sub-paragraph (1A), to provide that at UK Parliamentary elections or local government elections in England it will no longer be possible for a person to be able to apply for a postal vote for an indefinite period. Under the changes, a grant of an application to vote by post in relation to UK Parliamentary elections or local government elections in England may not exceed three years. The amendments provide that the postal vote of a person who has chosen to apply for a postal vote for the maximum period possible will run until the third 31 January following the date on which the application is granted. This will ensure that these postal vote applications will cease on 31 January in the year in question, which will give the elector time to apply for a fresh postal vote ahead of any scheduled elections for May in that year, if the elector wishes to continue to vote by post. The amendments also allow a person to apply for a postal vote for a shorter period than the period ending with the third 31 January following the date on which the application is granted.

203 New sub-paragraph (1B) provides that the provisions in sub-paragraph (1A) do not apply to a postal voter who is registered to vote at parliamentary elections in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration. Instead, any grant of a postal vote application by an overseas elector will run until the period ending with the 1 November during which the person is entitled to remain registered to vote as an overseas elector (which may not exceed 3 years) in accordance with new section 1D(1)(a) or (3)(a) of the RPA 1985. An overseas elector may apply to vote by post for a shorter period if they wish.

204 The amendments make consequential changes to sub-paragraphs (4) and (5) of paragraph 3 of Schedule 4 concerning the record of absent voters and the removal from that record to reflect that there is now a limit on the period for which a person may hold a postal vote at UK Parliamentary elections and local government elections in England.

205 The amendments make a consequential change to sub-paragraph (7) of paragraph 3 of Schedule 4, and insert a new sub-paragraph (7A), to reflect that a proxy voter who wishes to vote by post instead may apply for a postal vote for a period not exceeding 3 years. New sub-paragraph (7B) provides that the provisions in sub-paragraph (1B) apply where an overseas elector who is a proxy makes an application to vote by post. The amendments preserve the existing position that a person may apply to vote by post for an indefinite period or for a particular period at local government elections in Scotland or Wales.

206 Paragraph 3 amends paragraph 7 of Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 which concerns persons voting as a proxy on behalf of another elector at an election. The amendments make equivalent changes in relation to these persons to those made by paragraph 2 of the Schedule. Under the changes, a grant of an application to vote by post by a proxy voter in relation to UK Parliamentary elections or local government elections in England may not exceed three years.

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

The amendments preserve the existing position that a person appointed as proxy for another elector may apply to vote by post for an indefinite period or for a particular period at local government elections in Scotland or Wales.

- 207 Paragraph 4 makes transitional provision in relation to existing postal voters at the time the limit on the maximum period for which a person can apply for a postal vote comes into force. The paragraph provides that the transitional arrangements will apply to postal voters who, immediately before the day to be specified in regulations by the Secretary of State (“the specified day”), have a postal vote for an indefinite period or for a particular period that would expire after the end of three years beginning with the specified day. Under paragraph 4, these persons will continue to be able to vote by post until either the third 31 January following the specified day or, if this is sooner, “the signature refresh date”. The signature refresh date is the date by which the registration officer would ordinarily be required to send a notice to the postal voter requiring them to provide a fresh signature (under the existing signature refresh provisions, this notice must be sent by 31 January in any year if a person’s signature on record is more than five years old). The notice that is ordinarily required to be sent will not be so required if the person’s only entitlement to vote as an absent voter is a postal vote that will expire on the signature refresh date under these transitional provisions. The registration officer must send to a postal voter before the end of the period for which they have a postal vote a notice informing the person of the date on which their postal vote entitlement is to end, and information about how to make a fresh application to vote by post.
- 208 The transitional arrangements provide that the new limit on the period for which a person may apply for a postal vote is phased in for existing long-term postal voters. They provide that these persons will cease to have a postal vote on the 31 January in the year in question, which will give them time to make a fresh postal vote application ahead of any scheduled elections for May in that year, if they wish to continue to vote by post.
- 209 The transitional arrangements in this paragraph do not apply in relation to a person who is registered to vote in parliamentary elections in pursuance of an overseas elector’s declaration made at any time before the day on which section 12 comes into force (see instead Part 2 of Schedule 7).

Section 4: Handling of postal voting documents by political campaigners

- 210 Section 4 amends the RPA 1983, introducing a new criminal offence banning political campaigners from handling postal voting documents issued to others.
- 211 Subsections (1) and (2) insert the new handling offence as new section 112A of the RPA 1983.
- 212 New section 112A(1) provides that those defined in section 112A(7) as “political campaigners” commit an offence if they handle postal voting documents in relation to UK Parliamentary and English local elections. For these purposes, “political campaigners” (as defined in subsection (7)) includes candidates, election agents and party workers.
- 213 New section 112(A)(2) provides an exemption from the offence for specified persons who may handle postal votes in the normal course of their duties, such as a postal operator.
- 214 New section 112A(3) creates two further exemptions to this offence where the handler is a listed family member or carer of the postal voter.
- 215 New section 112A(4) provides that it is a defence for a person charged with the offence to show that they did not dishonestly handle the postal voting document for the purpose of promoting a particular outcome at an election.
- 216 New section 112A(5) provides that where sufficient evidence has been introduced to raise the defence as an issue, the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not.

217 New section 112A(6) makes the offence a “corrupt practice”, bringing the offence within the existing prosecution, sentencing and penalty regime for electoral offences in the RPA 1983. This offence carries a maximum penalty of up to two years in prison, a fine, or both; and prohibition from standing for electoral office and from voting for a period of 5 years. In line with other electoral offences, this subsection makes it clear that anyone who aids, abets, counsels or procures the commission of the offence in relation to handling postal voting documents is also guilty of a corrupt practice.

218 New section 112A(7) sets out the persons who are deemed to be a political campaigner for the purpose of this section. A political campaigner is a person who is:

- a. a candidate at the election;
- b. an election agent of a candidate at the election;
- c. a sub-agent of a person within paragraph (b);
- d. employed or engaged by a person who is a candidate at the election for the purposes of that person’s activities as a candidate;
- e. a member of a registered political party and carries on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election;
- f. employed or engaged by a registered political party in connection with the party’s political activities;
- g. employed or engaged by a person within any of paragraphs (a) to (f) to carry on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election;
- h. employed or engaged by a person within paragraph (g) to carry on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election.

219 New section 112A(8) defines some of the terms used in new section 112A, including “relevant election” to which the provisions apply, namely UK Parliamentary elections and local elections in England. New subsections (9)-(11) provide some further interpretation of the terms used.

220 Subsection (3) applies the existing processes for the identification of a person guilty of a corrupt or illegal practice by an election court (set out in section 160 of the RPA 1983) to those convicted of the new offence.

221 Similarly, subsection (4) applies the existing provisions for the prosecution of corrupt practices (set out in section 168 of the RPA 1983) to those convicted of the new offence. Under these provisions, on indictment, the person would be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or a fine, or both. On summary conviction, the person would be liable to imprisonment for a maximum of six months, or to a fine, or to both.

222 Subsection (5) applies the existing provisions in relation to incapacities (set out in section 173 of the RPA 1983) to persons convicted of the offence.

Section 5: Handing in postal voting documents

223 Section 5 amends Schedules 1 and 2 to the RPA 1983, introducing powers to allow regulations to be made setting out requirements for the handing in of postal votes to the Returning Officer and at polling stations, including setting a limit on the number of postal voters on behalf of whom a person may hand in postal votes, and for postal votes to be rejected if not handed in in accordance with the requirements.

- 224 Subsection (4) amends rule 45 of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 which concerns the counting of votes at UK Parliamentary elections. Paragraph (1B) of rule 45 concerns the requirements for a postal ballot paper to be taken to be “duly returned” and therefore included in the count at a UK Parliamentary election in England, Wales or Scotland. Subsection (4) amends this to specify that a postal vote will be taken to be duly returned if the postal vote does not fall to be rejected under regulations made under this provision (more detail on rejection of postal votes is set out below). Subsection (4) also amends paragraph (2) of rule 45 which concerns the return of postal ballot papers to the Returning Officer at UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland and the amendments make equivalent changes for these elections in Northern Ireland as set out above for UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain.
- 225 Subsection (5) amends Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983 which sets out provisions which may be contained in regulations as to registration and other matters. Paragraph 12 of Schedule 2 currently provides for regulations to be made in relation to the issue and receipt of postal ballot papers. Subsection (5) inserts a new paragraph 12ZA into Schedule 2 that sets out provisions that may be made where regulations under rule 45(1B)(a) or (b) in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 provide that a postal voting document may be handed in to a polling station or to the Returning Officer at UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain.
- 226 Under new paragraph 12ZA(2), regulations may require a person seeking to hand in a postal voting document to complete a form containing specific information, which the government anticipates would include, among other information, the name(s) of the postal voter(s) whose ballot papers are being handed in. Regulations may make provision to require the “relevant officer” receiving the ballot to reject the document if the person fails to complete the form. The relevant officer is defined, along with other terms, in new paragraph 12ZA(12) as: (i) the Presiding Officer or clerk at the polling station, where the postal vote is handed in at a polling station, or (ii) the Returning Officer or person acting under the authority of the Returning Officer where the postal vote is handed in to the Returning Officer. Regulations may also make provision as to the arrangements to be made in respect of those forms.
- 227 New paragraph 12ZA allows regulations to require the rejection of postal ballots handed in on behalf of more than the maximum number of electors (in addition to the individual’s own postal ballots). The maximum number of other electors will be set out in secondary legislation. The individual handing in the postal voting documents on behalf of another will be able to hand in postal ballots for all the polls in which the elector(s) can vote.
- 228 Under new subparagraph (3) of new paragraph 12ZA, the regulations may set out the procedure to be followed where an individual hands in postal voting documents on behalf of more than the prescribed number of electors. Provision may be made to require a relevant officer to reject postal voting documents handed in by a person who hands in ballots on behalf of more than the prescribed number of electors, or where a relevant officer has reasonable cause to suspect a person is handing in postal ballots on behalf of more than the prescribed number of electors. The maximum applies to all the postal ballots that are handed in together or, if the individual has already handed in postal ballots in relation to that election (or elections held on the same day), to the combined total of postal ballots handed in by that individual. Subparagraph (4) provides an explanation of the meaning of terms used in subparagraph (3).
- 229 New paragraph 12ZA(5) provides that provision may be made to authorise the relevant officer to reject a postal voting document handed in by a person where they have reasonable cause to suspect that the person may be in breach of the offence under new section 112A of the RPA 1983 (offence relating to handling of postal voting documents).

- 230 Under new paragraphs 12ZA(6) and (7), provision may be made in respect of a postal voting document that is rejected, or brought into a polling station or the offices of the Returning Officer so that it may be handed in, but is left behind there without being handed in; for the storage and disposal of those documents; and for the transfer of those documents to the Returning Officer and registration officer.
- 231 New paragraph 12ZA(9) provides for notification that a postal ballot paper has been rejected or left behind. New paragraph 12ZA(10) specifies that the person to be notified is the person whose ballot paper is rejected, or where that person is a proxy, that person and the elector for whom the person voted as proxy.
- 232 Subsection (5) also inserts new paragraph 12ZB into Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983 which allows equivalent provision to new paragraph 12ZA (in relation to UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain) to be made about the handing in of postal votes to the Returning Officer at UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland. Postal votes cannot be returned to the polling station in Northern Ireland.

Section 6: Limit on number of electors for whom a proxy can vote

- 233 Section 6 gives effect to Schedule 4 to the Act. This amends provisions in the RPA 1983, RPA 1985 and Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 to introduce a new limit of four on the total number of electors for whom a person may act as proxy in UK Parliamentary elections or local government elections in England. Within this limit of four, no more than two electors can be electors who are registered otherwise than in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration. All four may be for overseas electors or service voters.

Schedule 4: Proxy Voting: Limits and Transitional Provision

- 234 Schedule 4 amends provisions in the RPA 1983, RPA 1985 and Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000.
- 235 Paragraph 2(2) of the Schedule inserts a new subsection (1A) into section 61 of the RPA 1983 to provide for a new electoral offence at UK Parliamentary elections in the United Kingdom and local government elections in England.
- 236 New subsection (1A) makes it an offence for:
- a person ("P") to apply to appoint a proxy at (a) a particular UK Parliamentary election, or (b) UK Parliamentary elections, knowing that the person to be appointed is already appointed as a proxy for four or more other electors at (respectively) (a) that election or UK Parliamentary elections, or (b) UK Parliamentary elections or a particular UK Parliamentary election, and
 - where P is registered to vote at UK Parliamentary elections otherwise than in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration, and P knows that the person to be appointed for (a) a particular UK Parliamentary election or (b) UK Parliamentary elections, is already appointed as a proxy at (respectively) (a) that election or these elections, or (b) a particular UK Parliamentary election, or UK Parliamentary elections, for two or more other electors who are registered to vote otherwise than in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration.
- 237 New subsection (1A) also makes it an offence for:
- A person ("P") to apply to appoint a proxy at (a) a particular local government election in England, or (b) local government elections in England, knowing that the person to be appointed is already appointed as a proxy for four or more other electors at (respectively) (a) that election or local government elections in England, or (b) local government elections in England or a particular local government election in England, and

- where P is registered to vote at local government elections in England otherwise than in pursuance of a service declaration, and P knows that the person to be appointed is already appointed as a proxy at (a) a particular local government election in England, or (b) local government elections in England for two or more other electors who are registered to vote otherwise than in pursuance of a service declaration at (respectively) (a) that election or local government elections in England, or (b) local government elections in England or a particular local government election in England.

238 Paragraph 2(3) inserts a new subsection (3B) into section 61 to provide that a person is also guilty of an offence if they vote as proxy:

- for more than four electors at a UK Parliamentary election or at Parliamentary elections when those elections are being held in more than one constituency on the same day (for example a general election) or a local government election or elections (if more than one local election is being held on that day) in England;
- for more than two electors at a UK Parliamentary election or at Parliamentary elections when those elections are being held in more than one constituency on the same day (for example a general election), where the person knows that none of those electors is registered to vote at these elections in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration;
- for more than two electors at a local government election or elections (if more than one local election is being held on that day) in England, where that person knows that none of those electors is registered to vote at these elections in pursuance of a service declaration.

239 A person found guilty of an offence under new subsections (1A) or (3B) shall be guilty of an illegal practice and will be liable to an unlimited fine in England and Wales, and a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale in Scotland and Northern Ireland.

240 Paragraph 2(4) amends existing section 61(4) of the RPA 1983 concerning voting as proxy at an election, as a consequence of new subsections (1A) and (3B), to provide that the existing offence of voting as proxy for more than two persons of whom the person is not a close relative continues to apply to a local government election in Wales and Scotland.

241 When a person votes as a proxy voter, they may be asked certain questions by the Presiding Officer in the polling station to ensure that the person is voting in accordance with the requirements on the number of persons for whom they may vote as a proxy. For UK Parliamentary elections, the questions are set out at rule 35 of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. Paragraph 4 removes a number of existing questions and inserts new questions in rule 35 to reflect that, at UK Parliamentary elections in the United Kingdom, the Schedule limits the total number of electors for whom a person may act as a proxy to four, and within the four electors, to no more than two electors who are registered to vote otherwise in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration, regardless of the family relationship to the elector.

- 242 Paragraph 4 also amends Rule 35 of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 by inserting a new question in relation to elections in Northern Ireland so that a person voting as proxy at a parliamentary election may be asked for their date of birth when applying for a ballot paper to enable polling staff to confirm that the proxy is the elector they represent themselves to be.
- 243 Paragraph 5 inserts a new paragraph 5C into Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983, which allows for provision to be made in regulations for checks on proxy eligibility in Northern Ireland and information about a person's registration status to be provided by registration officers in Great Britain. This mirrors existing provision in relation to Great Britain.
- 244 Paragraph 6 amends section 8 of the RPA 1985 which concerns proxies at UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland. New subsection (2A) is inserted to provide that a person may not be a proxy unless they will be registered in a register of parliamentary electors in Great Britain or Northern Ireland. Subsection 3 is also amended to remove the existing nationality requirements for proxies in Northern Ireland.
- 245 Paragraph 6 also amends subsection 5 of section 8 of the RPA 1985. It currently provides that a person may vote as a proxy voter at the same UK Parliamentary election in Northern Ireland in any constituency, on behalf of up to two electors and an unlimited number of specified family members. The amendments amend section 8 to set out the new limit of 4 on the total number of electors for whom a person is entitled to vote as proxy at UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland.
- 246 Paragraph 6 also inserts a new subsection (7A) into section 8 of the RPA 1985. This provides that any requirements prescribed in relation to applications for a proxy under 8(6) (application for an indefinite period) and 8(7) (application for a particular election) of the RPA 1985 must contain the requirement for the date of birth to be included in the application for a proxy vote.
- 247 Paragraph 7 amends paragraph 6 of Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 which provides for a person to be appointed as proxy to vote for another person at elections in Great Britain. Paragraph 6 of Schedule 4 to the RPA 2000 currently provides that a person may vote as a proxy voter at the same UK Parliamentary election in Great Britain in any constituency, or at the same local government election in any electoral area, on behalf of up to two electors and an unlimited number of specified family members. In legislation, a UK Parliamentary election and a local government election are each defined by reference to a particular constituency or area. The amendments set out the new limit of four (no more than two of whom can be registered otherwise than in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration or a service declaration) on the total number of electors for whom a person is entitled to vote as proxy at a UK Parliamentary election or (where these take place in more than one constituency on the same day) UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain or a local government election or (where these take place in more than one electoral area on the same day) local government elections in England.
- 248 Paragraphs 8-11 make provision in relation to existing proxy vote arrangements that are in place at the time that the new limit on the number of persons for whom a person may act as proxy comes into force.
- 249 Paragraph 8 provides that existing proxy appointments at UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain and local government elections in England (in force as a result of an application made before the date on which the offence in paragraph 2(2) of the Schedule relating to the appointment of proxies comes into force) will cease on a day to be specified in regulations by the Secretary of State ("the specified day"). Electors wanting to continue with a proxy vote arrangement will need to reapply for a proxy vote under the new rules that provide that a person may act as proxy for up to four electors only. Registration officers in Great Britain will be required to send a notice to an elector who has appointed a proxy before the specified day informing them of the date on which their proxy vote arrangement will cease to be in force and information about how to make a fresh application to vote by proxy.

250 Paragraph 8 further provides that, in relation to Great Britain, if the specified day is 31 January in a particular year, and the registration officer would be required by the specified day to send a notice to the elector requiring them to provide a fresh signature (under the existing signature refresh provisions), the requirement to send the notice to the elector would not apply unless the elector has other absent voting arrangement that still require the provision of a fresh signature.

251 Paragraphs 8 require that once a proxy appointment ceases to be in force under these provisions, the registration officer (in Great Britain) must as soon as practicable after this remove the entries relating to the appointment from the relevant absent voters' record.

252 Paragraph 9 provides that existing proxy appointments at UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland (in force as a result of an application made before the date on which the relevant provisions ("the relevant provisions") of the Schedule come into force) will cease on a day to be specified ("the specified day") in regulations by the Secretary of State. The relevant provisions are the offence in paragraph 2(2) of the Schedule relating to the appointment of proxies and the requirement in paragraph 6(2) that proxies be registered in a register of parliamentary electors. Electors wanting to continue with a proxy vote arrangement will need to reapply for a proxy vote under the new rules that provide that a person may act as proxy for up to four electors only or the rules requiring that the proxy be registered. The Chief Electoral Officer in Northern Ireland, will be required to send a notice to an elector who has appointed a proxy before the specified day informing them of the date on which their proxy vote arrangement will cease to be in force and information about how to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. Paragraph 9(4) requires that once a proxy appointment ceases to be in force under these provisions, the Chief Electoral Officer must as soon as practicable after this remove the entries relating to the appointment from the relevant absent voters' record. Paragraph 9(5) requires that there can be more than one specified day if paragraphs 2(2) and 6(2) come into force on different days.

253 In relation to UK Parliamentary elections in Great Britain and local government elections in England, paragraph 10 provides that an application for a proxy appointment that is made before, but not determined by, "the specified day" is to be treated as not having been made and the registration officer will be required to send the person information about how to make a fresh application. This paragraph provides that these provisions do not apply where the application is made on or after the date on which the offence in paragraph 2(2) of the Schedule relating to the appointment of proxies comes into force. The effect of the provisions in paragraph 10 is that, if the offence concerning the appointment of proxies is commenced before the specified day, any elector who has been granted a proxy vote before the specified day, on the basis of an application made on or after the date of commencement of the provision containing the offence, would be able to continue with those proxy arrangements, and an elector whose application for a proxy vote is still being processed on the specified day would not need to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. These provisions are designed to enable the transitional arrangements for existing proxy voters to run smoothly.

254 In relation to UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland paragraph 11 provides that an application for a proxy appointment that is made before, but not determined by, "the specified day" is to be treated as not having been made and the Chief Electoral Officer will be required to send the person information about how to make a fresh application. These paragraphs provide that these provisions do not apply where the application is made on or after the date the relevant provisions come into force. The effect of these provisions is that, if the relevant provisions are commenced before the specified day, any elector who has been granted a proxy vote before the specified day, on the basis of an application made on or after the date of commencement of the provision containing the offence, would be able to continue with those proxy arrangements, and an elector whose application for a proxy vote is still being processed on the specified day would not need to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. Paragraph 11(4) provides that there can be more than one specified day if paragraphs 2(2) and 6(2) come into force on different days. These provisions are designed to enable the transitional arrangements for existing proxy voters to run smoothly.

Section 7: Requirement of secrecy

- 255 This section amends the requirement to maintain the secrecy of voting set out in section 66 of the RPA 1983 in order to extend it to postal and proxy voting in a “relevant election”.
- 256 Subsection (2) inserts new subsections (3A) to (3F) into section 66 of the RPA 1983. New subsection (3A) and (3B) mirror existing secrecy provisions for voting in person and extend those to voting by post. Subsection (3A)(c) contains a restriction on obtaining or attempting to obtain information about which candidate the person has voted for. This restriction only applies when the person voting is about to mark, is marking or has just marked their postal ballot paper (subsection (3B)). Subsection (3A)(d) prohibits communicating information obtained in contravention of subsection (3B)(c) at any time to any other person.
- 257 New subsection (3C) provides that an elector who has appointed a proxy to vote by post on their behalf does not contravene subsection (3A) by obtaining from their proxy information relevant for the vote to be cast (except the official mark on a ballot paper) and the proxy does not contravene subsection (3A) by communicating such information to the elector who appointed them.
- 258 New subsections (3D) and (3E) ensure that where a person is attempting to obtain from a postal voter, or communicate, information about which candidate the person has voted for, for the purposes (or the main purposes) of an exit or opinion poll, this is not an offence.
- 259 New subsection (3F) provides that a person voting as proxy for another elector at an election must not communicate at any time to any person, except the elector for whom they are voting as proxy, any information as to the candidate for whom that person is about to vote or has voted (as proxy), or, except for purposes authorised by law, the number or other unique identifying mark on the back of a ballot paper sent or delivered to that person.
- 260 Subsection (3) inserts new subsections (4A) and (4B) into section 66 of the RPA 1983 to mirror the existing secrecy requirement under section 66(5). The existing subsection (5) only applies to a person (companion) assisting a blind voter by voting on their behalf, and the new subsections extend this to companions voting on behalf of voters who are blind, have other disabilities or are unable to read. Subsection (6) of the section amends the Parliamentary elections rules to reflect this extension of the secrecy requirement. Subsection (4) amends section 66(5) of the RPA 1983 so that the existing secrecy requirement continues to apply to local government elections in Scotland and Wales.
- 261 Subsection (5) inserts a new subsection 66(6A) which defines the term “relevant election”, to which the extended secrecy provisions apply. Those elections are UK Parliamentary elections and local government elections in England.
- 262 The existing offence at section 66(6) of the RPA 1983 will apply to a person who acts in contravention of any of the secrecy requirements set out in section 66 of the RPA, including the new requirements. A person found guilty shall be liable on summary conviction to an unlimited fine in England and Wales, and a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale in Scotland and Northern Ireland, or to imprisonment for up to 6 months.

Undue Influence

Section 8: Undue influence

263 Section 115 of the RPA 1983 sets out the corrupt practice of undue influence. Section 8 (1) of this Act inserts new section 114A(1) to (7). Section 114A applies to all reserved and excepted elections instead of section 115. Section 115 RPA 1983 continues to apply in relation to elections in Scotland and Wales under the local government Act.

264 New section 114A makes clear that a person (“P”) will be guilty of undue influence if P carries out an activity listed in new section 114A(4) for a specific purpose. This purpose is either to induce or compel a person to vote in a particular way (e.g., for or against a particular candidate, political party or referendum question) or not to vote at all (new section 114A(2)(a)), or to impede more generally the free exercise of the franchise of a person (new section 114A(2)(b)).

265 The phrase “for the purpose of” in new section 114A(2) shows that, as is currently the case, the intent of the person “P” carrying out the activity is key: it is enough to establish an intent to unduly influence a person, even if the activity was not actually successful in this regard.

266 New section 114A(3) sets out that P will also be guilty of undue influence if P carries out an activity listed in new section 114A(4) because a person has voted in a particular way or not voted at all, or because P assumes that the person has done so. As is currently the case, undue influence is not limited to activities which occur before a person casts their vote; undue influence can also be exerted after a person casts their vote. Such activities may seek to influence future voting decisions by the same individual or, indirectly, influence the vote of others who have yet to make their voting decision.

267 New section 114A(4) lists the seven categories of activity which may constitute undue influence. All activities are carried out in relation to “a person”. Activity may in some circumstances constitute undue influence if carried out in relation to a person other than the person against whom undue influence is exerted (for example, an activity carried out against a family member of a person for the purpose of inducing that person to vote in a particular way).

268 The seven categories of activity are:

- a. Using (or threatening to use) physical violence including, but not limited to, physical restraint or abduction;
- b. Damaging or destroying (or threatening to damage or destroy) property;
- c. Damaging (or threatening to damage) a person’s reputation by, for example, disseminating information about a person;
- d. Causing (or threatening to cause) financial or economic loss by, for example, boycotting business premises owned or operated by a person;
- e. Causing spiritual injury to or placing undue spiritual pressure on a person.
- f. Doing any other act designed to intimidate a person.
- g. Deceiving a person in relation to the conduct or administration of an electoral event. This could be (for example): deception about the date of an electoral event or location of a polling station; deception as to the requirements and qualifications for voting; deception as to the mechanics of voting, such as the significance of placing a cross on a ballot.

269 New section 114A(4)(e) relates to causing spiritual injury or placing undue spiritual pressure on a person. This is often, but not always, inflicted or exerted by those in a position of spiritual or religious authority. “Spiritual injury” includes (for example) the act of excluding a person from the membership of an organised belief system or banning them from attending a place of worship. “Undue spiritual pressure” includes (for example) threatening to cause spiritual injury to a person, as well as the suggestion that to vote or not vote for a particular candidate or party:

- a. is a duty or obligation arising from the spiritual or religious beliefs that a person holds or purports to hold;
- b. improves or reduces a person’s spiritual standing or wellbeing;
- c. has specific spiritual consequences, either positive (e.g., going to “heaven” or similar) or negative (e.g., damnation);
- d. has other consequences of a spiritual nature, such as exclusion from the membership of an organised belief system.

270 However, there is a degree of spiritual influence inherent in all positions of religious or spiritual authority. It is only when this spiritual influence becomes a form of improper or inappropriate pressure that it amounts to “undue” spiritual influence. Therefore “undue spiritual pressure” does not include legitimate aspects of the enjoyment of the freedoms of thought, belief or expression, for example, a religious leader expressing their opinion on political or other matters that have implications for the principles of that religion, or the behaviour of religious groups for whom not voting is an established doctrinal position.

271 New section 114A(4)(f) relates to all other acts which are designed to intimidate a person which are not covered by the first five categories. This covers other activities which amount to what would generally be considered to be intimidation but which do not neatly fit within one of the other specified categories of activities. New section 114A(4)(f) does not seek to exhaustively define the meaning of “intimidation”; it is ultimately for a court to be satisfied objectively whether or not a specific activity amounts to intimidation.

272 New section 114A(5) provides that a person can carry out undue influence directly, jointly with other persons or indirectly via other persons acting on the person’s behalf (with that person’s authorisation or consent).

273 New section 114A(6) provides that the activities which are set out in new section 114A(4)(f) and (g) can be carried out by act or omission.

274 New section 114A(7) provides that section 114A does not apply to an election in Scotland or Wales under the local government Act.

275 Section 8(2) amends section 115 of the RPA 1983, such that section 115 continues to apply to elections in Scotland or Wales under the local government Act.

Schedule 5: Undue influence: Further Provision

276 Schedule 5 contains a number of amendments. The effect of existing legislation (as amended by this Schedule) is that any incapacity arising from a person being reported by an election court as personally guilty of or arising from a person being convicted of, the modernised corrupt practice of undue influence as provided by new section 114A RPA 1983 (as inserted by section 8 of this Act), makes that person incapable of being elected to any of the following elective offices:

- a. Member of the House of Commons;
- b. Member of the Northern Ireland Assembly;

- c. Member of a local authority in England or Northern Ireland;
- d. Elected mayor of a local authority in England;
- e. Mayor for a combined authority in England;
- f. Mayor of London;
- g. Member of the London Assembly;
- h. Police and crime commissioner.

277 Paragraphs 1 and 2 amend the Local Government Act 1972. The effect of these amendments is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding the office of a member of a local authority in England where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in:

- a. section 114A RPA 1983 as applied by Schedule 1 to the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 in relation to an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly;
- b. paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of a district council election in Northern Ireland.

278 Paragraph 3 amends the Local Government Act (Northern Ireland) 1972. The effect of this amendment is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding the office of a member of a district council in Northern Ireland where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in:

- a. section 114A RPA 1983, and also that section as applied by Schedule 1 to the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 in relation to an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly;
- b. article 69 of the Police and Crime Commissioner Elections Order 2012 in relation to a police and crime commissioner election;
- c. regulation 136 of the Recall of MPs Act 2015 (Recall Petition) Regulations 2016 in relation to a recall petition;

279 Paragraph 4 amends the RPA 1983. The effect of these amendments is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding a seat in the House of Commons where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of a district council election in Northern Ireland.

280 Paragraph 5 amends the Greater London Authority Act 1999. The effect of this amendment is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding the office of a member of the London Assembly or the Mayor of London where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in:

- a. section 114A RPA 1983 as applied by Schedule 1 to the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 in relation to an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly;
- b. paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of a district council election in Northern Ireland.

281 Paragraph 6 amends the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009. The effect of this amendment is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding the office of a mayor of a combined authority in England where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in:

- a. section 114A RPA 1983 as applied by Schedule 1 to the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 in relation to an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly;
- b. paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of a district council election in Northern Ireland.

282 Paragraph 7 amends the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011. The effect of this amendment is that a person is disqualified from being elected to or holding the office of a police and crime commissioner in England and Wales where that person has been reported by an election court as personally guilty of, or is convicted of, the corrupt practice of undue influence set out in:

- a. section 114A RPA 1983 as applied by Schedule 1 to the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 in relation to an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly;
- b. paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of a district council election in Northern Ireland.

Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities

Section 9: Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities

283 This section amends some of the provisions of the Parliamentary Elections Rules in relation to assistance with voting provided to persons with disabilities.

284 Subsection (2) amends rule 29 of Schedule 1 to the RPA 83, substituting the requirement for Returning Officers in England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland to provide each polling station with a device for voters with sight loss with a broader requirement to provide such equipment as it is reasonable to provide for the purposes of enabling, or making it easier for, voters with disabilities - including those who have sight loss - to vote independently in the manner directed by rule 37 of the Schedule, which includes the procedure to mark the ballot paper secretly. "Secretly" here refers to which candidate(s) or options(s) an individual has voted for, and not the fact that they have voted. Subsection (2) also introduces a requirement for the Electoral Commission to give guidance to support Returning Officers in carrying out the new, broader requirement to provide assistive equipment, and places a duty on Returning Officers to have regard to that guidance. Because of the definition of disability in section 202 of the RPA 1983, the provisions in this section also include a person who has a short term inability to vote in the manner directed by rule 37.

285 The requirements under this provision do not affect any other statutory duty imposed on a Returning Officer under the Equality Act 2010, or the Disability Discrimination Act 1995.

286 Subsection (3) amends rule 39 (voting by persons with disabilities) of Schedule 1 by changing the qualifying requirement for a person to assist a voter with a disability as their 'companion' at the polling station. . As a result of this change, a companion is no longer required to be someone either entitled to vote in the election or a close family member of the voter who has attained the age of 18, but can be anyone aged 18 or over.

287 Subsection (4) amends the form of declaration to be made by the companion of a voter with disabilities, which is contained in the Appendix of Forms of Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983, to reflect the updated qualifying requirements.

288 Subsection (5) amends PPERA to introduce a requirement for the Electoral Commission to report on the steps taken by Returning Officers to assist voters with disabilities to vote at relevant elections. This includes UK Parliamentary elections, Police and Crime Commissioner elections and Northern Ireland Assembly elections, where the Electoral Commission is required to report, and UK Parliamentary and Police and Crime Commissioner by-elections where the Electoral Commission has discretion over reporting. The requirement for the Electoral Commission to report on certain polls and the discretion to report on others is provided by section 5 of PPERA.

Nomination of candidates at parliamentary elections

Section 10: Candidate nomination paper: commonly used names

289 Section 10 amends rule 6 of the Parliamentary Elections Rules set out in Schedule 1 to RPA 1983 concerning the use of commonly used names by candidates at Parliamentary elections. The commonly used name or names will appear on the ballot paper.

290 Subsection (2) of section 10 substitutes a new paragraph (2A) into rule 6 of the Parliamentary Elections Rules concerning the nomination of candidates. The new paragraph (2A) allows a candidate to use a forename, if commonly used, that is different from any other forename the candidate has, or a commonly used surname that is different from any other surname the candidate has. It also allows a candidate to use one or more commonly used forenames or a surname in a different way from the way in which the candidate's names are stated on the nomination paper, for example, where the commonly used names are in a different order from the candidate's formal full name, include only some of those names, or include additional names. This provides more flexibility than the existing rule.

291 Subsection (3) makes a consequential change to rule 14 of the Parliamentary Elections Rules (publication of statement of persons nominated).

292 Subsection (4) amends the form of nomination paper for Parliamentary elections to update the information provided for candidates about the use of commonly used names in light of the changes made by this section.

Section 11: Home address form: statement of local authority area

293 Section 11 amends rule 6 of the Parliamentary Elections Rules set out in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 concerning the nomination of candidates at Parliamentary elections.

294 Subsection (2) amends rule 6(5)(b) of the Parliamentary Elections Rules to provide that where a candidate does not wish their full home address to be made public and included on the ballot paper, they may choose (through the "home address form") that the local authority area (the "relevant area") within which their address is located will instead appear on the ballot paper. Currently, candidates may provide the name of the constituency within which their address is located instead of their home address, and the new provision gives an additional option as to the information that may be provided by candidates instead of their home address.

295 Subsection (2)(b) inserts a definition of "relevant area" for England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland for the purposes of these provisions.

296 Subsection (3) amends the Form of the Front of the Ballot Paper for Parliamentary elections to give an example of a candidate providing the local authority area in which their home address is located instead of their home address or relevant constituency.

Northern Ireland elections

Section 12: Local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland

297 Section 12 gives effect to Schedule 6 which contains changes relating to local elections in Northern Ireland, and changes for elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly, that correspond with provisions made in Part 1 of the Act for Parliamentary elections.

Schedule 6: Local elections in Northern Ireland and elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly

Part 1 - Local elections in Northern Ireland

298 Schedule 6 amends the legislation for local and assembly elections in Northern Ireland to reflect some of the changes made by Part 1 of the Act to the legislation for UK Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland. Part 1 of the Schedule makes changes for local elections and Part 2 of the Schedule makes changes for assembly elections.

299 Paragraphs 2 to 5 of Part 1 amend the ELA (NI) 1962 in relation to the new offence of handling postal voting documents by political campaigners. Paragraph 2 amends the ELA (NI) 1962 and applies the existing incapacities for a person reported by an election court as guilty of a corrupt or illegal practice in section 96 ELA NI 1962 to those reported as guilty of the corrupt practice of the new offence of handling postal voting documents by political campaigners (see paragraph 265 below).

300 Paragraph 3 applies the existing provisions for the prosecution of corrupt practices (set out in section 108 of the ELA (NI) 1962) to those convicted of the new offence. Under these provisions, on indictment, the person would be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or a fine, or both. On summary conviction, the person would be liable to imprisonment for a maximum of six months, or to a fine, or to both.

301 Paragraph 4 applies the existing provisions in relation to incapacities (set out in section 112 of the ELA (NI) 1962) to persons convicted of the offence.

302 Paragraph 5 extends to the corrupt practice of handling postal votes by a political campaigner existing provision (set out in section 114 ELA (NI) 1962) that states that candidates shall not be liable nor his election avoided for corrupt practices committed by an agent unless the candidate has authorised or consented to the committing of the corrupt practice.

303 Paragraphs 7 to 22 of Schedule 6 amend Schedule 5 to the ELA (NI) 1962 (Local Election Rules).

304 Paragraph 7 substitutes a new paragraph (2A) into rule 5 of Schedule 5 concerning the nomination of candidates. The replaced paragraph (2A) allows a candidate to use a forename, if commonly used, that is different from any other forename the candidate has, or a commonly used surname that is different from any other surname the candidate has. It also allows a candidate to use one or more commonly used forenames or a surname in a different way from the way in which the candidate's names are stated on the nomination paper, for example, where the commonly used names are in a different order from the candidate's formal full name, include only some of those names, or include additional names. This provides more flexibility than the existing rule.

305 Paragraph 8 makes a consequential change to rule 12 of Schedule 5 (publication of statement of persons nominated).

- 306 Paragraph 9 inserts new rule 16B (date of births lists) into Schedule 5 to the ELA (NI) 1962. Under new rule 16B(1) the Chief Electoral Officer must provide to each polling station a list containing the date of birth supplied at registration for all electors allotted to vote at that polling station. The Chief Electoral Officer must also provide a list containing the dates of birth supplied at registration of all proxies voting on behalf of electors allotted to that polling station. Under Rule 16B(2) where the proxy is or will be on a register of local government electors in Great Britain the list should contain the date of birth of the proxy provided on the application for a proxy vote. Where the proxy is registered in both Northern Ireland and Great Britain, the list should contain the date of birth provided when they registered to vote in Northern Ireland. Rule 16B(3) provides that these lists should contain sufficient information to allow the staff at a polling station to carry out the checks when required.
- 307 Rule 16B(4) and (5) prohibit the Returning Officer, any person to whom the Returning Officer has delegated functions, the presiding officer, clerk or other officer appointed to work at the polling station from allowing date of birth lists to be inspected, supplying the lists to another person or making use of the information contained within the lists otherwise than in accordance with the rules including any regulations made under the rules.
- 308 Paragraph 10 amends rule 22 (provision of polling stations) of Schedule 5 to provide that every polling station must have an area for an elector to have their identification viewed in private.
- 309 Paragraph 11 amends rule 23 (appointment of presiding officers and clerks). Rule 23(3) enables clerks to act for the Presiding Officer, but paragraph 11 amends this to ensure that is not the case for refusing to issue a ballot paper in line with the procedures set out in rule 32(3) (failure to answer a statutory question satisfactorily).
- 310 Paragraph 12 amends rule 26 (equipment of polling stations). Paragraph 12(2) inserts a new sub-paragraph (3)(f) which requires the Returning Officer to provide each polling station with the date of birth lists prepared under Rule 16B (inserted by paragraph 9).
- 311 Paragraph 12(3) to (5) also amends rule 26 by replacing the requirement for Returning Officers to provide each polling station with a device for voters with sight loss with a broader requirement for the Returning Officer to provide each polling station with such equipment as is reasonable to enable, or make it easier, for voters with sight loss, and other disabilities, to vote independently in the manner directed by rule 34 of Schedule 5, which includes the procedure to mark the ballot paper secretly. "Secretly" here refers to which candidate(s) or options(s) an individual has voted for, and not the fact that they have voted. Paragraph 12(3) to (5) also introduces a requirement for the Electoral Commission to give guidance to support Returning Officers in carrying out the new, broader requirement to provide assistive equipment. It also places a duty on Returning Officers to have regard to that guidance. Because of the definition of disability in rule 35, the provisions also include a person who has a short-term inability to vote in the manner directed by rule 34.
- 312 The requirements under this provision in rule 26, do not affect any other statutory requirement or duty imposed on the Chief Electoral Officer under section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 or the Disability Discrimination Act 1995.
- 313 Paragraph 13 amends rule 32. When a person votes as a proxy voter, they may be asked certain questions by the Presiding Officer in the polling station. For local elections in Northern Ireland, the questions are set out at rule 32. Paragraph 13(2) amends the question 'what is your date of birth' so that it can be asked of a person voting as proxy, to ensure that the proxy is the elector they represent themselves to be.

- 314 Some of the questions that may be asked of a proxy voter are to ensure that the person is voting in accordance with the requirements on the number of persons for whom they may vote as a proxy. Paragraph 13(3) also removes a number of existing questions and inserts new questions in rule 32(2) to reflect that, at local elections in Northern Ireland, the Schedule limits the total number of electors for whom a person may act as a proxy to four, and within the four electors, to no more than two electors who are registered to vote otherwise in pursuance of a service declaration, regardless of the family relationship to the elector.
- 315 Paragraph 13(4) inserts new paragraph (2A) into rule 32 to provide that if the clerk asks any of the questions in paragraph 1 and 2 of rule 32 and they are not answered satisfactorily then they must refer the matter to a Presiding Officer.
- 316 Paragraph 13(5) amends rule 32(3) to provide that a Presiding Officer must refuse to deliver a ballot paper to a person if they fail to answer the statutory questions satisfactorily.
- 317 Paragraph 13(6) inserts new paragraph (6), which requires that a voter must be informed, before being asked one of the questions, that giving false information may be an offence and that a ballot paper will be refused if the person fails to answer each question satisfactorily.
- 318 Paragraph 14 amends rule 34 (voting procedure). Paragraph 14(3) inserts a new paragraph (2A) into rule 34 which provides that at the voter's request, the polling station staff must arrange for the voter to have their identification viewed in private. The polling station staff must ensure that no other person can see the voter's identification, except for any person permitted by the voter.
- 319 Paragraph 14(4) amends paragraph (3) in rule 34 such that a Presiding Officer must deliver a ballot paper to an elector unless:
- a. they believe that the voter's age could not plausibly match that which is provided on their identification (this is already a requirement),
 - b. they believe that the voter's age does not plausibly match the date of birth supplied under a relevant provision ("relevant provision" is defined in new paragraph (5C) of rule 34, which is inserted by paragraph 14(7) (see below)). In the case of an elector or proxy registered to vote in Northern Ireland, this is the date of birth supplied when the voter registered to vote. In the case of proxies registered to vote in Great Britain, this is the date of birth supplied when the person was appointed as a proxy. (This is already a requirement for electors but is a new requirement for proxies)
 - c. they have a reasonable suspicion that the identification is forged (this is a new requirement).
- 320 Paragraph 12(5) specifically adds the language of "reasonable suspicion" of a forged document to paragraph (4) of rule 34, allowing the Presiding Officer to refuse to give an elector a ballot paper in those circumstances. Paragraph 14(6) makes a similar change to paragraph (5) of rule 34, so that a polling clerk can refuse to issue a ballot paper to an elector where the clerk has a reasonable suspicion that their identification document is forged (as well as on existing grounds), in which case they must refer the matter to the Presiding Officer.
- 321 Paragraph 14(7) inserts a new paragraph (5A) which ensures that electors in Northern Ireland who have changed their name on their form of identification but not on the electoral register may provide additional proof of their identification to resolve this discrepancy, and will then still be able to obtain a ballot paper as long as the Presiding Officer has no other reason to doubt that the elector is who they claim to be. Paragraph 14(7) also inserts new paragraph (5B). If the Presiding Officer refuses to deliver a ballot paper to a voter because they have reasonable doubt that the voter is who they say they are, the voter can make further applications, and paragraphs (1A) to (5A) apply again.

- 322 Paragraph 14(7) also inserts a new paragraph (5C) which defines the term “relevant provision” for the purposes of rule 34(3).
- 323 Paragraph 14(8)(a) amends rule 34(6) to make clear that the identification documents IDs should be accepted in any format that they are issued in and regardless of any expiry date. Paragraph 14(8)(b)-(e) amends the list of documents at rule 34(6) that can be produced as identification by adding two new documents and adding the updated names of two existing documents.
- 324 Paragraph 14(9) insert paragraphs 6B which defines a forged document as one that is a false document made to resemble a real document and 6C which provides that only the Presiding Officer may inspect an ID document except as permitted by the voter.
- 325 Paragraph 15 updates cross references to rule 34 made by rule 35 to reflect changes made to rule 34.
- 326 Paragraph 16 amends rule 36 (voting by persons with disabilities). Paragraph 16(2) changes the qualifying requirement in paragraph 2 of rule 36 for a person to assist a voter with disabilities in the role of their ‘companion’ at the polling station. As a result, a companion is no longer required to be either entitled to vote in the election as an elector or a close family member of the voter who has attained the age of 18, but can be anyone aged 18 or over.
- 327 Paragraphs 16(3) updates cross references to rule 34 made in rule 36 to reflect changes made to rule 34.
- 328 Paragraph 17 updates cross references to rule 34 made in rule 37 to reflect changes made to rule 34.
- 329 Paragraph 18 updates cross references to rule 34 made in rule 38 to reflect changes to rule 34.
- 330 Paragraph 19 amends rule 41 (sealing and delivery of documents etc) by adding a new subparagraph (db) to paragraph (1). This requires that after the close of poll the Presiding Officer must put the dates of birth lists in a separate, sealed packet and deliver it to the Returning Officer.
- 331 Paragraph 20 amends rule 56A (destruction of home address forms) by expanding the rule to also cover date of birth lists. The amended rule requires the Chief Electoral Officer to, along with the home address forms, destroy the date of birth lists on the next working day following the 21st day after the member has been returned or if an election petition is presented before that time then on the next working day following the conclusion of proceedings or appeal.
- 332 Paragraph 21 amends the form of nomination paper (form 1) which is contained in the Appendix of Forms to reflect changes relating to candidates’ names made by paragraph 7 to rule 5.
- 333 Paragraph 22 amends the form of declaration (to be made by the companion of a voter with disabilities (form 10) which is contained in the Appendix of Forms to reflect the updated qualifying requirements.
- 334 Paragraphs 24 to 27 amend Schedule 9 (electoral misdemeanours) to the ELA (NI) 1962.
- 335 Currently, the corrupt practice of undue influence which is set out in section 115 of the RPA 1983 is duplicated in paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in respect of local government elections in Northern Ireland. Paragraph 24 substitutes a new paragraph 3 of Schedule 9 to that Act to mirror the new section 114A of the RPA 1983 as inserted by section 8 of this Act.

336 Paragraph 25 inserts new paragraph 5ZA into Schedule 9 which mirrors changes made to the RPA 1983 (new section 112A, inserted by section 4 of the Act) which introduces a new criminal offence banning political campaigners from handling postal voting documents issued to others.

337 New paragraph 5ZA(1) provides that those defined in paragraph 5ZA(6) as “political campaigners” commit an offence if they handle postal voting documents in relation to local elections in Northern Ireland. For these purposes, “political campaigners” is defined in sub-paragraph (6) and includes candidates, election agents and party workers.

338 New paragraph 5ZA(2) provides an exemption from the offence for specified persons who may handle postal votes in the normal course of their employment/duties, such as a postal operator.

339 New paragraph 5ZA(3) creates two further exemptions to this offence where the handler is a listed family member or carer of the postal voter.

340 New paragraph 5ZA(4) provides that it is a defence for a person charged with the offence to show that they did not dishonestly handle the postal voting document for the purpose of promoting a particular outcome at an election.

341 New paragraph 5ZA(5) provides that where sufficient evidence has been introduced to raise the defence as an issue, the court must assume that the defence is satisfied unless the prosecution proves beyond reasonable doubt that it is not.

342 New paragraph 5ZA(6) sets out the persons who are deemed to be a political campaigner for the purpose of this section. A political campaigner is a person who is:

- a. a candidate at the election;
- b. an election agent of a candidate at the election;
- c. employed or engaged by a person who is a candidate at the election for the purposes of that person’s activities as a candidate;
- d. a member of a registered political party and carries on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election;
- e. employed or engaged by a registered political party in connection with the party’s political activities;
- f. employed or engaged by a person within any of paragraphs (a) to (e) to carry on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election;
- g. employed or engaged by a person within paragraph (f) to carry on an activity designed to promote a particular outcome at the election.

343 New paragraph 5ZA(7) defines some of the terms used in new paragraph 5ZA. New sub-paragraphs (8) to (10) provide some further interpretation of the terms used.

344 Paragraph 26 amends paragraph 12A of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 by inserting new sub-paragraph (1A) to provide for a new electoral offence at a local election in Northern Ireland.

345 New sub-paragraph (1A) makes it an offence for:

- a person (“P”) to apply to appoint a proxy at (a) a particular local election in Northern Ireland, or (b) local elections in Northern Ireland, knowing that the person to be appointed is already appointed as a proxy for four or more other electors at (respectively) (a) that election or local elections in Northern Ireland, or (b) local elections in Northern Ireland or a particular local election in Northern Ireland, and

- where P is registered to vote at local elections in Northern Ireland otherwise than in pursuance of a service declaration, and P knows that the person to be appointed for (a) a particular local election in Northern Ireland or (b) local elections in Northern Ireland, is already appointed as a proxy at (respectively) (a) that election or these elections, or (b) a particular local election in Northern Ireland, or local elections, for two or more other electors who are registered to vote otherwise than in pursuance of a service declaration.

346 Paragraph 26 also amends sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 12A to provide that a person is also guilty of an offence if they vote as proxy:

- for more than four electors at a local election in Northern Ireland or at local elections in Northern Ireland when (if more than one local election is being held on that day);
- for more than two electors at a local election in Northern Ireland or local elections (if more than one local election is being held on that day) in Northern Ireland, where that person knows that none of those electors is registered to vote at these elections in pursuance of a service declaration.

347 Paragraph 26(4) and (5) amend sub-paragraph (6) and insert new sub-paragraph (6A) into paragraph 12A under which it is an offence to vote more than once. Under sub-paragraph (6), applying for a ballot paper is treated as having voted. The amendment to sub-paragraph (6) and new sub-paragraph (6A) ensure that an elector would not be treated as having committed any offence related to trying to obtain multiple ballots simply because they made permitted further applications for a ballot paper, where the previous application(s) were refused under rule 34 of the local election rules (see above) on the grounds that they did not show an accepted form of identification.

348 A person found guilty of an offence under sub-paragraphs (1A) or (4) shall be guilty of an illegal practice and will be liable to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale in Northern Ireland.

349 Paragraph 27 amends the requirement to maintain the secrecy of voting set out in paragraph 27 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 in order to extend it to postal and proxy voting at a local election in Northern Ireland.

350 Paragraph 27(3) inserts new sub-paragraphs (3A), (3B) and (3C) into paragraph 27 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962. New sub-paragraph (3A) mirrors existing secrecy provisions for voting in person and extends those to voting by post. Sub-paragraph (3A)(c) contains a restriction on obtaining or attempting to obtain information about which candidate the person has voted for. This restriction only applies when the person voting is about to mark, is marking or has just marked their postal ballot paper (sub-paragraph (3B)). Sub-paragraph (3A)(d) prohibits communicating information obtained in contravention of sub-paragraph (3A)(c) at any time to any other person.

351 New sub-paragraph (3C) provides that an elector who has appointed a proxy to vote by post on their behalf does not contravene sub-paragraph (3A) by obtaining from their proxy information relevant for the vote to be cast (except the official mark on a ballot paper) and the proxy does not contravene sub-paragraph (3A) by communicating such information to the elector who appointed them.

- 352 New sub-paragraphs (3D) and (3E) ensure that where a person is attempting to obtain from a postal voter, or communicate, information about which candidate the person has voted for, for the purposes (or the main purposes) of an exit or opinion poll, this is not an offence.
- 353 New sub-paragraph (3F) provides that a person voting as proxy for another elector at an election must not communicate at any time to any person, except the elector for whom they are voting as proxy, any information as to the candidate for whom that person is about to vote or has voted (as proxy), or, except for purposes authorised by law, the number or other unique identifying mark on the back of a ballot paper sent or delivered to that person.
- 354 Paragraph 27(4) inserts new sub-paragraphs (5) and (6) into paragraph 27 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962 to mirror existing secrecy requirements under sub-paragraph (3)(e) of paragraph 27. Paragraph 27(2) omits sub-paragraph (3)(e) of paragraph 27 of Schedule 9 as this only applies to a person (companion) assisting a blind voter by voting on their behalf, and the new sub-paragraphs (5) and (6) extend this to companions voting on behalf of voters who are blind, have other disabilities or are unable to read. Paragraph 12(4) amends the local elections rules to reflect this extension of the secrecy requirement.
- 355 The existing offence at section 111(2A)(d) of the ELA (NI) 1962 will apply to a person who acts in contravention of any of the secrecy requirements set out in paragraph 27 of Schedule 9 to the ELA (NI) 1962, including the new requirements. A person found guilty shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale in Northern Ireland, or to imprisonment for up to 6 months.
- 356 Paragraphs 28 and 29 amend the Local Elections (Northern Ireland) Order 1985.
- 357 Paragraph 28 amends the eligibility requirements for a person to act as proxy in paragraph 3 (proxies at local elections) of Schedule 2 to the Local Elections (NI) Order 1985. Paragraph 28(2) inserts new sub-paragraph (1A) providing that a person is not capable of acting as proxy unless they are or will be registered in the register of local electors in Northern Ireland or Great Britain. Paragraph 28(3) removes the existing nationality requirements for a person to act as proxy in sub-paragraph (2)(b) of
- 358 Paragraph 28(4) substitutes new sub-paragraphs (4), (4A) and (4B) for the existing sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 3. . It currently provides that a person may vote as a proxy voter at the same local election in Northern Ireland in any electoral area, on behalf of up to two electors and an unlimited number of specified family members. The amendment sets out the new limit of 4 on the total number of electors for whom a person is entitled to vote as proxy at a local election or local elections in Northern Ireland (no more than two of whom can be registered otherwise than in pursuance of a service declaration).
- 359 Paragraph 29 amends paragraph 9(1) of Part 1 of Schedule 2 to the Local Elections (NI) Order 1985 to provide that applications for a proxy vote must contain the date of birth of the proxy.
- 360 Paragraph 30 makes amendments to the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989. Part 2 of Schedule 1 to that Act applies and modifies certain parts of the RPA 1983 in relation to local elections in Northern Ireland. Schedule 2 to the Elections Act amends section 53 of, and Schedule 2 (which concerns provisions which may be contained in regulations as to registration etc) to, the RPA 1983 by making or amending provisions in relation to applications for absent votes and applications for electoral identity cards and similar documents. These amendments are not required to be applied separately to local elections in Northern Ireland and so paragraph 30 disapplies these provisions from Part 2 of Schedule 1 to the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989 accordingly.

- 361 Paragraph 31 amends the Elections Act 2001. Schedule 1 to the Elections Act 2001 applies with modifications to the Parliamentary elections rules where a local election in Northern Ireland is combined with a parliamentary election in Northern Ireland. Paragraph 31 ensures that the new questions relating to proxy limits are asked at local elections combined with parliamentary elections and that the right election is referred to.
- 362 Paragraphs 32 and 33 make provision in relation to existing proxy vote arrangements that are in place at the time that the new limit introduced by the Act in paragraph 26 of Schedule 6 on the number of persons for whom a person may act as proxy and the requirement in paragraph 28(2) that proxies be registered in a register of local registers comes into force
- 363 Paragraph 32 provides that existing proxy appointments at local elections in force as a result of an application made before the date on which the relevant provisions (“the relevant provisions”) of the Schedule come into force, will cease on a day to be specified (“the specified day”) in regulations by the Secretary of State. The relevant provisions are the offence in paragraph 26 of the Schedule relating to the appointment of proxies and the requirement in paragraph 28(2) that proxies be registered in a register of local registers. Electors wanting to continue with a proxy vote arrangement will need to reapply for a proxy vote under the new rules that provide that a person may act as proxy for up to four electors only or the rules requiring that the proxy be registered. The Chief Electoral Officer in Northern Ireland, will be required to send a notice to an elector who has appointed a proxy before the specified day informing them of the date on which their proxy vote arrangement will cease to be in force and information about how to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. Paragraph 32(4) requires that once a proxy appointment ceases to be in force under these provisions, the Chief Electoral Officer must as soon as practicable after this remove the entries relating to the appointment from the relevant absent voters’ record. Paragraph 32(5) requires that there can be more than one specified day if paragraphs 26 and 28(2) come into force on different days.
- 364 Paragraph 33 provides that an application for a proxy appointment that is made before, but not determined by, “the specified day” is to be treated as not having been made and the registration officer will be required to send the person information about how to make a fresh application. The paragraphs provide that these provisions do not apply where the application is made on or after the date on which the relevant provisions come into force. The effect of these provisions is that, if the relevant provisions are commenced before the specified day, any elector who has been granted a proxy vote before the specified day, on the basis of an application made on or after the date of commencement of the provision containing the offence, would be able to continue with those proxy arrangements, and an elector whose application for a proxy vote is still being processed on the specified day would not need to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. Paragraph 33(5) provides that there can be more than one specified day if paragraphs 26 and 28(2) come into force on different days. These provisions are designed to enable the transitional arrangements for existing proxy voters to run smoothly.

Part 2 - Elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly

- 365 Part 2 of Schedule 6 makes changes for elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly. Paragraphs 35 to 46 amend the Northern Ireland Assembly (Elections) Order 2001 (‘the 2001 Order’)
- 366 The 2001 Order applies, with modifications, provisions of the RPA 1983 to Assembly elections in Northern Ireland. Therefore, most of the changes made in the Act for Parliamentary elections in Northern Ireland will automatically apply for the purpose of Assembly elections in Northern Ireland. Paragraphs 35 to 46 modify some of the changes made by the Act for Parliamentary elections for the purpose of Northern Ireland Assembly elections or ensure that any new sections inserted into the RPA 83 Act are applied to the Assembly Order.

- 367 Paragraph 36 modifies new section 61(1A) RPA 1983 (offences relating to the limit on proxies) as it applies to the 2001 Order by removing the references to the person acting as proxy already being appointed to vote for two or more electors at Parliamentary elections. This is because there is no indefinite absent vote list for Assembly elections, instead the indefinite absent vote list for local elections applies to Assembly elections. A person can only apply for a proxy at assembly elections for a particular election.
- 368 Paragraph 37 modifies subsection (8) of new section 112A (handling of postal voting documents by political campaigners) as it applies to the 2001 Order. Subsection (8) defines the terms postal voting documents and refers to a postal voting statement. This term is not relevant in Northern Ireland where it is instead known as the declaration of identity. Therefore, the reference to a postal voting statement in section 112A(8) is omitted as it applies to Assembly elections.
- 369 Paragraph 38 amends the 2001 Order by modifying the table for the entry relating to section 115 of the RPA 1983. The effect of this amendment is that new section 114A RPA 1983 instead applies in respect of elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly.
- 370 Paragraphs 39 to 44 modify entries in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983 (Parliamentary elections rules) as they apply to Assembly elections in the 2001 Order.
- 371 Paragraph 39 amends the 2001 Order by modifying the entry for new rule 19B (preparation of date of birth lists.) The modification substitutes the wording “register of parliamentary electors in Great Britain” and replaces it with “register of local government electors in Great Britain” in (2)(b) of rule 19B. This is to ensure that the correct information is included in the lists as proxy voters must be registered as local electors to vote at Assembly elections
- 372 Paragraph 41 amends rule 31 (notification of requirement of secrecy) by omitting the current modification ‘in paragraph a for “blind voter” substitute voter with disabilities.’ This modification is no longer needed as the amendments made in the Act to rule 31 of the Parliamentary Election Rules in section 7(6) of the Act will automatically apply to Assembly elections. section 7(6) substitutes relevant voter for ‘blind voter’ and defines relevant voter as a voter who is blind or has another disability or is unable to read. This modification is no longer needed as the amendments made in the Act to rule 31 of the Parliamentary Election Rules in section 7(6) of the Act will automatically apply to Assembly elections. Section 7(6) substitutes relevant voter for ‘blind voter’ and defines relevant voter as a voter who is blind or has another disability or is unable to read.
- 373 Paragraph 42 modifies paragraph (1DC) of rule 37 (voting procedure) as it applies to Assembly elections. Rule 37(1DC)(a) and (b) provides a definition of the relevant provision referred to in Rule 37(1B). Rule 37(1B) places a duty on polling station staff to check the date of birth of a voter in specific cases against that given either at registration if the voter is registered in Northern Ireland (sub-paragraph (a)) or against the application for a proxy vote where the voter is registered in a register of parliamentary electors in Great Britain and they do not also fall within sub-paragraph (a). (sub-paragraph (b)). Paragraph 38 modifies the applied version of sub-paragraph (b) so that it instead refers to voters registered in a register of local government electors in Great Britain and dates of birth provided in a proxy voting application under Northern Ireland local election legislation or parliamentary legislation as it applies to Assembly elections. This ensures polling staff can check the correct information as voters must be registered as a local elector in order to vote at Assembly elections and proxies for a particular assembly election are appointed under different provisions to those appointed for an indefinite period.

- 374 Paragraph 43 modifies rule 38 (votes marked by the Presiding Officer) as it applies to Assembly elections. Paragraph 43 modifies Rule 38 so that references to marking the ballot paper are changed from marking the vote to reflect the single transferable vote system in Northern Ireland.
- 375 Paragraph 44 inserts a new entry Rule 53B (destruction of date of birth lists) into the 2001 order. This applies Rule 53B of the parliamentary election rules to Assembly elections, which requires the Chief Electoral Officer to destroy the date of birth lists on the next working day following the 21st day after the member has been returned or if an election petition is presented before that time then on the next working day following the conclusion of proceedings or appeal.
- 376 Paragraph 45 modifies section 8(2A) of the RPA 1985 as applied to Assembly elections to provide that a person on the register in Great Britain acting as a proxy for an elector at an Assembly election in Northern Ireland would need to be on the local register in Great Britain in order to be eligible to be proxy at a Northern Ireland Assembly election.
- 377 Paragraph 46 amends in the Annex the form of declaration to be made by the companion of a voter with disabilities to reflect the updated qualifying requirements to be a companion which is that they must be aged 18 or over. They do not need to be a close family member.
- 378 Paragraphs 47 and 48 make provision about existing proxy arrangements which are already in place. Paragraph 47 provides that existing proxy appointments at Assembly elections (in force as a result of an application made before the date on which paragraphs 2 and 6(2) of Schedule 4 ("the relevant provisions") come into force) will cease on a day to be specified ("the specified day") in regulations by the Secretary of State. Electors wanting to continue with a proxy vote arrangement will need to reapply for a proxy vote under the new rules that provide that a person may act as proxy for up to four electors only. The Chief Electoral Officer in Northern Ireland, will be required to send a notice to an elector who has appointed a proxy before the specified day informing them of the date on which their proxy vote arrangement will cease to be in force and information about how to make a fresh application to vote, by proxy.
- 379 Paragraph 47(4) requires that once a proxy appointment ceases to be in force under these provisions, the Chief Electoral Officer must as soon as practicable after this remove the entries relating to the appointment from the relevant absent voters' record. Paragraph 47(5) provides that there can be more than one specified day if the relevant provisions come into force on different days.
- 380 Paragraph 48 provides that an application for a proxy appointment that is made before, but not determined by, "the specified day" is to be treated as not having been made and the registration officer will be required to send the person information about how to make a fresh application. The paragraphs provide that these provisions do not apply where the application is made on or after the date on which the relevant provisions come into force. The effect of this provisions is that, if the offence concerning the appointment of proxies is commenced before the specified day, any elector who has been granted a proxy vote before the specified day, on the basis of an application made on or after the date of commencement of the relevant provisions, would be able to continue with those proxy arrangements, and an elector whose application for a proxy vote is still being processed on the specified day would not need to make a fresh application to vote by proxy. These provisions are designed to enable the transitional arrangements for existing proxy voters to run smoothly. Paragraph 47(5) provides that there can be more than one specified day if the relevant provisions come into force on different days.

Section 13 - Simple majority system to be used in elections for certain offices

- 381 Section 13 amends the existing primary legislation providing for the election of Police and Crime Commissioners (PCCs) in England and Wales, and the Mayor of London, combined authority mayors and local authority mayors in England, to change the voting system from the Supplementary Vote (SV) system to the Simple Majority system, also known as “First Past the Post”.
- 382 Subsections (1) to (6) relate to elections for the Mayor of London. Section 4 of the Greater London Authority Act 1999 is amended to remove provision for the SV system to apply where there are three or more candidates (Simple Majority voting already applies where there are only two candidates); section 16 is amended to change the voting system to be used at by-elections for the Mayor of London and the definition of “mayoral vote”, which is now redundant, is removed from section 29. Schedule 2, which sets out the details of the SV and counting system, is repealed. The Representation of the People Act 1983 is amended at section 165 to remove subsection (4) which clarifies that a vote deemed to be thrown away in connection with provision for the avoidance of election for employing a corrupt agent applies only to the affected first preference or second preference vote i.e., the elector’s other vote is not deemed to be thrown away.
- 383 Subsections (7) to (11) relate to elections for local authority mayors. Section 9HC of the Local Government Act 2000 is amended to replace provision for the SV system with provision for Simple Majority voting; references to first preference and second preference votes are removed from section 9HD (entitlement to vote) and from the list of definitions at section 9R. The application of Schedule 2, which sets out the vote counting process under the SV system for elections with three or more candidates for local authority mayor, is amended so that it only applies in Wales.
- 384 Subsections (12) to (15) relate to elections for combined authority mayors. Schedule 5B to the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 is amended at paragraph 4 to replace provision for the SV system with provision for Simple Majority voting. Paragraph 5, which applies the SV system to elections where there are three or more candidates, is repealed, and references to first preference and second preference votes in the context of entitlement to vote are removed from paragraph 6.
- 385 Subsections (16) to (18) relate to elections for Police and Crime Commissioners. Section 57 of the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011 is amended to replace provision for the SV system with provision for Simple Majority voting; the application of Schedule 9 which sets out the vote counting process under the SV system for elections with three or more candidates for a Police and Crime Commissioner is repealed. Schedule 9 itself is also repealed.

Part 2: Overseas Electors and EU Citizens

Overseas Electors

Section 14: Extension of franchise for parliamentary elections: British citizens overseas

- 386 Section 14(1) inserts new sections into the RPA 1985, replacing existing sections 1 and 2 with new sections 1, 1A, 1B, 1C, 1D and 1E. Section 14(2) gives effect to Schedule 7, which contains minor and consequential amendments and transitional provisions related to the section.
- 387 New section 1 replaces the existing provision in section 1(1) of the RPA 1985 that extended the franchise for UK Parliamentary elections to include overseas electors.

388 New section 1(1) sets out the eligibility to vote as an overseas elector, namely that the person must meet the requirements of new section 1A (qualifying as an overseas elector in respect of a constituency), must on the date of the poll be registered in a register of parliamentary electors and must on both the declaration date and the date of the poll be both a British citizen and not be otherwise ineligible to vote (by, for example, being disqualified to vote having been found guilty of certain elections offences).

389 New section 1(2) defines the use of “the declaration date”, as the date on which an overseas elector’s declaration (under new section 1C) or renewal declaration (under new section 1E) is made.

390 New section 1A(1) replaces existing section 1(2), (3) and (4) of the RPA 1985. It states that in order to qualify as an overseas elector in respect of a constituency on the date that an overseas elector’s declaration is made the individual must not reside in the United Kingdom.

391 In addition, new section 1A(1) also provides that, in order to qualify as an overseas elector in a particular constituency an individual must satisfy either one of two conditions that are outlined in new subsections (2) (the ‘previous registration condition’) and (3) (the ‘previous residence condition’). An individual:

- a. satisfies the previous registration condition if they were registered to vote in an electoral register in the UK at some point in the past in respect of an address at a place in the constituency, and if they have not been registered in any electoral register since that register entry ceased to have effect; or
- b. satisfies the previous residence condition if they have never been registered on an electoral register but have previously been resident in the UK, and on the last day that they were resident in the UK they were resident at an address at a place in the constituency (this includes those individuals who were not resident at such an address on that last day but who would be entitled to make a ‘declaration of local connection’ as provided for by section 7B of the RPA 1983) in respect of such an address.

392 An address for the purposes of the previous registration condition and previous residence condition may include an address that no longer exists (for example, if it has subsequently been demolished).

393 New section 1A(4) provides that, for the purpose of the previous residence condition, an individual is considered to have been entitled to make a declaration of local connection on the last day they were resident in the UK, even if section 7B of the RPA 1983 was not in force on that date.

394 New section 1A(5) defines “declaration date” and “electoral register” for the purposes of new section 1A.

395 New section 1B(1) to 1B(4) replaces existing section 2(1) of the RPA 1985. It provides that a person is eligible to be registered in pursuance of an overseas elector’s declaration if they have made a valid declaration under section 1C (overseas elector’s declaration) and that conditions in subsections (2) and (3) are met.

396 The conditions, in new subsections (2) and (3) respectively, are that:

- a. the address at which the applicant is seeking to register (either as their previous registration address or their previous residence address) under their declaration is situated within the area for which the registration officer in question is responsible,

- b. the registration officer is satisfied that the person qualifies to be an overseas elector (in accordance with new section 1A) in respect of that constituency on the date the person makes a valid declaration.
- 397 New section 1B(4) provides registration officers with the ability to disregard the requirement in new section 1A(3)(c) (that an applicant registering as ‘previously resident’ has never been included on an electoral register) if the registration officer considers there is insufficient evidence to confirm whether or not an applicant has been registered at any time, for example if they no longer hold a copy of a relevant electoral register.
- 398 New section 1B(5) provides that declarations must be received by the registration officer within three months of the declaration’s date, otherwise the declaration will be of no effect. This replicates section 2(6) of the RPA 1985.
- 399 New section 1B(6) provides that for the purposes of section 1A there is to be a conclusive presumption that a person registered pursuant to an overseas elector’s declaration was not resident in the UK on the day they made the declaration. This is to allow the registration officer to remove any existing domestic registration and replace it once an overseas elector’s application has been successful. This replicates section 2(7) of the RPA 1985.
- 400 New section 1B(7) directs to relevant provisions of the RPA 1983 which relate to the making of applications for electoral registration
- 401 New section 1C replaces existing section 2(3), (3A) and (4) of the RPA 1985. It sets out the detailed requirements for an overseas elector’s declaration. New section 1C(1) sets out the core requirements that all overseas electors’ declarations must contain; New section 1C(2) sets out the specific additional information needed when applying under the previous registration condition; and new section 1C(3) does likewise for the previous residence condition where the declarant was previously resident at an address in a place within the constituency.
- 402 New section 1C(4) provides the specific additional information required where a declarant applies on the basis of the previous residence condition where the declarant would, on the last day they were resident in the UK, have been entitled to make a ‘declaration of local connection’.
- 403 New section 1C(5) only applies in relation to declarations that specify an address in Northern Ireland. It makes provision that enables a British citizen who was born in Northern Ireland to declare on their declaration that they are an Irish citizen in addition to, or instead of, declaring they are a British citizen. This reflects the terms of the Good Friday Agreement. This provision is currently contained in section 2(3A) of the RPA 1985.
- 404 New section 1C(6) provides that a declaration is void if it contains more than one registration address. Where a declarant makes two or more declarations with the same date but different addresses, each of those declarations are void. This is a replication of the wording in section 2(4) of the RPA 1985. This provision combined with new section 1D(4)(d) prevents a person from making more than one valid declaration at any one time.
- 405 New section 1C(7) provides for the declarant to be able to cancel their declaration at any time should they so wish. This replicates section 2(5) of the RPA 1985.
- 406 New section 1C(8) defines “electoral register” and “registered” for the purpose of section 1C.
- 407 New section 1C(9) deems persons found abandoned in Northern Ireland as a new-born infant as having been born in Northern Ireland unless the contrary is shown, for the purposes of section 1C(5). This is a replication of section 2(10) of the RPA 1985.
- 408 New section 1D makes provision in relation to the period a person is entitled to remain registered as an overseas elector.

- 409 New section 1D(1) replaces section 2(2) of the RPA 1985. Under subsection (1)(a) once an overseas elector has registered successfully, the overseas elector's registration entitlement lasts until the third 1 November following the date they are entered on the electoral register. However, under subsection (1)(b), an overseas elector's entitlement ends sooner if an event occurs which is described in section 1D(4).
- 410 Under new section 1D(2), an overseas elector's registration entitlement can be renewed where the registration officer concerned receives at any time during the last 6 months of a registration period a renewal declaration made by the elector, and the registration officer is satisfied that the elector is entitled to remain registered as an overseas elector. Where this occurs, under new section 1D(3) that elector is entitled to remain registered until the third 1 November that follows the day after the last day of the current registration period. An overseas elector's registration entitlement can be renewed more than once in this way. This renewal process is a new concept introduced by the Act and therefore there are no corresponding provisions currently contained in the RPA 1985.
- 411 New section 1D(4) sets out the events which will end an overseas elector's registration entitlement sooner:
- a. the registration officer determines that the person was not entitled to be registered or to remain registered;
 - b. where the registration officer determines that the person's entry in the register resulted from, or was altered by, an application that was made by someone else other than the person;
 - c. the individual cancels their overseas elector's declaration (which is provided for in new section 1C(7), or
 - d. another entry in respect of the person in an electoral register takes effect (for example if a person becomes registered as the result of a further overseas elector's declaration relating to a different address or if a person moves back to the UK and registers as an elector).
- 412 New section 1D(5) provides that a renewal declaration must be received by the registration officer within three months of the declaration's making date, otherwise the renewal declaration will have no effect.
- 413 New section 1D(6) defines terms used in section 1D.
- 414 New section 1D(7) provides a conclusive presumption that an elector was not resident in the United Kingdom on the day the renewal declaration is made by that elector.
- 415 New section 1D(8) imposes a duty on registration officers to remove an overseas elector's entry from the register where that overseas elector is no longer entitled to be registered. This replicates the words of section 2(2) of the RPA 1985.
- 416 New section 1E(1) specifies the core requirements of a renewal declaration.
- 417 New section 1E(2) provides that a renewal declaration must also state the UK address in respect of which the overseas elector is registered and confirm that the individual has not been separately registered in respect of that address, or registered in respect of any other UK address, since the individual registered as an overseas elector in respect of that address.
- 418 New section 1E(3) makes provision for a British citizen who was born in Northern Ireland and is specifying a registration address in Northern Ireland to declare, as part of a renewal declaration, that they are an Irish citizen in addition to, or instead of, a British citizen.

419 New section 1E(4) sets out that if a person submits a renewal declaration with more than one registration address, the declaration is void. Equally, if an individual makes two or more renewal declarations with the same date but which specify different addresses, each of those declarations are void.

420 New section 1E(5) defines terms used in this section.

Schedule 7: Overseas electors

Part 1 - Minor and Consequential Amendments

421 Schedule 7 Part 1 contains minor and consequential amendments and Part 2 contains transitional provision relating to section 14.

422 Paragraphs 1 to 4 make amendments to the RPA 1983. Paragraphs 1 to 3 make consequential amendments as a result of the replacement of sections 1 and 2 RPA 1985 with new sections 1 to 1E by section 14.

423 Paragraph 4 makes amendments to Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983 (provisions which may be contained in regulations as to registration etc).

424 Sub-paragraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph 4 enable provision to be made in secondary legislation relating to renewal declarations and how these are to be transmitted to the registration officer. These replicate existing powers relating to overseas elector's declarations contained in paragraph 3ZA of Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983.

425 Sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 4 inserts sub-paragraph (1AA) into paragraph 5 of Schedule 2 to the RPA 1983. This enables provisions to be prescribed in regulations which authorise a registration officer to require other kinds of evidence that such an officer considers appropriate in support of an application for registration in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration. It also enables provisions to be prescribed in regulations authorising a registration officer to deem such other kinds of evidence as the officer considers appropriate to be sufficient or conclusive evidence for the purposes of determining whether a person satisfies the conditions to be an overseas elector.

426 Paragraph 5 amends section 12 of the RPA 1985 (offences as to declarations) so as to extend the offence in section 12(1) to include renewal declarations as well as overseas elector's declarations.

427 Paragraphs 6, 7 and 9 make consequential amendments as a result of the replacement of sections 1 and 2 RPA 1985 with new sections 1 to 1E by section 14.

428 Paragraphs 8 and 10 omit section 42(7) of the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act 2010 and section 4(6) of the House of Lords Reform Act 2014 respectively. These provisions are no longer required as the new section 1 of the RPA 1985 extends the franchise to a person who has been entered on a register of local government electors.

429 Paragraph 11 repeals a number of provisions which are redundant as a result of the replacement of sections 1 and 2 RPA 1985 with new sections 1 to 1E by section 14.

Part 2 - Transitional provision

430 Paragraph 12 defines terms that are used in Part 2.

431 Paragraph 13 provides that applications for registration made in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration which are made prior to the date when section 10 comes fully into force ("the commencement date") will continue to be determined in accordance with sections 1 and 2 of the RPA 1985 as they exist prior to the commencement date. This includes applications that were made before the commencement date, but which are determined after the commencement date.

432 Paragraph 14 makes transitional provisions for overseas electors who are registered in pursuance of an overseas elector's declaration made before the commencement date, including those persons (described in paragraph 13) who were registered on or after the commencement date as the result of a declaration made before the commencement date.

433 Sub-paragraph (2) provides that:

- a. those overseas electors are treated on and after the commencement date as being registered on the basis of satisfying the previous registration condition within the meaning of new section 1A(2) of the RPA 1985 (as substituted by section 10(1)) in respect of the address specified in the pre-commencement declaration; and
- b. subject to sub-paragraph (3), new sections 1D (Duration of entitlement to be registered) and 1E (Renewal Declaration) of the RPA 1985 have effect in respect of those overseas electors.

434 Sub-paragraph (3) sets the length of the overseas elector's registration entitlement. In accordance with sub-paragraph (3)(a), the registration entitlement lasts no longer than 12 months beginning from the date on which the overseas elector's register entry first takes effect. However, where an overseas elector's registration entitlement would otherwise expire on or after the commencement date but before the specified day, sub-paragraph (3)(b) extends that registration entitlement to the end of the specified day. For these purposes, sub-paragraph (4) defines "specified day" as a day specified by the Secretary of State by regulations.

435 Paragraph 15 makes transitional provisions for registered overseas electors who have a postal vote in place immediately before the commencement date. This paragraph sets out that, where that postal vote entitlement would otherwise end after the date on which the elector's registration entitlement ends as a result of paragraph 14, the postal vote entitlement ends at the same time as the registration entitlement (unless it ends sooner).

436 Paragraph 16 makes transitional provisions for overseas electors who have made a postal vote application prior to the commencement date, but that application has not yet been determined by a registration officer on the commencement date. For these individuals, their postal vote arrangement (if granted) will last until:

- the end of the period during which the overseas elector is entitled to be registered in pursuance of an overseas declaration in accordance with paragraph 14 (even if the application had originally asked for a longer period of postal vote entitlement),
- or sooner, if a shorter period was specified in the application.

437 Paragraph 17 enables the Minister to make regulations to supplement the transitional provisions set out in paragraphs 13 to 16. The regulations may make supplementary or incidental provision, and may make different provision for different purposes or areas. The regulations are to be made by statutory instrument under the negative resolution procedure.

438 Paragraph 18 enables the Secretary of State to take appropriate steps in promoting awareness of the changes made by this Act to the overseas elector franchise amongst those who qualify, or are likely to qualify, as eligible to register to vote under the new rules as overseas electors.

439 Subparagraphs (3) and (4) of paragraph 18 allows a limited category of persons to disclose information to the Secretary of State for the purposes of identifying those who are, or are likely to be, qualifying people and what information the Secretary of State may use for this purpose. Any disclosure of personal information must not contravene the data protection legislation (such as the Data Protection Act 2018).

Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens

Section 15: Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens

440 Section 15 gives effect to Schedule 8, which amends voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens.

Schedule 8: Voting and Candidacy Rights of EU citizens

Part 1 - Amendments to the Representation of the People Act 1983

441 Paragraph 1(1) amends the franchise for local government electors as set out in section 2 of the RPA 1983, but only for England. New sub-paragraphs (i) & (ii) are inserted into section 2(1)(c) which relate, respectively, to the local franchises in England and Wales. The impact of this is that the local franchise in England is amended, whilst the local franchise in Wales is not. The new sub-paragraph (c)(i), which relates to England only, substitutes the term 'relevant citizen of the Union' with two new terms: 'qualifying EU citizen' and 'EU citizen with retained rights'. The effect of the amendments will be that only those EU citizens captured by the new terms will be able to vote in local government elections in England. EU citizens who are not captured by the new definitions will no longer be able to vote in those elections and referendums.

442 Paragraph 1(2) amends section 4(3) of the RPA 1983 which sets out the entitlement of a person to register as a local government elector in England and Wales. The effect of these amendments will be that only those EU citizens captured by the new definitions of EU citizens will be entitled to register as local government electors in England. EU citizens who are not captured by the new definitions will no longer be entitled to do so.

443 This paragraph extends to Northern Ireland as provided for in section 66(4)(b). Section 4(3) of the RPA 1983 is applied to local elections in Northern Ireland by Part 1 of Schedule 1 to the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989. The effect of this is that the substitution of the terms described above will apply to local elections in Northern Ireland and only the newly defined groups will be entitled to register to vote.

444 This change will flow through to all elections and referendums that use the local government register and are reserved to the UK Government, including: all levels of local election in England and Northern Ireland, including parish elections; London mayoral and London Assembly elections; Northern Ireland Assembly elections; local authority mayoral and combined authority mayoral; Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) elections (note that the local government franchise is only used for PCC elections in England, and that particular amendments are made to the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011 to give effect to the franchise change in respect of PCC elections in Wales); as well as local authority governance referendums, local council tax referendums, neighbourhood planning referendums and parish polls. As a result of amendments made by paragraph 2 of Schedule 8, these changes will also be applied to ward elections for common councillors in the City of London.

445 Paragraph 1(3) to (7) makes a number of amendments, as a result of the changes to sections 2 and 4, to sections 7B, and 15 to 17 of the RPA 1983 which allow persons, who would not otherwise be able, to register to vote either by way of a 'declaration of local connection', or by virtue of a relevant service qualification (by way of a 'service declaration'). The effect of these amendments is to change the availability of these methods of registration, so that the only EU citizens who can use them are 'qualifying EU citizens' and 'EU citizens with retained rights'. The effect of these changes is limited to England and Northern Ireland (see below on Part 3 of Schedule 8 for explanation of how these changes extend to Northern Ireland).

- 446 Paragraph 1(8) amends section 49(5) of the RPA 1983 which provides that if a person is registered in the parliamentary or local government register of electors, or entered in the list of proxies, they will not be prevented from voting on specified grounds, including that they are not a 'relevant citizen of the Union'. Sub-paragraph (8)(a) amends this section to replace references to "a relevant citizen of the Union" with references to "qualifying EU citizen or an EU citizen with retained rights" in relation to local government electors in England; and also limits relevance of the term "relevant citizen of the Union" to local government electors in Wales. This amendment will also extend to local elections in Northern Ireland as provided in section 66(4)(b) of the Act.
- 447 Paragraph 1(9) amends section 201 of the RPA 1983, which makes general provision about regulations made under the Act. The effect is that regulations made under the new power in section 203A(2) (inserted by paragraph 1(11) and discussed below) are to be subject to the negative resolution procedure.
- 448 Paragraph 1(10) inserts the new definitions of 'EU citizen with retained rights' and 'qualifying EU citizen' into section 203 of the RPA 1983 (which contains general definitions for that Act). The existing definition of 'relevant citizen of the union' at section 202(1) of the Representation of the People Act has been left intact. This will avoid any impact on any legislation that continues to use the term 'relevant citizen of the union' after this Act comes into effect.
- 449 Paragraph 1(11) inserts new sections 203A and 203B into the RPA 1983. These set out the new definitions of 'qualifying EU citizen' (203A) and 'EU citizen with retained rights' (203B). In the case of 'qualifying EU citizens', where the grant of voting and candidacy rights is dependent upon the UK entering into a treaty with another country, the provisions within section 203A also prescribe the process by which a country is added to or removed from the list of countries at Schedule 6A with the effect of granting or removing voting and candidacy rights from the relevant citizens.
- 450 New section 203A sets out the eligibility criteria that a person must meet in order to be a 'qualifying EU citizen'. It describes the group of people who will be granted voting and candidacy rights as a consequence of the UK having a relevant treaty with another country.
- 451 Section 203A(2) requires the Secretary of State to make regulations adding a country to the list in Schedule 6A where certain conditions are met, as follows:
- a. Section 203A(2)(a) requires that a country must be a 'qualifying country'. 'Qualifying country' is defined at Section 203A(5) and essentially relates to countries which were EU Member States immediately before the IP completion day.
 - b. Section 203A(2)(b) requires that the United Kingdom and the country intend to become parties to a relevant treaty. 'Relevant treaty' is defined at section 203A(5), see below. This section has the effect of requiring that a country has entered into an agreement with the UK on voting and candidacy rights, with the effect that each side will be guaranteeing to confer voting and candidacy rights for local elections respectively.
 - c. Section 203A(2)(c) provides that only treaties which are subject to Parliamentary scrutiny under Part 2 of the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act 2010 (CRAG), can be added to the list at Schedule 6A. Section 20 of CRAG requires treaties to be laid before Parliament before ratification. It provides an opportunity for both Houses to scrutinise the contents of a treaty and, potentially, to object to ratification. A treaty must have completed the process required by section 20 of CRAG before the Secretary of State can act to add a country to Schedule 6A.

- 452 Regulations adding a country to Schedule 6A will be subject to the negative resolution procedure, so can be annulled by either House of Parliament. The effect of adding a country to the Schedule will be to grant voting and candidacy rights to citizens of that country, provided they meet the additional criteria set out in the relevant immigration and electoral legislation.
- 453 Section 203A(3) provides a power for the Secretary of State by regulations to remove a country from the list in Schedule 6A where that country ceases to be a party to the treaty which led to it being included on the list. Removing a country will have the effect of removing voting and candidacy rights from the citizens of that country. The power to make such regulations enables, but does not require, the Secretary of State to remove a country. Regulations made under section 203A(3) will be subject to the affirmative resolution procedure and therefore must be laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.
- 454 Section 203A(4) requires the Secretary of State to inform electoral administrators and the Electoral Commission when a country is added to, or removed from, Schedule 6A as soon as is reasonably practicable.
- 455 Section 203A(5) provides definitions of the terms used in this section.
- 456 Section 203B sets out the eligibility criteria for an individual to be an 'EU citizen with retained rights'. The policy intention is to provide continuity in relation to the voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens who have been living in the UK since before Implementation Period Completion Day (IPCD) (11pm on 31 December 2020) and who hold lawful immigration status.
- 457 Section 203B(1) sets out that to be an 'EU citizen with retained rights' a person must meet all of the following criteria:
- a. A person must be a citizen of a 'country' as defined in s.203B(8). See below for that definition.
 - b. A person must have been an EU citizen immediately before IPCD.
 - c. A person must have been resident in either the UK or any of the Crown Dependencies - that is the Bailiwick of Jersey, the Bailiwick of Guernsey, or the Isle of Man - immediately before IPCD.
 - d. A person must also fall within any of subsections (2) to (4) of sections 203B, which are explained below.
 - e. A person must not be a 'qualifying EU citizen'. The definition of a qualifying EU citizen is set out in section 203A as explained above.
- 458 Section 203B(2) to (4) set out the various alternative ways in which an individual may satisfy section 203B(1)(d).
- 459 Section 203B(2) requires that an individual has settled or pre-settled status (forms of 'leave to enter or remain') under the UK EU Settlement Scheme (EUSS), or under one of the EUSS of the Crown Dependencies (the Bailiwick of Jersey, the Bailiwick of Guernsey or the Isle of Man), except where such leave has been granted to an individual on the basis that they are a 'joining family member'. Section 203B(12) identifies the relevant provisions of the UK's and Crown Dependencies' Immigration Rules that currently apply to joining family members, and provides for the possibility that either or both of the relevant provisions of the Immigration Rules may be replaced.
- 460 Section 203B(3) requires that an individual currently holds non-EUSS leave to remain in the UK or Crown Dependencies (with the exception of those persons who hold EUSS leave as 'joining family members'), and that they satisfy the conditions set out in subsection (5), as discussed below.

461 Section 203B(4) requires that an individual meets the following three criteria: first, that they do not, at the relevant time, require leave to remain in the UK or Crown Dependencies; second, that they are resident at the relevant time in the UK or Crown Dependencies; and third, that they must satisfy the criteria set out in subsection (5), as discussed below.

462 Section 203B(5) sets out the necessary conditions that individuals must satisfy in order to meet the requirements of either 203B(3) or 203B(4) in full. Section 203B(5)(a) requires that, excepting those scenarios set out in 203B(7) (pursuant to section 203B(6)), a person must have continuously held UK or Islands leave, or not required such leave, since 30 June 2021 (see definition of “the relevant date” at section 203B(10)). Section 203B(5)(b) requires that, during any period in which a person did not require such leave under the Immigration Act 1971 (i.e., they are exempted from the requirement), they must have been resident in the UK or Crown Dependencies.

463 Section 203B(6) and (7) provide for periods of time when a person may not have held UK or Islands leave, but which can be disregarded for purposes of section 203B(5)(a). Section 203B(6) requires that, in order for a period of time to be disregarded under these provisions, the individual must have been resident in the UK or Crown Dependencies for that period of time. Both provisions in subsection (7) describe potential gaps in legal immigration status that may have been experienced by an individual - and tolerated by Home Office - as a consequence of operation of the ‘grace period’ regulations (the Citizens’ Rights (Application Deadline and Temporary Protection) (EU Exit) Regulations 2020 (2020/1209)) and the EUSS. Therefore:

- Subsection (7)(a) allows for a period of time to be disregarded where an individual did not have leave but was awaiting the outcome of an application for leave made before 30 June 2021 (provided that the application was ultimately successful).
- Subsection (7)(b) allows for a period of time to be disregarded when an individual did not have leave but was subsequently granted EUSS leave (although not as a ‘joining family member’) by virtue of a late application, made after 30 June 2021, under the ‘reasonable excuse’ proviso to the EU Settlement Scheme. Note that such persons are expressly provided for in 203B(2); however, 203B(7) allows for the possibility that such a person may subsequently go on to hold another form of leave, and therefore no longer be captured by 203B(2).

464 Section 203B(8) defines which countries are, or may be, relevant to this section.

465 203B(8)(a) stipulates that an EU citizen with retained rights may be from a country that was a member state immediately before IPCD, other than the Republic of Ireland.

466 Section 203B(8)(b) stipulates that the section would apply to a country that was part of an EU Member State immediately before IPCD, other than the Republic of Ireland. This allows for the possibility that a part of a country that was an EU Member State at IPCD may, in future, secede to form a new independent nation state. Citizens of that country may be eligible to qualify for retained rights, provided they meet the other eligibility requirements set out elsewhere.

467 Section 203B(8)(c) stipulates that the section would apply to a country that is formed of two or more former countries, at least one of which was an EU Member State immediately before IPCD, other than the Republic of Ireland’. This allows for the possibility that a country that was an EU Member State at IPCD may merge with one or more countries that may or may not have been an EU Member State or States at IPCD, to form a new country. The effect is to enable citizens of such a new country to qualify as EU citizens with retained rights, subject to those persons meeting additional eligibility requirements set out elsewhere (including, as per 203B(1)(b), that they were a citizen of an EU Member State immediately before IPCD).

468 The exclusion of the Republic of Ireland from 203B(8)(a), (b), and (c) reflects the fact that Irish citizens' voting and candidacy rights are long-standing and pre-date the UK's membership of the EU.

469 Section 203B(9) indicates that references throughout section 203B to individuals who have leave to enter or remain under the Immigration Act 1971 should be taken to include individuals who are treated as having such leave (as a result of other legislation).

470 Sections 203B(10) and 203B(11) provide definitions for the terms used in section 203B. Most of these are self-explanatory. 'Residence scheme immigration rules' refers to the EU Settlement Schemes. There are four such schemes: one for the UK, and one for each of the Crown Dependencies.

471 Paragraph 1(12) creates new Schedule 6A to the RPA 1983 listing the countries the citizens of which are eligible (subject to the other eligibility requirements) to be considered 'qualifying EU citizens' as set out at section 203A(1). Currently, this list includes Luxembourg, Poland, Portugal, and Spain, as these countries have already reached bilateral treaties with the UK regarding voting and candidacy rights, and each of these agreements has completed the CRAG process in Parliament.

472 Paragraphs 1(9) to (12) extend to Northern Ireland and therefore local elections in Northern Ireland as provided for by section 66(4)(b).

Part 2 - Amendments in relation to certain local elections in England and Wales

473 Paragraph 2 of Schedule 8 amends the City of London (Various Powers) Act 1957 as it relates to the rights of European citizens to vote and to stand in Common Councillor elections in the City of London.

474 Paragraph 2(2) amends section 4 of the 1957 Act, which sets out definitions of terms used in the Act. It substitutes the existing term, 'relevant citizen of the Union' with two new terms: 'a qualifying EU citizen or an EU citizen with retained rights'. Those terms will have the same meanings as in the amended RPA 1983, which are explained above.

475 Paragraph 2(3) amends section 5 of the 1957 Act which sets out the criteria that a person must meet in order to stand as a candidate for election to the Common Council. It substitutes the term 'relevant citizen of the Union' with the two new terms: 'EU citizen with retained rights' and 'qualifying EU citizen'. The effect is that only those EU citizens who are captured by the definitions of the new terms will qualify to stand as candidates for election to the Common Council.

476 Paragraph 2(4) amends section 6 of the 1957 Act which sets out the criteria that a person must meet in order to qualify to vote in ward elections. It substitutes the term 'relevant citizen of the Union' with the two new terms: 'EU citizen with retained rights' and 'qualifying EU citizen'. The effect is that only those EU citizens who are captured by the definitions of the new terms will be entitled to vote in ward elections to the common council.

477 Paragraph 3 makes amendments to the Local Government Act 1972 in relation to the rights of EU citizens to stand for and hold office in local authorities in England. The effect of these amendments is that the only EU citizens who will be eligible to vote and stand for office as a member ("councillor") or directly-elected mayor of a local authority in England will be qualifying EU citizens and EU citizens with retained rights. These changes follow the changes made in relation to the local franchise in England where 'qualifying EU citizens' and 'EU citizens with retained rights' have the same meaning as described at sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983 as inserted by paragraph 1(11) of Part 1 to the Schedule. EU citizens who are not captured by these definitions will no longer be able to stand for election and hold office as a member or directly-elected mayor of a local authority in England.

- 478 Paragraph 4 makes amendments to the Greater London Authority Act 1999 in relation to the rights of EU citizens to stand for and hold office as Mayor of London or London Assembly Member. The effect of these amendments is that the only EU citizens who will be eligible to stand for election and hold office as Mayor of London or as a London Assembly member will be qualifying EU citizens and EU citizens with retained rights. These changes follow the changes made in relation to the local franchise in England in Part 1 of the Schedule, and the changes made to the right to stand for and hold office in a local authority in England (paragraph 3 of Part 2 of the Schedule) where 'qualifying EU citizens' and 'EU citizens with retained rights' have the same meaning as described at sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983 as inserted by paragraph 1(11) of Part 1 of this Schedule. EU citizens who are not captured by these definitions will no longer be able to stand for election and hold office as a Mayor of London or London Assembly Member.
- 479 Paragraph 5 makes amendments to the definition of 'qualifying citizen' at paragraph 8(3) of Schedule 5B to the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 in relation to the rights of EU citizens to stand for and hold office as mayor for a combined authority area. The effect of these amendments is that the only EU citizens who will be eligible to stand for and hold office as a mayor for a combined authority area will be qualifying EU citizens and EU citizens with retained rights. These changes follow the changes made in relation to the local franchise in England in Part 1 of this Schedule, and the changes made to the right to stand for and hold office in a local authority in England (paragraph 3 of Part 2 of this Schedule) where 'qualifying EU citizen' and 'EU citizen with retained rights' have the same meaning as described at sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983 as inserted by paragraph 1(11) of Part 1 of this Schedule. EU citizens who are not captured by these definitions will no longer be able to stand for election and hold office as an elected mayor in a combined authority area.
- 480 Paragraph 6 makes amendments to the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act (PRSRA) 2011, which includes voting and candidacy rights for the office of PCCs in both England and Wales. The amendments are largely limited to PCC elections in Wales. This is because for England, the franchise and candidacy rights for PCC elections follow those for local elections in England, and therefore are amended by changes made by Part 1 of Schedule 8 about which EU citizens are entitled to vote and stand at local elections in England. For Wales, the franchise for local elections is devolved, and is not the same as for PCC elections in Wales (which is reserved). The amendments are:
- a. Section 102 has been amended to remove the definition of 'relevant citizen of the Union' and to define 'qualifying EU citizen' and 'EU citizen with retained rights' by reference to the RPA 1983.
 - b. In sections 51(6C)(a), 52(1C)(a), and 64(1C)(a), which are specific to PCC elections in Wales, the term 'relevant citizen of the Union' has been substituted with 'qualifying EU citizen or an EU citizen with retained rights'. The effect will be that the only EU citizens who will be able to be a relevant elector in Wales (under section 51), to vote in PCC elections in Wales (under section 52), and to stand for office as Police and Crime Commissioner (under section 64) will be those EU citizens captured by the new terms.

- c. In section 68, the citizenship condition (which covers both England and Wales) has been amended to substitute 'citizen of the Union' with 'qualifying EU citizen or an EU citizen with retained rights' and this applies to people in England and Wales. This remains consistent with the citizenship condition for the Mayor of London and combined authority mayors.

Part 3 - Amendments in relation to certain elections in Northern Ireland

- 481 Paragraph 7 amends form 2 in Schedule 5 to the Electoral Law Act (Northern Ireland) 1962 by amending the declaration of nationality in the consent to nomination made by someone standing for election at a local council in Northern Ireland. The effect of the amendment is that the wording 'citizen of another member state of the European Union' is changed to 'qualifying EU citizen or EU citizen with retained rights within the meaning of sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983'. The provision reflects the changes to eligibility for standing as candidate at local elections in Northern Ireland as provided for by paragraph 8 of Part 3 of this Schedule.
- 482 Paragraph 8 makes amendments to section 3 of the Local Government Act (Northern Ireland) 1972 in relation to the rights of EU citizens to stand for office at local councils in Northern Ireland. The effect of these amendments is that only qualifying EU citizens or EU citizens with retained rights will be qualified to stand for election as a councillor in Northern Ireland.
- 483 Paragraph 9 makes amendments to the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989 by amending the franchise for local electors in Northern Ireland reflecting the changes for local government electors in England made by paragraph 1(2) of Schedule 8. The effect of these amendments will be that only those EU citizens captured by the new definitions of EU citizens will be able to vote in elections in Northern Ireland that use the local elections franchise. EU citizens who are not captured by the new definitions will no longer be able to vote in those elections. This will impact Assembly elections in Northern Ireland as these use the local elections franchise.
- a. Paragraph 9(3)(a), which substitutes the term 'relevant citizen of the Union' for both new definitions - 'a qualifying EU citizen or an EU citizen with retained rights' - removes the automatic right to vote from all EU citizens (with the exception of citizens of the Republic of Ireland, Cyprus, and Malta) which is currently conferred by virtue of EU citizenship alone. The effect will be that only EU citizens who meet the eligibility criteria of either of the newly defined groups will be included in the local elections franchise in Northern Ireland.
 - b. Paragraph 9(3)(b), provides that the terms 'qualifying EU citizens' and 'EU citizens with retained rights' have the same meaning as described at sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983 as inserted by paragraph 1(11) of Part 1 to this Schedule.
- 484 Paragraph 9(5) applies with modifications the changes to sections 7B, 15 and 17 of the RPA 1983 to local elections in Northern Ireland.
- 485 Paragraph 10 makes amendments to the Northern Ireland Act 1998 to provide that qualifying EU citizens and EU citizens with retained rights are disqualified for membership of the Northern Ireland Assembly unless they are resident in the UK as set out in section 4(3) of the RPA 1983 and applied to Northern Ireland local elections by Schedule 1 to the Elected Authorities (Northern Ireland) Act 1989. The wording 'citizen of another member state of the European Union' is changed to 'qualifying EU citizen or EU citizen with retained rights' within the meaning of sections 203A and 203B of the RPA 1983.

Part 4 - Transitional provision

486 Paragraph 12 makes transitional provision enabling an EU citizen elected before the new provisions described above come into force, and who otherwise remains eligible, to serve their full term of office.

- a. Paragraph 12(1) provides that for this transitional provision to apply to an individual, the following requirements must be satisfied;
 - i. Immediately before the particular provision changing the individual's right to hold office (the 'relevant provision') took effect, the individual must have held one of the offices listed at paragraph 12(4) (see below).
 - ii. The individual's term in office must have been due to continue beyond the time that the relevant provision took effect.
 - iii. The individual must be in a situation where, but for the effect of the transitional provision, they would have become disqualified from continuing to hold office as a result of the relevant provision taking effect.
- b. Paragraph 12(2) provides that the right of individuals who satisfy the requirements listed in paragraph 12(1) to complete their term in office will not be affected by the coming into force of a provision of Schedule 8 which would otherwise affect their ability to continue to hold that office.. The effect of this is to allow office-holders who would otherwise lose the right to hold office under these measures to complete their term in office, though they would not be entitled to seek re-election.
- c. Paragraph 12(3) provides that for the purposes of this transitional provision, an individual will be considered to be 'holding an office' from the moment that that person is elected, or declared to be returned as, the holder of the office.
- d. Paragraph 12(4) lists the offices to which this provision applies. These are:
 - i. members of the Northern Ireland Assembly
 - ii. offices elected at all levels of council election in England (parish, district, county, and London boroughs, and the council of the Isles of Scilly).
 - iii. local authority mayors in England,
 - iv. combined authority mayors in England,
 - v. the Mayor of London
 - vi. members of the London Assembly
 - vii. PCCs in England and Wales

487 Paragraph 12(5) clarifies the specific 'local authority' elections described in paragraph 12(4)(b), listing the specific elections given above.

488 Paragraph 13 enables regulations to be made containing transitional or saving provisions connected to the changes made by the rest of Schedule 8. The provision that can be made includes modifying the effect of provisions of other legislation (including primary legislation). Paragraph 13(4) provides that a statutory instrument made using this power would be subject to affirmative procedure in Parliament.

Part 3: The Electoral Commission

Strategy and policy statement

Section 16: Strategy and Policy Statement

489 Section 16 amends Part 1 of PPERA by inserting new sections 4A to 4E that make provision for the introduction of a 'Strategy and Policy Statement' ('the Statement') which will provide guidance to which the Electoral Commission ('the Commission') must have regard.

490 The Statement will be drafted, designated and published by the Secretary of State under new section 4A of PPERA. The Statement may contain guidance about:

- a. Government strategic and policy priorities relating to elections, referendums and other matters in respect of which the Commission have functions (section 4A(2)(a));
- b. the role and responsibilities of the Commission in supporting or enabling those priorities (section 4A(2)(b));
- c. the Commission's exercise of their functions (section 4A(3)(a));
- d. any other information (for example, about the roles and responsibilities of other persons) the Secretary of State considers appropriate (section 4A(3)(b)).

491 Under section 4A(4), the Secretary of State must, when drafting the Statement, have regard to the responsibilities of the Commission under s145(1) of PPERA to secure compliance with relevant controls under that Act.

492 Section 4A(5) requires that the draft Statement must not contain guidance about how the Commission carry out their existing duties under the Act in relation to investigatory powers or the issuing of civil sanctions, in relation to a particular person.

493 Section 4A(6) ensures that the Statement cannot contain provision relating to the Commission's devolved Scottish functions or devolved Welsh functions, as defined by section 4A(8), and therefore will only contain provision about the Commission's reserved functions.

494 Under new section 4B, the Commission are required to have regard to a designated Statement when carrying out their functions, save for any guidance within the Statement that pertains to the roles and responsibilities of other persons (section 4B(3)).

495 Subsections (4) and (8) of section 4B require the Commission to publish a report on what they have done as a result of the Statement, and provide a copy of that report to the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission ('the Speaker's Committee'). These provisions do not require this report to take a particular form and so this obligation can be met by a standalone report or as part of the Commission's existing annual reporting requirements to the House of Commons under PPERA (existing paragraphs 18 and 20 of Schedule 1 to that Act). This duty only applies after the end of a 12-month reporting period from the day a Statement has been designated by the Secretary of State and every 12 months thereafter.

496 Under section 4B(5), if a new Statement is designated during the reporting period applying to a previous Statement, to avoid placing an undue burden on the Commission, the Commission are only required to report on the discharge of their functions against the later Statement, after the end of a 12-month period from the designation of the later Statement.

497 In addition, under section 4B(7) if a Statement is withdrawn during a reporting period, the Commission are not required to report on consideration given to the withdrawn Statement during that particular reporting period.

- 498 New section 4C of PPERA outlines the consultation and approval process required before designating the Statement.
- 499 Under section 4C(2), the Secretary of State is required to consult the Commission, the Speaker's Committee, and the Levelling Up, Housing and Communities Committee on the draft Statement.
- 500 Under section 4C(3), following this consultation, the Secretary of State must then make any changes to the draft the Secretary of State considers appropriate (which could be none) and must prepare a response to that consultation. Under the enhanced scrutiny procedure set out in section 4C(4) to (6), after the consultation process, the Secretary of State must lay a document before Parliament, explaining the Secretary of State's proposals and setting them out in the form of a draft Statement, and including the report prepared in response to the consultation. Under subsections (5) and (6), there is a 60-day period within which members of both Houses of Parliament may make representations on the document, and the Secretary of State must consider these representations.
- 501 Under section 4C(7) and (8), if the Secretary of State wishes to proceed with the draft Statement after the expiry of the 60-day period, that draft Statement is subject to parliamentary approval via the affirmative resolution procedure on a non-amendable motion, which means the Statement must be approved by both Houses of Parliament within a 40-day period, in order for the Secretary of State to designate it. Either House can reject it by not so approving it. The 40-day period and the 60-day period are defined in section 4C(9) and (10).
- 502 Under sections 4C(11) and 4C(12) of PPERA, if the name or elections-related functions of the Levelling Up, Housing and Communities Committee change or become the functions of a different committee, then any reference to the Levelling Up, Housing and Communities Committee under section 4C(2)(c) is to be read as a reference to the committee which for the time being has that new name or those functions.
- 503 New section 4D of PPERA outlines the 5-year review and designation process for the Statement.
- 504 Under section 4D(1) to (3), when five years have elapsed since a Statement was last designated after being subject to the statutory consultation process in new section 4C(2), the Secretary of State must as soon as reasonably practicable review the existing Statement and, under section 4D(4), then either revise it, leave it unchanged or withdraw it (by de-designating it).
- 505 Under section 4D(5), where the Secretary of State decides not to withdraw the Statement as a result of reviewing it, the Secretary of State must designate the Statement (whether or not it has been revised) within twelve months of the review date, or it will be treated as withdrawn.
- 506 Under section 4D(7), the same publication, consultation and parliamentary approval processes apply to the designation of the Statement under 4D as to the original Statement.
- 507 New section 4E outlines the Secretary of State's powers to revise the Statement outside the 5-yearly review process under section 4D.
- 508 Under section 4E(1) and (2), the Secretary of State may review and revise a designated Statement either on the Secretary of State's own initiative or at the request of the Commission or the Speaker's Committee, provided that the body making the request notifies the Secretary of State and gives details of the changes to the Statement that they propose should be made (new section 4E(2)). Where the request is made by the Commission, they must also give notice to the Speaker's Committee in addition to the Secretary of State, in the form set out above. In response to a request from either body, the Secretary of State must then inform the Commission or the Speaker's Committee (as the case may be) how the Secretary of State proposes to deal with the request (section 4E(3)).

509 Under section 4E(4) and (5), on revising the Statement the Secretary of State must designate it, and may determine that the consultation process outlined in new section 4C does not apply to the revised Statement. The effect of new section 4E(4) is that any revisions (save for typographical or clerical errors) to the Statement under new section 4E must be submitted for parliamentary approval under section 4C. When making revisions to the Statement under section 4E(4), the consultation and enhanced scrutiny procedure requirements under new section 4C may be disapplied. When consultation requirements are disapplied, the revised Statement will be subject to the affirmative procedure under section 4C(7), rather than to the enhanced parliamentary scrutiny under section 4C(4) to (6).

510 Before making the determination about consultation and enhanced scrutiny procedure, the Secretary of State is required under new section 4E(6) to consult the Speaker's Committee on whether the proposed changes to the Statement warrant a statutory consultation and enhanced scrutiny procedure and consider the Committee's view. If the Secretary of State disagrees with the Committee's view and makes a determination not to consult, the Secretary of State must explain this decision to Parliament under new section 4E(8) and (9).

511 Under section 4E(7), the Secretary of State must also inform the statutory consultees listed in new section 4C(2) of any proposed changes to the Statement if the Secretary of State determines that a statutory consultation is not required.

Section 17: Examination of duty to have regard to strategy and policy statement

512 Section 17(1) inserts new section 13ZA into PPERA. This new section expands the role of the Speaker's Committee to include a power to examine the performance by the Commission of their duty to have regard to the Statement.

513 To support this work, section 13ZA(2) gives the Speaker's Committee powers to request relevant information from the Commission. Under section 13ZA(3), the Commission are required to provide this information as soon as reasonably practicable and in such form as the Committee may reasonably require. The Speaker's Committee could, for example, request the information in the form of oral evidence.

514 Under section 13ZA(4) to (7), the Commission are not required to disclose to the Speaker's Committee information that, in the Commission's opinion, might adversely affect any current investigation or proceedings or where disclosure would contravene data protection legislation.

515 Section 17(2) inserts new paragraph 4 into Schedule 2 to PPERA, and makes provision preventing evidence given by a witness (written or oral) to the Speaker's Committee from being used against the witness in civil, disciplinary or criminal proceedings, unless the evidence was given in bad faith. This paragraph also provides that publication by the Speaker's Committee of any witness evidence is absolutely privileged in relation to defamation claims. This includes evidence from the Commission and any other person providing evidence to the Speaker's Committee.

Membership of the Speaker's Committee

Section 18: Membership of the Speaker's Committee

516 Section 18(1) and (2) make amendments to section 2 of, and paragraph 2 of Schedule 2 to, PPERA, which set out the membership of the Speaker's Committee. The amendments allow concurrent membership for the Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities and an MP who is a Minister of the Crown and is appointed by the Prime Minister (new sub-section (2A) of section 2) and clarify the meaning of "appointed member" in the context of concurrent membership (new paragraph 2(1A) of Schedule 2)).

517 Section 18(3)(a) revokes the Transfer of Functions (Speaker's Committee) Order 2021 (S.I. 2021/310) which served a similar purpose to section 18(1). Section 18(3)(b) revokes subparagraphs (b) and (c) in article 7(1) of the Transfer of Functions (Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities) Order 2021 (S.I. 2021/1265) which are superseded by section 18(1).

Criminal Proceedings

Section 19: Criminal proceedings

518 Section 19 amends paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 to PPERA by inserting provisions which expressly remove the potential for the Commission to bring criminal prosecutions in England, Wales and Northern Ireland (new paragraph 2(2)(b) of Schedule 1).

Part 4: Regulation of Expenditure

Notional expenditure of candidates and others

Section 20: Notional expenditure: use of property etc on behalf of candidates and others

519 Section 20 subsection (1) (notional expenditure: use of property etc. on behalf of candidates and others) amends section 90C of the RPA 1983 in order to clarify that 'on behalf of' means where the candidate (or the candidate's election agent) has directed, authorised or encouraged the use of benefits in kind by someone else. This clarifies that candidates only need to report benefits in kind which they have actually used, or directed or encouraged someone else to use and do not need to fear being responsible for benefits in kind of which they had no knowledge.

520 Section 20 subsections (2)-(7) makes equivalent amendments to the rules on notional expenditure throughout electoral law, including in respect of other campaigners, including political parties. This ensures consistency across the various pieces of electoral legislation.

521 This section applies only in relation to reserved and excepted elections. For subsection (1), relating to notional expenditure of candidates, this applies to all UK elections except local Government elections in Scotland and Wales. Subsections (2) to (4) apply the amendment to political parties and third parties during regulated periods for reserved and excepted elections. The relevant periods are set out in paragraphs 3, 7, 9, 10 and 11 of schedules 9 and 10 of PPERA. The regulated period before devolved elections fall within the devolved legislative competence of the Scottish Parliament or Welsh Senedd, except where regulated periods for UK Parliamentary elections overlap/are combined with those periods. It is possible that this combination of regulated periods could happen retrospectively, when a general election is called. In this scenario, the entire combined regulated period (as defined by paragraphs 9 to 11) is reserved, and as such reserved campaigning rules apply.

Section 21: Codes of practice on expenses

522 Section 21 subsection (1) amends the provisions in the Representation of the People Act 1983 providing that the Electoral Commission may prepare guidance on election expenses for candidates. The amendments clarify that the guidance can cover the application of the rules in relation to expenses incurred. This is to ensure that the codes of practice are sufficiently broad so as to include an explanation of the rules on all forms of expenditure.

523 Subsection (1)(b) and (2) amend the procedures to bring into force various codes of practice in respect of election expenses under PPERA and the RPA 1983. This is to ensure the procedures are consistent with each other and the codes are all brought into force by a statutory instrument with no further parliamentary procedure. This section only applies to any Codes of Practice prepared in relation to reserved legislative competence (and excepted, as it relates to Northern Ireland); it does not apply to an Order made by the Welsh or Scottish Ministers.

Section 22: Authorised persons not required to pay expenses through election agent

524 Section 22 amends section 73 RPA 1983 (and equivalent provisions throughout electoral law) so that expenses incurred under section 75 by a third party do not have to be paid by the election agent. This is intended to provide clarity to third parties who have been authorised by a candidate or agent to promote them, under section 75 of the RPA 1983. This amendment ensures that third parties are able to both incur and pay for authorised expenses under section 75, rather than the expenses being paid through the agent of the candidate they are promoting.

525 This section applies only in relation to reserved legislative competence (and excepted, as it relates to Northern Ireland), it does not apply to devolved elections in Scotland or Wales.

Registration of parties etc

Section 23: Declaration of assets and liabilities to be provided on application for registration

526 Section 23 subsections (1) to (4) amend PPERA section 28 which deals with the registration of political parties by the Electoral Commission. The proposed treasurer of a political party will be required to confirm whether to the best of their knowledge and belief they have assets or liabilities that are either greater or less than £500. This declaration is made in reference to whether or not the party meets the assets/liabilities condition outlined in subsection (3). A political party meets the assets/liabilities condition if they do not have either assets or liabilities that exceed £500.

527 Parties with assets or liabilities that do not exceed the £500 threshold (meet the condition) are required to make a declaration confirming that fact. Parties who do not meet the condition outlined in subsection (3) and therefore have assets or liabilities in excess of £500, are required to produce a record of their assets and liabilities to accompany their declaration. Under PPERA Schedule 4 paragraph 9, the responsible officers of the party are required to sign an application.

528 Minor parties are excluded from this declaration requirement by virtue of subsection (3E). The declaration and record of assets and liabilities is incorporated into the registration process with the Commission and into the register maintained by the Commission (PPERA, s.23). The political party register, maintained by the Commission, will indicate whether the assets or liabilities of a party are in excess of £500 or not (subsection (8B)).

Section 24: Prohibition on entities being registered political parties and recognised third parties at same time

529 Section 24 narrows the registration criteria for political parties so as to exclude third parties (new subsection (7A) inserted into section 28 PPERA) which means that recognised third-party campaigners are not able to register as a political party if their notification as a third-party campaigner remains in force. Registered parties are removed from the list of categories of third-party campaigners eligible to register with the Commission in PPERA 2000, section 88(2). Section 24 also makes a series of consequential amendments as a result.

Section 25: Section 24: transitional provisions

- 530 Section 25 sets out a transitional provision to provide for any groups appearing on both registers when the provision in section 24 comes into force during a regulated period. In such a scenario, campaigners are only permitted to spend in one capacity (of their choice) during the regulated period and, following this, would need to either deregister as a political party or allow their third-party notification to lapse. It is an offence (new section 89A and section 79(2) of PPERA) for a party to spend in both capacities post commencement.

Controlled Expenditure etc

Section 26: Restriction on which third parties may incur controlled expenditure

- 531 Section 26 subsection (1) inserts new section 89A(1) of PPERA. Subsection (1) of which prevents any third party from incurring controlled expenditure (including notional controlled expenditure) during a reserved regulated period, unless it is either eligible to register under section 88(2) of PPERA or an unincorporated association with the requisite UK connection. Subsections (4) and (5) of 89A make it an offence for a third party to incur controlled expenditure when not listed in section 88(2) or exempt. .
- 532 Section 89A(6) of PPERA provides that unincorporated associations have the 'requisite UK connection' if they are composed solely of registered overseas electors (defined in new subsection (7)); these associations are a separate category of unincorporated associations that are not eligible to notify the Electoral Commission because they do not fall into the unincorporated association category in section 54(2)(h) of PPERA.
- 533 Third-party campaigner controlled expenditure is only regulated during a regulated period. Therefore, the offence under new section 89A(4) or (5) will only apply during a regulated period. New section 89A(2) ensures that 89A(1) will not apply to third-party campaigners spending below £700 during a regulated period; this mirrors section 75(1ZZB)(a) and (1ZA) of the RPA 1983.
- 534 Section 89A applies only to reserved regulated periods. Subsection (7) of that section defines reserved regulated periods by reference to paragraphs 3, 7,, 9, 10 and 11 of Schedule 10 of PPERA. The regulated period before devolved elections fall within the devolved legislative competence of the Scottish Parliament or Welsh Senedd, except where regulated periods for UK Parliamentary elections overlap/are combined with those periods. It is possible that this combination of regulated periods could happen retrospectively, if a general election is called before the expected end of a parliament. In this scenario, the entire combined regulated period (as defined by paragraphs 9 to 11 of the Schedule) is reserved. In these circumstances, spending by a third party could be captured, assuming it meets the controlled expenditure definition, after it has actually been incurred, and a third party spending in excess of permissible limits could be liable for a criminal offence.
- 535 Third parties that are not eligible to register with the Electoral Commission under section 88(2) PPERA but incur controlled expenditure during a devolved regulated period are liable for an offence under new subsections (4) and (5) of section 89A PPERA if the regulated period is subsequently combined with a regulated period for a parliamentary general election.

Section 27: Third parties capable of giving notification for purposes of Part 6 of PPERA

- 536 Section 27 makes provision for the amendment of the list of eligible categories of third-party campaigners in section 88(2) of PPERA 2000. This allows for the ability to add, remove or amend categories of third-party campaigners from the list in section 88(2) should that be necessary. Any change would have an impact on who is permitted to incur controlled expenditure during regulated periods under new section 89A. Any change under subsection (1) would only apply in relation to third-party campaigning during reserved regulated periods.

537 It is possible, therefore, that in the future following any such order, different categories of third parties will be eligible (or not) to submit a notification to the Electoral Commission under section 88 of PPERA during the same regulated period. For example, a third party may be eligible to register with the Commission during a regulated period for a standalone Scottish Parliamentary or Welsh Senedd election, but not eligible to register where such a regulated period overlaps with a UK parliamentary general election regulated period. If the regulated period for the devolved election is overlapped retrospectively by a regulated period for a UK parliamentary election the third party could become ineligible for the entirety of the combined regulated period

538 Subsection (10) specifies that any order to remove or amend the description of a category in section 88(2) can only be made on the recommendation of the Electoral Commission.

Section 28 Recognised Third parties: changes to existing limits etc

539 Subsections (2) to (4) amend section 88 of PPERA to create, in effect, a two tier system of notification for third-party campaigners, by introducing the “lower-tier expenditure limit” set at £10,000. Subsection (1) defines the lower tier expenditure limits applicable to controlled expenditure by third parties during a regulated period as set out in section 94(5) of PPERA.

540 By virtue of subsections (5) and (6), third-party campaigners registered on the ‘lower tier’, as part of any renewal notification, must confirm or withdraw their statement (as a third party subject to lower tier expenditure limit) with the Electoral Commission. If a third-party campaigner is registered on the lower tier and thinks that it will exceed the existing per country spending limit, the third party may send a “notification of alteration” to the Electoral Commission as is the case for any changes to an original notification under section 88(8) of PPERA. Failure to do so means the third party (or individual or responsible person) may be liable for an offence if their spending is in excess of those third party limits.

541 Subsections (7), (8) and (9) incorporate this new ‘lower tier threshold’ as an expenditure limit for third parties alongside the existing spending limits for third-party campaigners in section 94 of PPERA. The lower tier for notification is set at those third parties intending to spend in excess of £10,000 on controlled expenditure across any combination of the constituent parts of the UK during a reserved regulated period before an election. It also acts as the upper expenditure limit for non-recognised third parties. New subsection (4ZA) of section 94 links the incurring of controlled expenditure to authorisation by a responsible person within the third party subject to the lower tier expenditure limits.

542 Subsection (10) makes it an offence under section 94(4) of PPERA for a third party to incur controlled expenditure in excess of £10,000 across the UK during a regulated period without notifying/registering with the Electoral Commission. Recognised third-party campaigners subject to the lower tier expenditure limit that exceed their limit outlined in section 94(4) become subject to all of the existing Part 6 regulation for recognised third-parties, and the corresponding spending limit offence in section 94(2) (subsection (10A)).

543 Under subsection (11), a “lower tier” third-party campaigner is excluded from acting as a lead campaigner in relation to any arrangement in which expenditure is incurred in pursuance of a common plan with one or more third parties. This is due to the fact that such parties are not subject to the reporting requirements of recognised third parties, and therefore the spending would be unreported.

- 544 Subsection (12) ensures that third-party campaigners subject to the lower tier expenditure limit are not subject to some controls in PPERA namely sections 91, 92, 95A, 95B, 95D and 96 will not apply. They are not required to submit donations reports during a reserved regulated period, or subject to the internal reporting and recording requirements of sections 91, 92 and 93 of PPERA.
- 545 Subsection (8) specifies that only third-party campaigners incurring controlled expenditure during a reserved regulated period are required to give a notification to the Electoral Commission subject to the 'lower tier expenditure limit'. The section only applies to regulated periods (defined by section 94(10) of the 2000 Act) to which any limit is imposed by references to paragraphs 3, 7 and 9 to 11 of Schedule 10 PPERA. The regulated period before devolved elections fall within the devolved legislative competence of the Scottish Parliament or Welsh Senedd, except where regulated periods for UK Parliamentary elections overlap/are combined with those periods; this is also the case for any related offences under section 94 (2) and (4) of PPERA.
- 546 That means that a third party campaigning for both Scottish parliamentary and Welsh Senedd elections can spend up to £10,000 per regulated period (the existing per country thresholds under section 94(5) of PPERA) without registering with the Commission whereas section 25 makes the registration threshold £10,000 for spending anywhere in the UK during a reserved regulated period. For example, a third party spending £5,000 in both Northern Ireland and England will now be required to register (as they have reached the new 'lower tier' threshold), although they have not reached the per country thresholds of £10,000 and £20,000 respectively in those countries (which as contained in section 94(5) of PPERA). Failure to register will mean that a third party (or the person who authorised the expenditure) is potentially liable for the offence in section 94(4).
- 547 It is possible that this combination of regulated periods could happen retrospectively, if a UK parliamentary general election is called and the regulated period of the devolved election is within 365 days leading up to the UK election for example. In this scenario, the entire combined period (as defined by paragraphs 9 to 11 of Schedule 10 of PPERA) would be reserved. In this situation, a non-registered third party spending in excess of £10,000 spread across the Scottish and Welsh regulated periods, without registering, could be liable for an offence if those regulated periods were combined with a regulated period for a UK parliamentary election.

Section 29 (code of practice on controls relating to third parties)

- 548 Section 29 subsection (1) inserts new sections 100A and 100B into Part VI of PPERA placing a duty on the Electoral Commission to produce a statutory code of practice on the application of expenditure controls for third party campaigners contained within that Act; specifying the particular matters which must be included in the code; creating a defence for third parties charged with offences under Part VI of PPERA; and setting out a consultation process and procedural requirements relevant to the production of the code.
- 549 Subsection (5) provides that compliance with any code issued under this section is a potential defence where the offence relates to expenditure incurred or treated as incurred by a third party during a reserved regulated period. This means where a 'responsible person', for example, is charged with an offence in relation to controlled expenditure (or where expenditure is treated as controlled expenditure) and they determine what is or is not controlled expenditure (or is to be treated as such) in accordance with an issued code then there is a defence open to them.

550 The consultation process for the statutory code is set out in subparagraph (1)(c) of paragraph 100B stating that the Electoral Commission must consult with “other persons as... consider[ed] appropriate” on a draft code. This may include, for example, civil society organisations eligible to notify the Electoral Commission under section 88.

Part 5: Disqualification of offenders for holding elective office etc

Section 30: Disqualification orders

551 Subsection (1) of section 30 sets out the circumstances in which the section applies, i.e.:

- a. An offender is convicted by a criminal court of an offence listed in Schedule 9 which was committed when the offender was aged 18 or over; and
- b. The offence is aggravated by hostility related to candidates (as defined in section 32), holders of relevant elective offices (as defined in section 33) or campaigners (as defined in section 34).

552 Subsection (2) provides that, in those circumstances, the court must, when dealing with the offender for the offence, also make a disqualification order. The effect of the disqualification order is that the offender is disqualified from being nominated for election to, being elected to or holding certain elective offices for a period of 5 years. This 5-year period starts on the date the order is made. Section 37 lists the relevant elective offices to which the disqualification applies.

553 Under subsection (3) the court does not have to make the disqualification order if they consider it would be unjust due to particular circumstances about the offence or the offender. Where the court determines not to make the order, the court must give its reasons for not doing so in open court.

554 Subsections (4) and (5) provide the criteria by which a court determines whether an offence is aggravated by hostility related to a candidate, holder of elective office or campaigner for the purposes of subsection (1)(c). Subsection (4)(a) provides that an offence is aggravated by hostility if the offender demonstrated hostility towards the victim of the offence because the victim is, or the offender presumes the victim to be, a candidate etc. Examples of this hostility include, but are not limited to, hostility based on: the victim’s status as a candidate etc.; activities undertaken wholly or partly in the victim’s capacity as a candidate etc.; an opinion held or not held by the candidate etc.; a policy advocated or opposed by the candidate etc. The hostility must be demonstrated by the offender at the time of committing the offence, or immediately before or after the commission of the offence.

555 Subsection (4)(b) provides that an offence is aggravated by hostility if the offence was motivated (wholly or partly) by hostility towards persons in their capacity as candidates, holders of relevant elective offices or campaigners. Subsection (4)(b) does not specify that the ‘victim’ of the offence must be a candidate etc. in order for the offence to be aggravated by the necessary hostility. This means that an offence could be aggravated by hostility for the purposes of subsection (1)(c) where (for example) an offender commits a relevant offence against person A (e.g., a candidate’s parent) and that offence is motivated by the offender’s hostility towards person B because B is a candidate.

556 Subsection (5) provides that it is immaterial for the purposes of subsection (4) whether or not an offender’s hostility is also based (to any extent) on any other factor not listed in that subsection, i.e., a factor other than the victim being or being presumed by the offender to be a candidate etc., or a factor other than hostility towards persons in their capacity as a candidate etc.

557 Subsection (6) allows the court to consider evidence presented by the prosecution or defence in deciding whether or not to make a disqualification order under this section. Subsection (7) allows the court to consider such evidence even where that evidence would not have been admissible in the proceedings in which the offender was convicted.

558 Subsection (8) provides, for the purposes of determining whether an offender was aged 18 or over when the offence was committed, that where an offender is found to be committed over more than a single day it is taken to have been committed on the last of those days.

559 Subsection (9) provides definitions used in this section.

Section 31: Vacation of office etc

560 Section 31 sets out the process by which a holder of a relevant elective office who is disqualified from holding that office as a result of a disqualification under section 30 should vacate their office. It is modelled on the existing provision in section 173(4) to (8) of the RPA 1983 which governs the process for a person vacating an office as the result of incapacities arising from being convicted of a corrupt or illegal practice (although the new disqualification order is not a corrupt or illegal practice.)

561 Subsection (2) provides that the holder's office is vacated at the end of the 3-month period after the court made the disqualification order or, if earlier, the end of the period during which an appeal against the criminal conviction or sentence is allowed if such an appeal is not made by the person during that period.

562 When the office-holder makes an appeal against their conviction or the making of a disqualification order subsection (3) provides that the office is vacated at the end of the 3-month period unless:

- a. the appeal is dismissed or abandoned before the 3-month period expires, in which case the office is vacated at that earlier time; or
- b. the appeal is upheld before the 3-month period expires, in which case the holder is not required to vacate their office.

563 Subsection (4) provides that the office-holder is suspended from performing any of the functions of their office from the date that the disqualification order is made until either the date on which the holder's office is vacated in accordance with this section, or the date within the 3-month period on which a court upholds the appeal against the officeholder's conviction or the making of the disqualification order (as described in subsection (3)). In the latter case, the holder's office is not vacated and the suspension also ceases.

564 Subsection (5) provides that, where an office-holder's appeal is successful after their office has already been vacated in accordance with this section, the former office-holder is not entitled to resume that office as a result of that successful appeal.

565 Subsection (6) defines the term "order date", which is used in the section.

Section 32: Candidates etc.

566 Section 32 describes the first category of persons referred to in section 30, hostility against whom on the part of an offender may result in the making of a disqualification order under that section. Subsection (1) provides that this category includes:

- a. candidates or future candidates in respect of elections for a relevant elective office or a relevant Scottish elective office;
- b. substitutes or nominees in relation to the seats of a member of the Northern Ireland Assembly or a member of a district council in Northern Ireland.

567 Subsection (2) provides that “candidate” in subsection (1) includes individuals named on a list of candidates for those elections where winning candidates are selected from submitted lists (for example, elections to the Scottish Parliament or the London Assembly).

568 Subsection (3) defines “future candidate” for the purposes of this section as an individual whose intention to stand as a candidate at the next scheduled election for a relevant elective office or a relevant Scottish elective office has been declared, but whose formal candidacy has not yet officially begun.

569 Subsection (4) defines “substitute” for the purposes of this section as an individual who is included (or is being considered for inclusion) on a list or notice of possible substitutes provided by an independent member of the Northern Ireland Assembly or of a district council in Northern Ireland. When the office of such an independent member becomes vacant, an individual is chosen from that list or notice to fill the vacancy.

570 Subsection (5) defines “nominee” for the purposes of this section as an individual who has been nominated (or is being considered for nomination) by the nominating officer of a registered political party to fill a vacancy in the office of a member of the Northern Ireland Assembly or of a district council in Northern Ireland where that member was a member of the registered political party. The term “nominee” also includes an individual who is being considered for such a nomination by a nominating officer. Subsection (6) provides that where a member of a district council was a member of more than one registered political party, the references to the nominating officer in subsection (5)(b) are to be read as references to the nomination officers of each of the registered political parties concerned.

571 Subsection (7) defines other terms used in the section.

Section 33: Holders of relevant elective offices

572 Section 33 describes the second category of persons referred to in section 30 as holders of a relevant elective office or a relevant Scottish elective office (these offices are listed in section 37).

573 The terms of some relevant elective offices do not commence immediately after the results of an election to that office have been declared: several days can pass between election and the start of a term of office. Subsection (2) clarifies that a person elected to such an office is treated as a “holder of a relevant elective office” for these purposes from the time of their successful election even if their term of office has not yet commenced.

Section 34: Campaigners

574 Section 34 sets out the third category of persons referred to in section 30 as campaigners. Subsection (1) lists the five types of campaigner for these purposes. The first four types of campaigner (listed in subsection (1)(a) to (d)) are:

- a. an individual who is a permitted participant in relation to a referendum (within the meaning of section 105 PPERA);
- b. an individual who is a recognised third party (within the meaning of section 160 PPERA);
- c. an individual who is involved in the conduct or management of a local referendum campaign; or
- d. an individual who is an accredited campaigner in relation to a recall petition (within the meaning of Part 5 of Schedule 3 to the Recall of MPs Act 2015).

575 Subsection (1)(e) sets out a fifth type of campaigner. This type of campaigner covers individuals who undertake campaigning activities for election, referendum or recall petition purposes and who are employed or engaged by a person listed in subsection (5) (e.g., a candidate, registered political party, recognised third party, or permitted participant etc.) wholly or partly for the purpose of carrying out such activities. It does not cover individuals who carry out these campaigning activities but who are not employed or engaged wholly or partly for that purpose.

576 Subsection (2) defines “election purposes” for the purposes of subsection (1)(e). Activities are undertaken “for election purposes” if they are undertaken for the purposes of, or in connection with: (a) promoting or procuring (i) electoral success for a registered party at a relevant election or (ii) the election of a candidate at a relevant election; (b) enhancing the standing of a registered party or a candidate in connection with future elections; and (c) prejudicing the electoral prospects or standing of a registered party or candidate. This includes campaigners who undertake relevant campaigning activities (such as fundraising) at any time of year, not only during a specific election period. This reflects the fact that relevant campaigning takes place, particularly online, outside of formal election periods. Subsections (3) and (4) define “referendum purposes” and “recall petition purposes” respectively for the purposes of subsection (1)(e).

577 Subsection (5) lists the persons who may employ or engage campaigners for the purposes of subsection (1)(e). Subsection (6) defines other terms used in the section.

578 Subsection (7) explains that a campaigner can be “engaged by” a candidate etc. for the purposes of subsection (1)(e) if the campaigner provides their services without remuneration. This means that this type of “campaigner” includes volunteers.

Section 35: Election etc of a person to the House of Commons who is subject to a disqualification order

579 Subsection (1) of section 35 specifies that if a person who is elected as a member of the House of Commons is subject to a disqualification order, then that person’s election is void.

580 Subsection (2) makes an amendment to the House of Commons Disqualification Act 1975. The effect of this amendment is that a person may apply to Her Majesty in Council in accordance with section 7 of the 1975 Act for a declaration to the effect that a person purporting to be a member of the House of Commons is disqualified by virtue of a disqualification order, in the same way that a declaration can be sought that a person is disqualified for any other reason.

Section 36: Power to amend Schedule 9

581 Section 36 allows the Secretary of State by subsequent regulations to add to, vary or omit offences from the list of criminal offences in Schedule 9 in respect of which a disqualification order can be made in accordance with section 30.

Section 37: Interpretation of Part

582 Section 37 defines the terms “disqualification order”, “relevant elective office” and “relevant Scottish elective office” which are used in Part 5.

Section 38: Minor and consequential amendments

583 Section 38 gives effect to Schedule 10, which contains minor and consequential amendments resulting from Part 5.

Schedule 9: Offences for purposes of Part 5

584 Schedule 9 lists the existing criminal offences of an intimidatory nature in respect of which a disqualification order can be made.

Schedule 10: Disqualification orders: minor and consequential amendments

- 585 Paragraph 1 of Schedule 10 amends the rules for Northern Ireland local elections, as set out in Schedule 5 to the ELA (NI) 1962.
- 586 Sub-paragraph (2) allows Returning Officers (ROs) to hold a nomination paper invalid in those circumstances where an RO is certain, based on information provided or otherwise available to the RO, that a candidate is disqualified by virtue of a disqualification order. This is not a duty or requirement and is very similar to the existing power which ROs already have under UK Parliamentary election rules, which allows them to hold a nomination paper invalid if a candidate is disqualified by virtue of the Representation of the People Act 1981.
- 587 Sub-paragraph (3) makes a small change to the consent to nomination form to include a reference to the disqualification order as a reason why someone might be disqualified for being elected and to ensure that a candidate declares that they are not so disqualified when giving their consent.
- 588 Paragraph 2 of Schedule 10 amends the Local Government Act 1972 (“the 1972 Act”). Section 85(1) of the 1972 Act provides that a local authority member ceases to be a member if they fail to attend a meeting of the authority within a period of six consecutive months. Paragraph 2(2) amends section 85(3A) so as to disregard any period of suspension arising from section 31(4) for the purpose of calculating the six-month consecutive period.
- 589 Paragraph 2 also amends the 1972 Act so that, where a local authority member is disqualified as a result of a disqualification order, their office is vacated on the date determined in accordance with the procedure set out in section 31.
- 590 Paragraph 3 of Schedule 10 amends the Local Government Act (Northern Ireland) 1972. The amendments are equivalent to the amendments to the Local Government Act 1972 described above.
- 591 Paragraph 4 of Schedule 10 amends the rules for UK Parliamentary elections, as set out in Schedule 1 to the RPA 1983. The amendments are equivalent to the amendment to the rules in Schedule 5 to the ELA (NI) 1962 described above.
- 592 Paragraphs 5 to 7 of Schedule 10 amend the Northern Ireland Act 1998, Greater London Authority Act 1999 and the Government of Wales Act 2006. The amendments relate to the Northern Ireland Assembly, the London Assembly, the office of the Mayor of London and the Senedd Cymru respectively, and are equivalent to the amendments to the Local Government Act 1972 described above.
- 593 Paragraph 8 of Schedule 10 amends the Armed Forces Act 2006. New sections 236A and 236B of that Act enable a military court or commanding officer sentencing an offender who is subject to service law to impose a disqualification order in the same circumstances as an offender before a civilian criminal court.
- 594 Paragraph 9 of Schedule 10 amends the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011. The amendments relate to the office of police and crime commissioner and are equivalent to the amendments to the Local Government Act 1972 described above.
- 595 Paragraph 10 of Schedule 10 includes a reference to the new disqualification order provisions in section 379(1) of the Sentencing Act 2020.

Part 6: Information to be included with Electronic Material

Definitions

Section 39: Definitions relating to electronic material and publication

596 Subsections (1) to (5) set out definitions for ‘electronic material’, ‘promoter’ and ‘publish’ that are relevant to Part 6. Subsection (6) provides that the Secretary of State may make regulations to modify these definitions.

Section 40: Definitions relating to parties etc

597 Section 40 defines the political entities that are referenced throughout this Part and are relevant to the requirements to include an imprint on paid-for and other electronic material:

- a. Registered party
- b. Recognised third party
- c. Candidate
- d. Future candidate
- e. Elected office-holder
- f. Referendum campaigner
- g. Recall petition campaigner
- h. Recall petition

598 Subsection (5) defines ‘future candidate’, which means a person who is a future candidate at an election for a relevant elective office or a relevant Scottish elective office, as defined in section 32(3). This category is intended to avoid any potential ambiguity in relation to when an imprint is required which could arise from candidates only being legally recognised for a limited pre-election period, despite the fact they may have been campaigning long before then.

599 Subsection (9) defines recall petition as having the same meaning as in the Recall of MPs Act 2015.

600 Subsection (10) clarifies that references to candidate, future candidate or elected office-holders in this part of the Act include a candidate or future candidate at, or a person elected at, a municipal election in the City of London. In other words, all City of London elections so defined will be subject to the digital imprint regime.

Requirements

Section 41: Requirement to include information with electronic material

601 Section 41 introduces requirements for promoters and any person on behalf of whom the material is being published (who is not the promoter) to include a legible or audible and directly accessible (where not included in the material itself) imprint on electronic material within the scope of the regime. The section is subject to sections 46 and 47 (subsection (8)).

602 Subsection (2) requires imprints to be displayed as part of the material or in a location that is directly accessible from the material only where that is not reasonably practicable. Subsection (3) provides that the imprint information required to be embedded within electronic material is the name and address of the promoter of the material and any person on behalf of whom the material is being published (and who is not the promoter).

603 Subsection (4) makes provisions for regulation-making powers to modify the details to be included in the imprint, if required. This is to accommodate technological advances and any required changes as a result of the implementation of the regime.

604 Subsections (5) to (7) set out further imprint requirements, for example that the imprint is legible or audible and retained as part of the material when republished. There are exceptions to the part, which are set out in section 47.

Section 42: Electronic material to which section 41 applies: paid-for material

605 This section sets out the conditions required for material to be in scope of the regime in relation to “paid-for” material. The first condition is that the sole or primary purpose that the electronic material can reasonably be regarded as intended to achieve is a purpose within section 43. The second condition is that the promoter of the material, or the person on behalf of whom the material is published, has paid for the material to be published as an advertisement. This is not intended to include payments to create electronic material. Subsection (5) provides that where material is published on a website or mobile application, payments and costs associated with setting up, operating or maintaining the website or mobile application would not, in and of themselves, be considered payments ‘to publish as an advertisement’ for the purposes of the second condition.

606 Subsection (4) provides that the reference to paying for the material to be published includes providing any other form of consideration in return for the publication of the material. This would therefore include the provision of a benefit in kind in return for the publication of the material. This is not intended to include any cost involved in the creation of the material.

Section 43: Purposes referred to in section 42

607 Section 43 sets out the purposes, referred to in section 42, for paid-for electronic material. Subsection (2) outlines the first purpose which is influencing the public to support or withhold support from: a) a registered party; b) registered parties who advocate (or do not advocate) particular policies or otherwise fall within a particular category of parties; and c) candidates or future candidates, in their capacity as such, who hold (or do not hold) particular opinions or otherwise come within a particular category of candidates or future candidates. Subsections (2)(b) and (c) relate to paid-for material that is about more than one candidate, future candidate or registered party who otherwise fall within a particular ‘category’ (e.g., ‘category of candidates’). For example, this could be material that asks the public to vote for candidates who support policies aimed at tackling climate change or cutting taxes, regardless of their party affiliation. This material is sometimes referred to in guidance from the Electoral Commission as material about ‘categories of candidates’ or parties.

608 Material that is about more than one candidate or future candidate in subsection (2)(c) is generally enforced by the Electoral Commission (section 50)(2)(a)(i)), whilst material about a particular candidate or future candidate (in subsection(4)) is enforced by the police. Material that is about one or more than one registered party in subsections (2)(a) and (b) is enforced by the Electoral Commission. This enables the Commission in practice to enforce material about registered parties and referendums, as well as material about categories of candidates, future candidates and holders of elected office. This is broadly in line with the existing split of responsibilities between the enforcement authorities in the print regime. There may be a degree of overlap between material about categories of candidates, future candidates and holders of elected office and material that is about more than one particular candidate, future candidate or holder of elected office. In these instances, it is for the authorities to establish, based on the particular facts, where the enforcement responsibility lies.

- 609 Subsections (4) and (6) provide for the second and third purposes which are to influence the public to support (or withhold support from) a particular candidate, particular future candidate or an elected office-holder, in their capacity as such. This is material about singular candidates, singular future candidates and singular elected office-holders that fall to be enforced by the police.
- 610 Subsection (7) provides that the fourth purpose is to influence the public to support (or withhold support from) elected office holders, in their capacity as such, who hold (or do not hold) particular opinions or who advocate (or do not advocate) particular policies or who otherwise fall within a particular category of elected office-holders. Similarly, to subsections (2)(b) and (c), this includes material about more than one elected office holder who otherwise fall within a 'category' ('category of elected office-holders'). For instance, this could be material about Members of Parliament who voted for or against a particular issue. This material will generally be enforced by the Electoral Commission (section 50 (2)(a)(ii)).
- 611 Subsection (9) provides that the fifth purpose is to influence the public to support (or withhold support from) the holding of a referendum in the UK or any area in the UK or a particular outcome of such a referendum.
- 612 Subsection (3), subsection (5) and subsection (8) provide that the material does not need to expressly mention the name of any party, candidate, future candidate or elected office-holder to achieve any of the purposes set out in this section. Subsection (10) provides that the material does not need to expressly mention a particular outcome of a referendum to achieve the purpose set out in subsection (9)(b). It is likely that all material under subsection (9)(a) would by default expressly mention the holding of a referendum in the United Kingdom or any area in the United Kingdom.
- 613 References to 'in their capacity as such' in subsections (2)(c), (4), (6), and (7), make clear that only paid-for electronic material that seeks to give support to, or withhold support from, candidates, future candidates, or elected office-holders, in their capacity as such, are in scope of the provisions. It is intended that paid-for material supporting such individuals in a personal capacity is not captured by the provisions.

Section 44: Electronic material to which section 41 applies: other electronic material

- 614 Section 44 outlines the conditions where an imprint is required for other electronic material. The first condition is that the material can reasonably be regarded to achieve any purpose within section 45 or it wholly or mainly relates to a referendum to which Part 7 of PPERA applies and is published during the referendum period for that particular referendum. This requirement is narrower than the one that applies to paid-for electronic material in respect of the holding of a referendum or particular outcome in a referendum as it only applies to material published during a referendum period and as defined by Part 7 of PPERA. The second condition is that the promoter of the material or the person on behalf of whom it is published is a registered party, a recognised third party, a candidate or future candidate, an elected office holder, a referendum campaigner or a recall petition campaigner. The third condition is that neither the promoter of the material, nor the person on behalf of whom the material is published, has paid for the material to be published as an advertisement.

Section 45: Purposes referred to in section 44

- 615 Section 45 sets out the purposes referred to in section 44. The first purpose in subsection (2) is promoting or procuring electoral success at one or more particular relevant elections in relation to: a) a registered party, b) registered parties who advocate (or do not advocate) particular policies or otherwise fall within a particular category of parties; or c) candidates or future candidates who hold (or do not hold) particular opinions or otherwise come within a particular category of candidates or future candidates. As with paid-for material, subsections (b) and (c) relate to material about one or more registered parties, candidates or future candidates who otherwise fall within a category (e.g., a ‘category of candidates’). For instance, this could include material promoted by a recognised third-party campaigner which encourages the public to vote for candidates who support a particular policy with regards to climate change.

616 As with paid-for material, the material does not need to expressly mention the name of any party, candidate or future candidate to achieve this purpose (subsection (4)).

617 Subsection (3) provides that prejudicing the electoral prospects of other parties, candidates or future candidates also requires an imprint. This includes material prejudicing the electoral prospects of candidates or future candidates on a party list.

618 Subsection (5) provides the second purpose which is promoting or procuring the election of a particular candidate or future candidate at one or more particular elections.

619 Subsection (6) provides that the material does not need to expressly mention the name of any candidate or future candidate, to be in scope of the regime.

620 Subsection (7) provides the third purpose which is promoting or procuring the success or failure of a recall petition. The material does not need to expressly mention the name of the member of the House of Commons to whom the petition relates (subsection (8)).

621 The regime in respect of other electronic material is focussed on particular elections (and recall petitions (subsection (7)) and referendums as per section 44(2)(b)). Subsection (9) defines the ‘relevant elections’ for the purposes of this section, which includes elections for mayors in England and Wales.

Section 46: Electronic material relating to more than one candidate or future candidate

622 This section sets out that where electronic material may be reasonably regarded as promoting or procuring the electoral success of two or more candidates standing in the name of a party or included in a list of candidates submitted by the party then it may be regarded as being published on behalf of the registered party (rather than on behalf of a candidate).

Section 47: Exceptions to section 41

623 Section 47 sets out a number of exceptions to the regime. Subsection (1), provides that generally, the re-publishing or ‘re-sharing’ of paid-for or other electronic material will not require a new imprint, where the original (section 41 compliant) imprint is retained in the material, and the material (the content or the imprint) has not been materially altered since it was previously published. The exception applies regardless of whether the material is re-published by the original promoter, or by another person. An imprint is required if material which had not previously required an imprint is then republished such that it is captured by section 41 (for example the promoter or the person on behalf of whom it is published is on the list of political entities in section 44(3) meeting the second condition and the material also meets the first condition (section 44(2))).

624 Section 47(3) outlines exceptions for material published for journalistic purposes which is the publication of electronic material on a website or mobile application whose primary purpose is the publication of journalism unless the material consists of an advertisement.

625 Subsection (4) defines ‘mobile application’ for the purposes of subsection (3).

626 Under subsection (5), there are also exceptions for party political broadcasts or referendum campaign broadcasts as such broadcasts are already subject to regulation outside of the digital imprints regime.

627 Subsection (6) defines broadcaster and referendum campaign broadcast for the purposes of subsection (5).

628 Subsection (7) makes provision to amend the section, by way of regulations, to add, modify or remove cases to which an imprint is not required.

Section 48: Offence of breaching section 41

629 Section 48 sets out the offences, defences and penalties under the regime. Subsection (1) provides that where electronic material is published without an imprint (in contravention of the requirements in section 41), the promoter of the material and any person on behalf of whom the material is being published (if not the promoter) becomes liable for a criminal offence. The penalties are set out in subsection (2) and defences in subsections (3), (4) and (5).

630 Under subsection (7) a court must notify the Electoral Commission when a person is convicted of an offence under subsection (1) and the sentence imposed, as soon as is practicable.

631 Subsection (8) makes the section subject to Schedule 11 which provides for candidates and their election agents to be guilty of an illegal practice rather than guilty of an offence under this section.

632 Subsection (9) cross refers to section 49 which provides for the removal of electronic material post conviction of an offence under this section.

Section 49: Order to take down electronic material in breach of section 41

633 Subsections (1) to (6) provide for the removal of the electronic material following a conviction for an imprint offence. Subsection (2) provides that a court may order 'a person by whom the electronic material is published' (for example, the digital platforms hosting the content even if they are not the promoter) to remove the material or disable access to the material.

634 Subsection (4) makes it a criminal offence for any person (for example digital platforms) who receives an order to take down electronic material and fails to comply with it without a reasonable excuse. The penalties are set out in subsection (5). Subsection (3) sets out the right of appeal for a person to such an Order.

635 Under subsection (6) a court must notify the Electoral Commission of a person's conviction for an offence under subsection (4) and the sentence imposed as soon as practicable.

Section 50: Enforcement by the Commission

636 Section 50 makes provision for the Electoral Commission to impose civil sanctions (this does not prevent appropriate cases being referred to or investigated by the police) by applying Parts 1 to 4 and 6 of Schedule 19C of PPERA and the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums (Civil Sanctions) Order 2010 (S.I. 2010/2860) in respect of certain offences. Those offences are set out in subsection (2). The Commission's enforcement powers for paid-for electronic material are limited to offences related to registered parties and categories of registered parties, candidates and future candidates (subsection (2)(a)(i)), categories of elected office holders (subsection (2)(a)(ii)) and referendums (subsection (2)(a)(iii)). All other offences relating to paid-for electronic material fall to be enforced by the police and the courts.

637 The Commission's enforcement powers for unpaid other electronic material are limited to referendums (subsection(2)(b)(i)), registered parties and categories of registered parties, candidates or future candidates (subsection(2)(b)(ii)). The police and the courts are responsible for the enforcement of all other offences relating to other electronic material.

Section 51: Notice to take down electronic material in breach of section 41

- 638 Subsections (1) to (6) make provision for the Electoral Commission to issue a notice to take down the material or disable access to the material to 'a person by whom the electronic material is published'.
- 639 The penalties are outlined in subsection (4). There is no alternative civil sanction available for the failure to comply with such a notice.
- 640 Under subsection (5) a court must notify the Electoral Commission of any person convicted for an offence under subsection (3) and any sentence imposed, as soon as practicable.
- 641 Subsection (6) cross refers to section 52 which provides for the requirements to be included in the notice.

Section 52: Further provision about notice under section 51

- 642 Subsections (1) to (6) set out the requirements for the Electoral Commission to issue a notice to take down material under section 51. Subsections (4) and (6) outline the information that is required in the notice.
- 643 Subsections (8) to (10) outline the process of appeal in relation to a notice to take down information from the date it is given.

Section 53: Supply of information

- 644 Section 53(1) introduces Schedule 12 making provision about the supply of information for the purposes of this Part.
- 645 Section 53(2) makes provision for paragraphs 3 to 13 and 15 of Schedule 19B to PPERA (i.e., the Electoral Commission's investigatory powers) to be available to the Electoral Commission for section 50(2)(a) and (b) offences.
- 646 Schedule 12 places a general duty on any person, (which includes organisations such as social media companies) to share information with the relevant enforcer (either the Electoral Commission or police) when requested for the enforcement of digital imprints only. This is to assist the Electoral Commission and the police's ability to enforce the digital imprints regime by providing specified information to determine whether material is in scope of the regime or not. An information or electronic material disclosure order may be sought from a court where the requested information is not supplied.

Supplementary

Section 54: Guidance

- 647 Section 54 makes provisions for statutory guidance which, as outlined in subsection (1), must contain details on the operation and enforcement of the regime.
- 648 Subsection (2) requires the authorities to have regard to the guidance in the exercise of their functions. The guidance will be addressed to both campaigners and the enforcement authorities.
- 649 Under subsection (3) the Electoral Commission must draft the guidance and the guidance must then be approved by the Secretary of State. Under subsection (4) the Secretary of State is able to modify the guidance before approving it, however under subsection (6), any draft guidance containing amendments must be accompanied by a statement outlining the reason for those amendments.

650 Subsections (5) to (9) outline the process for laying the guidance, which includes a 40 day period in which Parliament can resolve not to approve the guidance. The parliamentary procedure for the guidance is the equivalent to the negative statutory instrument parliamentary procedure. The subsequent order bringing the guidance into force is not subject to any parliamentary procedure.

651 Under subsection (10) the Commission is able to revise the guidance from time to time and must do so if directed to do so by the Secretary of State.

Section 55: Information in Commission's annual report

652 Section 55 relates to the Electoral Commission's reporting requirements under paragraph 20 of Schedule 1 of PPERA. Under subsections (1) and (2) the Electoral Commission's annual report must include information about convictions (for offences relevant to this Part) reported to the Electoral Commission, orders to take down electronic material (including those made by the Electoral Commission) and the Electoral Commission's use of its powers to request information under Schedule 12. The Commission is not required to provide any information which may be unlawful or adversely impact upon ongoing investigations or proceedings (subsection (3)).

Section 56: Notices

653 This section provides details on how a notice issued by the Electoral Commission or the police may be given, including electronically (subsection (1)); to whom within a body corporate, a partnership or an unincorporated association it may be given (subsections (2) to (4)) and where it should be addressed (subsections (5) to (6)).

654 Under subsection (7), a notice sent to a person by electronic means is to be treated as having been given on the working day immediately following the day on which it was sent. Subsection (8) provides for definitions of an officer and working day for the purposes of the section.

Section 57: Proceedings for an offence under this Part

655 Section 57 provides for the time limit for prosecutions for offences within section 50(2)(a) or (b) (offences in relation to which the Commission may exercise enforcement functions), and offences under section 49(4) or 51(3) (order or notice to take down electronic material in breach of section 41). This section reflects the existing position of the differences in time for prosecutions for offences related to the subject matter of registered parties and referendums (subsections (3) to (7)) and those with the subject matter of elected office holders and candidates (and now also future candidates) (subsections (9) to (15)).

Section 58: Offences committed by bodies corporate

656 This section replicates section 152 of PPERA and is concerned with offences committed by corporate bodies.

Section 59: Offences committed by unincorporated associations etc

657 Section 59 makes provision for an unincorporated association to also be guilty of an offence and liable for prosecution. The section replicates section 153 of PPERA.

Section 60: Regulations under this Part

658 Under section 60, the Government is only able to make regulations under the powers in Part 6 of the Act following a recommendation from the Electoral Commission or consultation with the Electoral Commission, except for regulations under section 54(9)(c) (which bring guidance into force).

Section 61: Meaning of “the Commission”

659 Under section 61, references to “the Commission” throughout the Part mean the Electoral Commission.

Schedule 11: Illegal Practices

660 Schedule 11 provides for the offence under section 48(1) (which relates to breaching the requirement for an imprint in section 41) to be treated as an illegal practice for the purposes of electoral law in the circumstances set out in the Schedule.

661 The effect of Schedule 11 is that a person (a candidate or their election agent) who is guilty of an illegal practice will be convicted under the relevant provision applied by Schedule 11 rather than under section 48(1). Provisions about illegal practices do not apply to any case to which the civil sanctions under Schedule 19C to PPERA apply and vice versa.

662 Under paragraph 1, a candidate or election agent at elections to a Parliamentary election, an election to the Northern Ireland Assembly, a local government election (as defined in section 191 or 203 of RPA 1983), an election under Part 1A and Part 2 of the Local Government Act 2000 for the return of an elected mayor or an election for the return of a mayor of a combined authority in England and Wales, may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

663 Under paragraph 2, a candidate or election agent at elections to the Scottish Parliament, may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

664 Under paragraph 3, a constituency or individual candidate (or election agent of such a candidate) or a party list candidate (or election agent of registered party in relation to that party’s list) at elections to Senedd Cymru, may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

665 Under paragraph 4, a candidate or election agent at local elections in Scotland, may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

666 Under paragraph 5, a candidate or election agent at local election in Northern Ireland, may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

667 Under paragraph 6, a candidate (or the candidate's election agent) at a police and crime commissioner election may be guilty of an illegal practice, if they promote electronic material without an imprint

668 Under paragraph 7, an MP within the meaning of the Recall of MPs Act 2015 may be guilty of an illegal practice if they promote electronic material without an imprint.

Schedule 12: Supply of information etc

669 Schedule 12 requires any person to comply with a notice for the supply of information to enable the Electoral Commission or the police to determine whether electronic material has been published in contravention of the electronic imprint regime (paragraph 1(b)).

670 As outlined in paragraph 1 of the Schedule, the information required will be identified by the Electoral Commission or police in the notice and must be information that is reasonably required to determine whether electronic material has been published in contravention of the regime or to make contact with the promoter of the material or the person on behalf of whom the material has been published (and who is not the promoter).

671 Paragraph 1(2) enables the police or EC to obtain a copy of any electronic material identified in the notice.

672 The person in receipt of the notice is under a general duty to comply with the notice within the time period set out within it (paragraph 1(3)).

- 673 The Electoral Commission or police can seek a court order for the requested information (paragraph 2) or a copy of the electronic material (paragraph 3) if the person fails to comply with their request for information. Paragraphs 2 and 3 enable the relevant courts to issue an information or electronic material disclosure order.
- 674 Under paragraph 5 of the Schedule, any authorisation of a person by the Electoral Commission or police must be in writing. This may be sent by post or electronically to the person (section 56).
- 675 Paragraph 7 of the Schedule outlines the admissibility of information provided by a person in compliance with the requirements of the Schedule.
- 676 The Schedule applies restrictions on the disclosure of information. A person is not required to provide legally professionally privileged information (paragraph 6) or disclose information which would contravene data protection legislation, although the duty imposed by this Schedule is to be taken into account in determining whether the disclosure would do so (paragraph 8(2)).
- 677 The Electoral Commission must report any notices given under paragraph 1 of the Schedule (section 55(1)(d)) and any orders (under paragraphs 2 and 3) that were made or applied for (see section 55(1)(b) and (c)). It must also report convictions reported to it by the courts (see section 55(1)(b)).
- 678 Paragraph 9 to the Schedule defines a relevant enforcer as the Electoral Commission or a police constable.

Part 7: General

- 679 Section 62 requires the Secretary of State to prepare, publish and lay before Parliament a review of the operation of the Act, no less than 4 and no more than 5 years from Royal Assent (which was given on 28th April 2022).
- 680 Section 63 provides for a power to allow amendments to the Act, or any provisions amended by the Act in other Acts, as a consequence of the amendment or revocation of amendments to any secondary legislation referenced in the Act. This would allow, for example, a reference to a statutory instrument that is replaced in future to be updated.
- 681 Section 64 explains that Parliament will pay for any costs that a Minister of the Crown incurs as a result of this Act, and for any increased costs incurred under existing Acts of Parliament if they arise as a result of this Act. It also explains that any increases in payments made from the Consolidated Fund will be met, if they arise as a result of this Act and are incurred under existing Acts of Parliament.
- 682 Section 65 defines terms used in the Act.
- 683 Section 66 sets out the territorial extent of the Act, that is the jurisdictions of which the Act forms part of the law. The effect of this section is described in more detail at the Territorial Extent and Application section of these explanatory notes

Commencement

- 684 Section 67 sets out that the Secretary of State will determine the day on which the Act will come into force using one or more statutory instruments.
- 685 The statutory instruments that the Secretary of State makes may bring different parts of the Act into force on different days.

Related documents

686 The following documents are relevant to the Act and can be read at the stated locations:

- Erlam & Ors v Rahman & Anor [2015] EWHC 1215 (QB) -
<https://www.bailii.org/ew/cases/EWHC/QB/2015/1215.html>
- Securing the Ballot - Report of Sir Eric Pickles' review into electoral fraud; Sir Eric Pickles, August 2016
<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/securing-the-ballot-review-into-electoral-fraud>
- A Democracy that Works for Everyone: A Clear and Secure Democracy, Government response to Sir Eric Pickles' review of electoral fraud, December 2016
<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/a-democracy-that-works-for-everyone-a-clear-and-secure-democracy>
- A Democracy that Works for Everyone: British citizens overseas - response to feedback, February 2018
https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/680357/Draft_response_to_Overseas_Electors_policy_statement_v2_1_.pdf
- Call for Evidence: Access to elections, September 2017
<https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/access-to-elections-call-for-evidence>
- Call for Evidence: Access to Elections, Government response, August 2018
<https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/access-to-elections-call-for-evidence>
- Protecting the Debate: Intimidation, Influence and Information, May 2019
https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/799873/Protecting-the-Debate-Government-Response-2019.05.01.pdf
- Transparency in digital campaigning: technical consultation on digital imprints <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/transparency-in-digital-campaigning-technical-consultation-on-digital-imprints>
- Protecting the integrity of our elections: Voter identification at polling stations and the new Voter Card
<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/voter-identification-at-polling-stations-and-the-new-voter-card/protecting-the-integrity-of-our-elections-vodigital-imprintster-identification-at-polling-stations-and-the-new-voter-card>

- Overseas electors: Delivering ‘votes for life’ for British expatriates, February 2022, <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/overseas-electors-delivering-votes-for-life-for-british-expatriates/overseas-electors-delivering-votes-for-life-for-british-expatriates>
- Identity verification for absent vote applications and an online application service, February 2022, <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/identity-verification-for-absent-vote-applications-and-an-online-application-service/identity-verification-for-absent-vote-applications-and-an-online-application-service>

Annex A - Territorial extent and application in the United Kingdom

Provision	Extends to E & W and applies to England?	Extends to E & W and applies to Wales?	Extends and applies to Scotland?	Extends and applies to Northern Ireland?
Part 1 (Administration and Conduct of Elections)
Section 1 (Voter identification)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 2 (Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting, etc)
Section 3 (Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote)	Yes	Yes	Yes	No
Section 4 (Handling of postal voting documents by political campaigners)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 5 (Handing in postal voting documents)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Section 6 (Limit on number of electors for whom a proxy can vote)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 7 (Requirement of secrecy)
Section 8 (Undue influence)
Section 9 (Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities)
Section 10 (Candidate nomination paper: commonly used names)
Section 11 (Home address form: statement of local authority area)
Section 12 (Local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland)	No	No	No	Yes
Section 13 (Simple majority system to be used in elections for certain offices)	Yes	In part	No	No
Part 2 (Overseas electors and EU citizens)
Section 14 (Extension of franchise for parliamentary elections: British citizens overseas)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 15 (Voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens)	Yes	Yes	No	Yes
Part 3 (The Electoral Commission)
Section 16 (Strategy and policy statement)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 17 (Examination of duty to have regard to strategy and policy statement)
Section 18 (Membership of the Speaker's Committee)
Section 19 (Criminal proceedings)	Yes	Yes	In part	Yes

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Part 4 (Regulation of expenditure)
Section 20 (Notional expenditure: use of property etc on behalf of candidates and others)	In part	In part	In part	Yes
Section 21 (Codes of practice on expenses)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 22 (Authorised persons not required to pay expenses through election agent)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Section 23 (Declaration of assets and liabilities to be provided on application for registration)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 24 (Prohibition on entities being registered political parties and recognised third parties at same time)
Section 25 (Section 24: transitional provision)
Section 26 (Restriction on which third parties may incur controlled expenditure)
Section 27 (Third parties capable of giving notification for purposes of Part 6 of PPERA)
Section 28 (Recognised third parties: changes to existing limits etc)
Section 29 (code of practice on controls relating to third parties)
Part 5 (Disqualification of offenders for holding elective office etc)
Section 30 (Disqualification orders)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 31 (Vacation of office etc)
Section 32 (Candidates etc)
Section 33 (Holders of relevant elective offices)
Section 34 (Campaigners)
Section 35 (Election etc of a person to the House of Commons who is subject to a disqualification order)
Section 36 (Power to amend Schedule 9)
Section 37 (Interpretation of Part)
Section 38 (Minor and consequential amendments)
Part 6 (Information to be included with electronic material)
Section 39 (Definitions relating to electronic material and publication)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 40 (Definitions relating to parties etc)
Section 41 (Requirement to include information with electronic material)
Section 42 (Electronic material to which section 41 applies: paid-for material)
Section 43 (Purposes referred to in section 42)
Section 44 (Electronic material to which section 41 applies: other electronic material)
Section 45 (Purposes referred to in section 44)

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Section 46 (Electronic material relating to more than one candidate or future candidate)
Section 47 (Exceptions to section 41)
Section 48 (Offence of breaching section 41)
Section 49 (Order to take down electronic material in breach of section 41)
Section 50 (Enforcement by the Commission)
Section 51 (Notice to take down electronic material in breach of section 41)
Section 52 (Further provision about notice under section 51)
Section 53 (Supply of information)
Section 54 (Guidance)
Section 55 (Information in Commission's annual report)
Section 56 (Notices)
Section 57 (Proceedings for an offence under this Part)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Section 58 (Offences committed by bodies corporate)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 59 (Offences committed by unincorporated associations etc.)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Section 60 (Regulations under this Part)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 61 (Meaning of "the Commission")
Part 7 (General)
Section 62 (Review of operation of Act)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Section 63 (Power to amend references to subordinate legislation etc)
Section 64 (Financial provisions)
Section 65 (Interpretation etc)
Section 66 (Extent)
Section 67 (Commencement)
Section 68 (Short title)
Schedule 1 (Voter identification)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Schedule 2 (Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters)
Schedule 3 (Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote)	Yes	Yes	Yes	No
Schedule 4 (Proxy voting: limits and transitional provision)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Schedule 5 (Undue influence: further provision)
Schedule 6 (Local elections in Northern Ireland and elections to the Northern Ireland Assembly)	No	No	No	Yes
Schedule 7 (Overseas electors)	Yes	Yes	Yes	In part
Schedule 8 (Voting and candidacy rights of EU)	In part	In part	No	In part

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

citizens)
Schedule 9 (Offences for purposes of Part 5)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
Schedule 10 (Disqualification orders: minor and consequential amendments)	In part	In part	In part	In part
Schedule 11 (Illegal practices)
Schedule 12 (Supply of information etc)	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

Annex B - Hansard References

687 The following table sets out the dates and Hansard references for each stage of the Act's passage through Parliament.

Stage	Date	Hansard Reference
House of Commons
Introduction	05 July 2021	Vol. 698 Col. 527
Second Reading	07 September 2021	Vol. 700 Col. 198
Public Act Committee	15 September 2021 16 September 2021 22 September 2021 19 October 2021 21 October 2021 26 October 2021	PBC (Act 138) 2021 - 2022
Report and Third Reading	17 January 2021	Vol. 707 Col. 75
House of Lords
Introduction	18 January 2022	Vol. 817 Col. 1545
Second Reading	23 February 2022	Vol. 819 Col. 228
Grand Committee	10 March 2022 15 March 2022 17 March 2022 21 March 2022 23 March 2022 28 March 2022	Vol. 819 Col. 1554 ; Vol. 819 Col. 1602 Vol. 820 Col. 177 ; Vol. 820 Col. 251 Vol. 820 Col. 461 ; Vol. 820 Col. 506 Vol. 820 Col. 654 ; Vol. 820 Col. 730 Vol. 820 Col. 981 ; Vol. 820 Col. 1046 Vol. 820 Col. 1284 ; Vol. 820 Col. 1354
Report and Third Reading	6 April 2022 25 April 2022 25 April 2022	Vol. 820 Col. 2092 ; Vol. 820 Col. 2159 Vol. 821 Col. 23 Vol. 821 Col. 103
Commons Consideration of Lords Amendments	27 April 2022	Vol. 712 Col. 805
Lords Consideration of Commons Amendments	27 April 2022	Vol. 821 Col. 325
Royal Assent	28 April 2022	Vol. 821 Col. 383

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Annex C - Progress of Bill Table

688 This Annex shows how each section and Schedule of the Act was numbered during the passage of the Bill through Parliament.

Section of the Act	Act as Introduced in the Commons	Act as amended in Committee in the Commons	Act as introduced in the Lords	Act as amended in Committee in the Lords	Act as amended on Report in the Lords
Section 1 (Voter Identification)	Clause 1	Clause 1	Clause 1	Clause 1	Clause 1
Section 2 (Power to make regulations about registration, absent voting and other matters)	N/A	N/A	Clause 2	Clause 2	Clause 2
Section 3 (Restriction of period for which person can apply for postal vote)	Clause 2	Clause 2	Clause 3	Clause 3	Clause 3
Section 4 (Handling of postal voting documents by political campaigners)	Clause 3	Clause 3	Clause 4	Clause 4	Clause 4
Section 5 (Handing in postal voting documents)	Clause 4	Clause 4	Clause 5	Clause 5	Clause 5
Section 6 (Limit on number of electors for whom a proxy can vote)	Clause 5	Clause 5	Clause 6	Clause 6	Clause 6
Section 7 (Requirement of secrecy)	Clause 6	Clause 6	Clause 7	Clause 7	Clause 7
Section 8 (Undue influence)	Clause 7	Clause 7	Clause 8	Clause 8	Clause 8
Section 9 (Assistance with voting for persons with disabilities)	Clause 8	Clause 8	Clause 9	Clause 9	Clause 9
Section 10 (Candidate nomination paper: commonly used names)	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	Clause 10
Section 11 (Home address form: statement of local authority area)	N/A	N/A	N/A	Clause 10	Clause 11
Section 12 (Local elections and Assembly elections in Northern Ireland)	Clause 9	Clause 9	Clause 10	Clause 11	Clause 12
Section 13 (Simple majority system to be used in elections for certain offices)	N/A	Clause 10	Clause 11	Clause 12	Clause 13
Section 14 (Extension of franchise for parliamentary elections: British citizens overseas)	Clause 10	Clause 11	Clause 12	Clause 13	Clause 14

These Explanatory Notes relate to the Elections Act 2022 which received Royal Assent on 28 April 2022 (c. 37)

Section of the Act	Act as Introduced in the Commons	Act as amended in Committee in the Commons	Act as introduced in the Lords	Act as amended in Committee in the Lords	Act as amended on Report in the Lords
Section 15 (Voting and candidacy rights of EU citizens)	Clause 11	Clause 12	Clause 13	Clause 14	Clause 15
Section 16 Strategy and policy statement	Clause 12	Clause 13	Clause 14	Clause 15	Clause 16
Section 17 Examination of duty to have regard to strategy and policy statement	Clause 13	Clause 14	Clause 15	Clause 16	Clause 17

© Crown copyright 2022

Printed and published in the UK by The Stationery Office Limited under the authority and superintendence of Jeff James, Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office and Queen's Printer of Acts of Parliament.

